2020 BRAIN Initiative® Investigators Meeting Abstract Submission System

Diversity Statement: A growing body of research focused on the benefits of diversity shows that teams comprised of people from a variety of backgrounds and experiences produce better and more innovative products and ideas than a homogenous team. The National Institutes of Health, along with the other federal and non-federal organizations participating in the U.S. BRAIN Initiative, recognizes the benefits of a diverse workforce on scientific discovery, with a particular focus on enhancing the pool of individuals from backgrounds underrepresented in biomedical research. Accordingly, we seek to nurture appropriate representation of women, under-represented minorities, and/or persons with disabilities as poster presenters and invited speakers in relation to their participation in the annual BRAIN Initiative Investigators Meeting.

Research Highlight Talk and General abstract submissions are automatically assigned a poster slot. Please indicate your preferred poster presentation date in the Abstract Submission portal. If you indicated interest in a Research Highlight Talk, the same abstract will be associated with your poster presentation, regardless of whether you are selected to give a talk. If you indicated interest in a Trainee Travel Award, only abstracts selected for the award will receive a poster presentation slot. All presented abstracts will be made available in a public, digital abstract booklet.
