

BUREAU OF CONSUMER FINANCIAL PROTECTION

REQUEST FOR APPROVAL UNDER THE “GENERIC INFORMATION COLLECTION PLAN FOR QUALITATIVE CONSUMER EDUCATION, ENGAGEMENT, AND EXPERIENCE INFORMATION COLLECTIONS”

(OMB Control Number: 3170-0036)

1. TITLE OF INFORMATION COLLECTION: CFPB Libraries Survey/Participating Libraries

2. PURPOSE: The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 established the CFPB’s Office of Financial Education (OFE) to develop and launch initiatives that will educate American consumers and help them make better-informed financial decisions.

Since July 2014, the OFE has been promoting financial education in libraries – primarily public libraries, but also law libraries, school libraries, and academic libraries – as a way to provide greater access to financial information to the American public. This initiative was founded on five key strategies derived from intensive coordination with nine public libraries across the country and a survey of more than 700 patrons and library staff. These strategies are:

- To provide participating libraries with financial education program ideas, resources and tools.
- To help libraries connect with local partners.
- To share financial education best practices among participating libraries.
- To provide materials that promote using the library to research financial questions, resolve problems, and learn more about money.
- To train library staff on fundamental personal finance topics and information to help raise knowledge levels and increase confidence when teaching or providing assistance on money matters.

From the nine partner libraries in July 2014, the program has grown to include more than 2,400 libraries across the country. To date, CFPB has provided libraries with online resources, free print materials, librarian training, outreach materials, and a guidebook for partnering with local organizations. It is important to determine how these resources are being used and their impact on libraries.

In 2018, a web-based survey was sent to the libraries in the CFPB’s program to assess activity and inform the strategic direction going forward. Two focus groups were also conducted to get information about the challenges and opportunities in incorporating a financial education component in rural/suburban and urban libraries.

The purpose of this project is to get feedback from participating libraries that are in the CFPB Library Program about their experiences in providing financial education to their patrons and to identify ways that the CFPB Library Program can continue to address their needs. As a follow-up to the 2018 survey, this project will provide a means of comparison to the 2018 Library Survey results to monitor the usability, effectiveness, and satisfaction with the CFPB Library Program’s resources and tools and provide insights on new tools or programs that could be developed to better serve these libraries. Focus groups will also be conducted to get more details about issues and trends identified in the surveys.

The feedback results will provide input into the continued development of OFE’s financial education program for libraries.

3. DESCRIPTION OF RESPONDENTS: This survey will be conducted using 13 questions that are a subset of the set of questions approved by OMB for the 2018 Library Survey. This survey will be conducted with libraries that are in the CFPB Library database (“participants”), approximately 2,500 libraries. Focus groups will also be conducted using the OMB-approved focus group questions.

These participants will receive invitations to respond to the web survey and/or engage in focus groups

6. INFORMATION COLLECTION PROCEDURES:

Please summarize the procedures that will be used to collect data from respondents.

CFPB will conduct a web-based survey of participating libraries that are included in the CFPB libraries database. This survey will serve as a follow-up to the 2018 Libraries Survey and to monitor performance against baselines established in the 2018 Libraries Survey. It will consist of 13 of the previously-approved questions that were included in the 2018 Library Survey. These questions were identified as being the most helpful to letting the Bureau compare this year's results with previous surveys. Focus group(s) may be conducted to get more details around issues and trends identified in the survey.
