National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey (NISVS) 4.0
WEB INSTRUMENT FOR COGNITIVE TESTING, ROUND 1

Notes for Draft

1. Unless otherwise noted, there will be one question per screen.
2. Screens that have multiple questions (e.g., grids) are noted in the instructions prior the question.
3. Each screen will include links to 'resources' (help lines) and study contact information.
4. All of the victimization sections are intended to document up to 10 perpetrators. To save space on this draft, the different sections only carry out the pattern for 3-5 perpetrators.
5. Once a victimization is reported, the screen will include a reference to the particular victimization being reported. The text for this is indicated by the instruction "BURN LINE".
6. Words in uppercase are skip instructions, programming instructions for programmers, or general notes for readers of the document. Programming notes are also in boxes to distinguish from skip instructions and notes. Words in bold are displayed on screen for respondents to see. Question numbers are in brackets "[]".
7. The respondent selection method assumes an experiment with two different methods. The 'youngest male, oldest female' (YMOF) and the Rizzo-Brick-Park (RBP) Method. The YMOF will be used to directly select an individual in the letter sent to the household. For this method, the household will be asked to select the respondent before they sign onto the computer. For the RBP method, the respondent will be selected once signing onto the computer.
8. Respondents will be allowed to skip any question, except for items that are considered critical. When a critical item is skipped, the next screen will display the question again with a message in red: "You haven't answered the question yet. If possible, please provide an answer to this question as this is one of the key questions in this study. Your answer will help CDC understand more about this topic."
9. The following abbreviations are used within the instrument: BLANK is for when an item is skipped without respondents providing an answer, DK is for "I truly don't know", REF is for "I'd rather not answer", MTP is Made to Penetrate, and PTSD is Posttraumatic Stress Disorder.
10. This survey will be administered both in English and in Spanish (following translation).
