1) Pages from the campaign website

The screenshot displays the Real Warriors Campaign website. At the top, a yellow banner features the slogan "REAL WARRIORS * REAL BATTLES REAL STRENGTH" and the tagline "Invisible wounds – you don't have to go it alone". Navigation links include Home, About Us, Partners, Resources, Videos, Get Involved, Press Room, and The Wall. A search bar is present with a "GO" button. Below the banner, a navigation bar lists categories: ACTIVE DUTY, NATIONAL GUARD & RESERVE, VETERANS, FAMILIES, and HEALTH PROFESSIONALS. The main content area is titled "Seek Help, Find Care" and includes a "LIVE CHAT" button, "MILITARY CRISIS LINE" information (800-273-8255, press 1), and "FIND CARE" and "SEEK HELP" buttons. A "Popular Topics" section lists various subjects like reintegration, stress, and PTSD. A call to action box encourages users to call 800-273-8255 for the Military Crisis Line. Social media icons and a 5-star rating are also visible.

SLEEP MATTERS

Well-rested warriors are important for a psychologically healthy and ready force.

Service members get around 6.5 hours of sleep per 24 hours while deployed.
7-8 HOURS OF SLEEP PER NIGHT IS RECOMMENDED.

FIVE TIPS TO MAXIMIZE YOUR SLEEP

LIMIT SCREEN TIME

Keep electronics including your smartphone, computer or a tablet away from your bedroom. The blue light can make it harder to fall or stay asleep.

Maximize your sleep with these practical tips* from the Real Warriors Campaign.

These tips represent ways to help you sleep and are not a substitute for treatment.

KEEP A SLEEP SCHEDULE

Train your body to fall asleep naturally by setting a routine. Aim to wake up at the same time each day to help improve your sleep quality.

WATCH WHAT YOU CONSUME BEFORE BED

Caffeine, nicotine, alcohol, sugar and a late meal can keep you awake. Give your body at least three hours to digest your meal.

NAP STRATEGICALLY

A nap in the late morning/early afternoon can help make up for reduced nighttime sleep. This can help to increase alertness and improve mood.

CREATE A SOOTHING SLEEP SPACE

Cool, dark and clean are key. Get rid of anything that might keep you awake. Try using earplugs or a sleep mask for better sleep.

*Tips adapted from The National Sleep Foundation and the U.S. Army Performance Study.

SEEK CARE If you are still having trouble with sleep after trying these tips above, take the first step and contact your primary care manager or internal behavioral health consultant to receive advice, assess symptoms, and talk through ways to address your concerns.

Renewed energy after treatment for depression

In the Air Force, Kirk started to feel lethargic. The feeling continued even after his service ended. He later felt irritable and frustrated, and he drank a lot. After reaching out to VA for counseling, Kirk recognized the importance of treatment to overcome his depression. Now he is going back to school and is living well.

LEARN ABOUT PTSD

Posttraumatic Stress Disorder

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs provides confidential treatment for PTSD.

Watch stories of Veterans who have learned to manage PTSD and find resources at MakeTheConnection.net/PTSD-info.

WHAT IS PTSD?

- If you have experienced severe trauma or a life-threatening event, you may develop symptoms of posttraumatic stress, sometimes called posttraumatic stress disorder, PTSD, shell shock, or combat stress. Maybe you felt like your life or the lives of others were in danger, or that you had no control over what was happening. You may have witnessed people being injured or dying, or you may have been physically harmed yourself.

WHAT ARE THE SIGNS OF PTSD?

Sometimes symptoms don't surface for months or years after the event or returning from deployment. The following may be signs of PTSD:

- Feeling anxious, jittery, irritated, or constantly on guard
- Having nightmares, flashbacks, or otherwise reliving the event
- Thinking about the event when you didn't want to
- Avoiding situations that remind you of the event
- Feeling guilty, ashamed, or responsible for what happened
- Feeling depressed, tired, or empty
- Thinking you're always in danger
- Feeling numb or detached from others or activities

LOOKING FOR SUPPORT?

