AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of amendment to an existing system of records.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, the Department of the Interior is issuing a public notice of its intent to amend the National Park Service Privacy Act system of records, ``Special Use Permits--Interior, NPS-1,' to update the system location, categories of individuals covered by the system, categories of records in the system, authority, routine uses, storage, safeguards, retention and disposal, system manager and address, notification procedures, records access and contesting procedures, and record source categories. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of the Interior (DOI), National Park Service (NPS) maintains the ``Special Use Permits--Interior, NPS-1'' system of records. The purpose of the system is to provide a park superintendent with information to approve or deny requests for activities that provide a benefit to an individual, group or organization, rather than the public at large. The system also assists park staff to manage the activity to ensure that the permitted activity does not interfere with the enjoyment of the park by visitors and that the natural and cultural resources of the park are protected. The system was last published in the Federal Register on November 15, 1999 (Volume 64, Number 219).

The amendments to the system will be effective as proposed at the end of the comment period (the comment period will end 40 days after the publication of this notice in the Federal Register), unless comments are received which would require a contrary determination. DOI will publish a revised notice if changes are made based upon a review of the comments received.

II. Privacy Act

The Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, embodies fair information practice principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which Federal Agencies collect, maintain, use, and disseminate individuals' personal information. The Privacy Act applies to information that is maintained in a ``system of records.'' A ``system of records'' is a group of any records under the control of an agency for which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual. The Privacy Act defines an individual as a United States citizen or lawful permanent resident. As a matter of policy, DOI extends administrative Privacy Act protections to all individuals. Individuals may request access to their own records that are maintained in a system of records in the possession or under the control of DOI by complying with DOI Privacy Act regulations, 43 CFR Part 2.

The Privacy Act requires each agency to publish in the Federal Register a description denoting the type and character of each system of records that the agency maintains, the routine uses that are contained in each system in order to make agency record keeping practices transparent, to notify individuals regarding the uses of their records, and to assist individuals to more easily find such records within the agency. Below is the description of the National Park Service, ``Special Use Permits--Interior, NPS-1'' system of records.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), DOI has provided a report of this system of records to the Office of Management and Budget and to Congress.

III. Public Disclosure

Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment, including your personal identifying information, may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

Dated: February 11, 2014.
Felix Uribe,
Privacy Act Officer, National Park Service.

NARRATIVE STATEMENT FOR AN AMENDED PRIVACY ACT SYSTEM OF RECORDS FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, NATIONAL PARK SERVICE--SPECIAL USE PERMITS

Special Use Permits--Interior, NPS-1

1. Describe the purposes of the system of records.

The National Park Service (NPS) maintains the Special Use Permits system of records. The purpose of the system is to provide a park superintendent with information to approve or deny requests for activities that provide a benefit to an individual, group or organization, rather than the public at large. The system also assists park staff to manage the activity to ensure that the permitted activity does not interfere with the enjoyment of the park by visitors and that the natural and cultural resources of the park are protected.

The NPS only collects information that is necessary to execute the responsibilities of the Special Park Uses (SPU) Program. The SPU Program provides information and policy guidance to park superintendents, and regional and park special park uses personnel on permits such as right-of-way permits, special event and First Amendment permits, and commercial film permits.

The NPS estimates that the Special Use Permits system will contain a large amount of individual records for those individuals that have applied for special use permits from the National Park Service, and currently hold special use permits. The system contains records concerning corporations and other business entities, which are not subject to the Privacy Act. However, records pertaining to individuals acting on behalf of corporations and other business entities may reflect personal information. The National Park Service receives in excess of 18,000 applications per year for special park use permits, of which approximately 13,000 applications are received from individuals.

Steps were taken to minimize the amount of personal information maintained in the Special Use Permits system. Only information that is required to provide a superintendent with sufficient information to make an informed decision on the request for a permit is collected. Social security or tax identification numbers are collected in accordance with the Debt Reduction Act.

2. Identify the specific statute or Executive Order which authorizes the maintenance of the system of records.

16 U.S.C. 1, National Park Service Organic Act; 16 U.S.C. 3, Rules and regulations of national parks, reservations, and monuments; timber; leases, 16 U.S.C. 3a, Recovery of costs associated with special use permits; and 16 U.S.C. 460i-6d, Commercial Filming.

3. Provide an evaluation of the probable or potential effect of the proposal on the privacy of individuals.

The Special Use Permits System collects and stores information from individuals, businesses or government entities (including personally identifiable information from individuals representing businesses) that apply or are granted permits for special uses at the National Park Service.

The Special Park Uses Program has taken measures to protect the information in the system and as a result, there is a minimal risk to the privacy of most individuals.

4. Describe the relationship of the proposal, if any, to the other branches of the Federal government and to State and local governments.

DOI may share information contained within the NPS Special Use Permits system with other Federal, state and local governments to provide information needed to recover debts owed to the United States, to respond to a violation or potential violation of law, in response to court order and/or discovery purposes related to litigation, or other authorized routine use when the disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were compiled.

5. Provide a brief description of steps taken by the agency to minimize the risk of unauthorized access to the system of records.

The records contained in this system are safeguarded in accordance with 43 CFR 2.226 and other applicable security rules and policies. Paper records are maintained in file cabinets located in secured DOI facilities under the control of authorized personnel.

Access to DOI networks and records in this system requires a valid username and password, and is limited to DOI personnel who have a need to know the information for the performance of their official duties. Computers and storage media are encrypted in accordance with DOI security policy. Computers containing files are password protected to restrict unauthorized access. The computer servers in which electronic records are stored are located in secured Department of the Interior facilities. Personnel authorized to access systems must complete all Security, Privacy, and Records Management training and sign the DOI Rules of Behavior.

6. Explain how each proposed routine use is compatible with the purpose for which the records are collected and maintained.

Each proposed routine use is compatible with the purpose of this system because it either: promotes the integrity of the records in the system or servicing and maintenance of the system; improves access by individuals who are the subjects of the information in the system, pursuant to the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. Sec. 552a; or carries out a statutory responsibility of the Department, or requires that a specific determination be made prior to disclosure that a concrete relationship or similarity exists between the disclosure and the purpose for which the information in the system was gathered.

7. Provide the OMB clearance numbers, expiration dates, and titles of any OMB-approved information collection requirements contained in the system of records.

The Special Use Permits--Interior, NPS--1 is comprised of information taken from NPS forms (OMB Control Number: 1024-0026). The forms are: Application for Special Use Permit, 10-930, expires 06/2013; Application for Commercial Filming/Still Photography Permit (short form), 10-931, expires 06/2013; Application for Commercial Filming/Still Photography Permit (long form), 10-932, expires 06/2013; and two new forms, Application for Vehicle Use Permit, 10-933 and

Application for Special Use Permit (short form) 10-930S. An Information Collection Request for both forms was submitted to OMB for approval on December 31, 2012.

8. Does the proposal require new or revised agency rules to be published in the Federal Register?

No. This system of records does not require new or revised agency rules to be published in the Federal Register.
