

Justification for Non-Substantive Changes for SSA-L4112
Employer Verification of Earnings After Death
Citations: 20 CFR 404.821 and 404.822
OMB No. 0960-0472

Background:

When SSA records show a wage earner is deceased, and we receive wage reports from an employer for the wage earner for a year subsequent to the year of death, SSA mails the employer Form SSA-L4112 (Employer Verification of Earnings After Death). SSA uses the information Form SSA-L4112 provides to verify the wage information previously received from the employer is correct for the employee and the year in question (the year subsequent to the year of death), to ensure we avoid wage fraud on the deceased's account. We are making revisions to correct the name of the operation center on the return address. We were unable to make these changes in the prior clearance, because we were not aware of the name change for the division that processes this form.