Good treatments and coping tools are available for PTSD. Whether you just returned from deployment or have been out of the service for decades, it's never too late to find support with:

- Your local VA Medical Center or Vet Center
- A mental health professional
- PTSD Coach Online: www.PTSD.VA.gov/Public/Treatment/Cope

Below this is the main header area featuring the "Veterans Crisis Line" logo with a star and the phone number "1-800-273-8255 PRESS 1". To the right of the logo are buttons for "Dial 1-800-273-8255 PRESS 1", "Text to 838255", and "Confidential Veterans Chat". A secondary button for "Support for Deaf and Hard of Hearing" is also present. Below the header are three tabs: "I am Veteran", "I am Active Duty/Reserve and Guard", and "I am Family/Friend". A blue banner across the page reads "Confidential Help for Veterans and Their Families" and contains navigation links for "Be There", "Signs of Crisis", "Resources", "Get Help", and "About".

Below the main content area is a section titled "Are You a Veteran or Concerned About One?". This section contains two columns. The left column has a blue "Act Now" button, followed by the text "Dial 1-800-273-8255 PRESS 1 to talk to someone NOW", and a red "Confidential Veterans Chat" button. Veterans Crisis Line Fact Sheet

Confidential crisis help for Veterans and their families

The Veterans Crisis Line is a toll-free, confidential resource that connects Veterans in crisis and their families and friends with qualified, caring U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) responders.

Veterans and their loved ones can call 1-800-273-8255 and Press 1, chat online at VeteransCrisisLine.net, or send a text message to 838255 to receive free, confidential support 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year, even if they are not registered with VA or enrolled in VA health care.

The responders at the Veterans Crisis Line are specially trained and experienced in helping Veterans of all ages and circumstances — from Veterans coping with mental health issues that were never addressed to recent Veterans struggling with relationships or the transition back to civilian life. Veterans Crisis Line responders provide support when these and other issues — such as chronic pain, anxiety, depression, sleeplessness, anger, and even homelessness — reach a crisis point. Some of the responders are Veterans themselves and understand what Veterans and their families and friends have been through.

Since its launch in 2007, the Veterans Crisis Line has answered nearly 2.8 million calls and initiated the dispatch of emergency services to callers in crisis nearly 74,000 times. The Veterans Crisis Line anonymous online chat service, added in 2009, has engaged in more than 332,000 chats. In November 2011, the Veterans Crisis Line introduced a text-messaging service to provide another way for Veterans to connect with confidential, round-the-clock support, and since then has responded to more than 67,000 texts.

In 2011, the National Veterans Suicide Prevention Hotline was renamed the Veterans Crisis Line to encourage Veterans and their families and friends, who may be the first to realize a Veteran is in emotional distress, to reach out for support when issues reach a crisis point, even if it is not a suicidal crisis.

VA is working to make sure that all Veterans and their loved ones are aware of the Veterans Crisis Line. To reach as many Veterans as possible, VA is coordinating with communities and partner groups nationwide, including community-based organizations, Veterans Service Organizations, and local health care providers, to let Veterans and their loved ones know that support is available whenever, if ever, they need it.

Whether you're a Veteran or a friend or family member concerned about one, confidential assistance is only a call, click, or text away.

September 2016: Building Family Resiliency: Supporting Recovery

Aired: Wednesday, September 7, 2016

This show will explore family and relationship factors that are protective and promote recovery from mental or substance use disorders. The discussion will focus on how families who have experienced behavioral health problems achieve and continue to strengthen the four dimensions of recovery: health, home, purpose, and community. Panelists will discuss how families remain hopeful as they face the daily challenges of preventing relapse, what they do if relapse occurs, the education of family members, and techniques that help them stay on

STRENGTHEN FAMILIES AND COMMUNITIES

National Recovery Month (Recovery Month) increases awareness and understanding of mental and substance use disorders and encourages individuals in need of treatment and recovery services to seek help. Recovery Month celebrates people in long-term recovery and recognizes the dedicated workers who provide the prevention, treatment, and recovery support services.

