Teacher Shortage Areas (TSA) Application Screenshots

Executive Summary

The Office of Postsecondary Education (OPE) in the U.S. Department of Education has developed the Teacher Shortage Areas (TSA) application to ensure the delivery of high-quality, timely, accurate, and responsive services to Chief State School Officers (CSSOs) and State representatives who provide the required data. The TSA Solution provides all customers and employees access to the same, current teacher shortage data from states and jurisdictions.

The system is designed to collect data from States and jurisdictions and generate Teacher Shortage Areas Reports intended to be reference documents that show where States and schools are looking to potentially hire academic administrators, licensed teachers, other educators and school faculty in specific disciplines/subject areas, grade levels, and/or geographic regions; and where recent graduates of Schools of Education are trained, experienced teaching professionals aiming to serve school districts with shortages can find (prospective) positions and fill the current voids in each State's and territory's Pre-Kindergarten through Grade 12 classrooms, in areas that match their certification credentials; as well as to inform Federal financial aid recipients on reducing, deferring, or cancelling/nullifying/discharging student loan repayments and meet other specified (e.g., teaching) obligations.

The screenshot shows a green header bar with a white arrow icon and the text "Sign in with your TSA Account". Below the header is a white box containing a warning message. The warning message starts with a blue information icon and the word "Warning". The text of the warning is: "You are accessing a U.S. Federal Government computer system intended to be solely accessed by individual users expressly authorized to access the system by the U.S. Department of Education. Usage may be monitored, recorded, and/or subject to audit. For security purposes and in order to ensure that the system remains available to all expressly authorized users, the U.S. Department of Education monitors the system to identify unauthorized users. Anyone using this system expressly consents to such monitoring and recording. Unauthorized use of this information system is prohibited and subject to criminal and civil penalties. Except as expressly authorized by the U.S. Department of Education, unauthorized attempts to access, obtain, upload, modify, change, and/or delete information on this system are strictly prohibited and are subject to criminal prosecution under 18 U.S.C § 1030, and other applicable statutes, which may result in fines and imprisonment. For purposes of this system, unauthorized access includes, but is not limited to: Any access by an employee or agent of a commercial entity, or other third party, who is not the individual user, for purposes of commercial advantage or private financial gain (regardless of whether the commercial entity or third party is providing a service to an authorized user of the system); and Any access in furtherance of any criminal or tortious act in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States or any State. If system monitoring reveals information indicating possible criminal activity, such evidence may be provided to law enforcement personnel." At the bottom of the warning box is a green button with a white checkmark icon and the text "Accept". The button is circled in red.

 Attached is a document that provides information about some of the work in which Virginia is engaged to address teacher shortages in the Commonwealth. In discussions with your office, we are compromising by submitting only our five top areas of teacher shortage. We will review the current methodology and look at alternative methods in calculating critical shortage areas.

The Department appreciates your efforts and patience for providing the Teacher Shortage Areas data. This data collection is intended to serve three primary purposes:

- Notify the nation that States and schools may potentially hire academic administrators, licensed teachers, other educators and school faculty of specific disciplines/subject areas, grade levels, and/or geographic regions.
- Serve as a useful resource for recent graduates of Schools of Education and trained, experienced teaching professionals aspiring to serve school districts with shortages about potential opportunity areas in each State's and territory's Pre-Kindergarten through Grade 12 classrooms.
- Serve as a useful resource in the process of advising Federal student financial aid recipients of the potential to reduce, defer, or discharge student loan repayments by teaching in certain areas.