This year's Recovery Month theme focuses on rural and frontier communities, the criminal justice system, community- and faith-based organizations, and public health professionals and departments, highlighting the various entities that support recovery within our society. The theme, "Join the Voices for Recovery: Strengthen Families and Communities," encourages communities to be socially inclusive, offering support to those with mental and/or substance use disorders, as well as the chance to seek help, lend a hand, and contribute to their community as citizens, parents, employees, students, volunteers, and leaders.

Resources and activities for this year's Recovery Month observance will include:

- A toolkit for Recovery Month event organizers and attendees, with media templates, current data on behavioral health conditions, resources for prevention, treatment, and recovery support services, and tips for event planning and community outreach
- A national Recovery Month kickoff in September 2017 in Washington, D.C.
- SAMHSA-produced television and radio public service announcements

Please contact the Recovery Month team at RecoveryMonth@samhsa.hhs.gov for more information.

The Recovery Month website (<https://recoverymonth.gov/>) provides printable materials, web, television, audio, and social media resources to help communities plan events, educate individuals about mental and substance use disorders and to encourage individuals to seek treatment and recovery services.

We are stopping HIV together, whether we are positive or negative. HIV does not define who we are.

HIV can affect anyone. Do your part by educating yourself and talking about HIV with your friends, families and loved ones. Help us prevent HIV by always protecting yourself, getting tested, and getting treatment, if needed.

Let's stop HIV together.

Did you know that...

- More than 1.2 million people in the U.S. are living with HIV.
- Approximately 50,000 Americans become infected with HIV every year.
- About 1 in 8 people living with HIV don't know they have it.
- Knowing your HIV status can give you peace of mind—and testing is the only way you can know your HIV status for sure.
- If you find out you are HIV-positive, you can start taking medicine for your HIV. Getting treated for HIV improves your health, prolongs your life, and greatly lowers your chance of spreading HIV to others.

We all have a role to play in preventing HIV whether we are HIV positive or negative, male or female, gay or straight.

Get the Facts and Share the Facts. Learn the basics about HIV by visiting our website (www.cdc.gov/Together). We must talk to each other about HIV and how we can prevent it.

Get Tested. It's easy. It's free, fast, and confidential. To find a testing site near you, go to www.cdc.gov/Together, call 1-800-CDC-INFO or text your ZIP code to KNOWIT (568948).

Get Involved. A little help goes a long way. You can make a difference.

Let's stop HIV together.

Stigma Fact Sheet

After more than 30 years, HIV-related stigma continues to be a barrier that we must overcome to reach the goal of an AIDS-free generation in the United States. We all have a role to play in stopping HIV, and it starts with supporting people living with HIV and talking about HIV with our friends, families, and loved ones.

What is stigma?

Stigma is shame and disgrace that result from prejudice associated with something regarded as socially unacceptable. Stigma around HIV includes certain words, beliefs, and actions that have negative meaning for those at high risk for getting HIV or those already living with HIV. Here are a few examples:

- Referring to people as HIVers or Positives
- Believing that only certain groups of people can get HIV
- Refusing casual contact with someone living with HIV
- Making moral judgments about people who take steps to prevent HIV transmission
- Socially isolating a member of a community because they are HIV positive
- Refusal by a health care professional to provide high-quality care or services to a person living with HIV

Ongoing stigma in our communities leads to perceived discrimination, fear, and anxiety. It affects the emotional well-being and mental health of people living with HIV and prevents some from getting tested and treated for HIV.

Ways you can stand up against stigma.

Get the facts. Sharing information can help reduce misunderstanding and decrease stigma associated with HIV.

According to the CDC . . .

- More than 1.2 million people in the United States are living with HIV.
- Approximately 45,000 Americans become infected with HIV every year.
- About 1 in 8 people living with HIV don't know they have it.
- If you find out you are HIV positive, you can start taking medicine for your HIV. Getting treated for HIV improves your health, prolongs your life, and greatly lowers your chance of spreading HIV to others.
