Dear [SFSP Sponsor],

I am following up on the email you recently received from your State Child Nutrition agency requesting your participation in an important research study, the Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) Integrity Study. The U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) hired Westat, an independent research organization, to conduct the study.

We seek to interview 48 SFSP sponsors, including yourself, to better understand how the SFSP operates on the ground. The telephone interview takes 1 hour and includes questions about the training you provide to your meal service sites, the records you collect from sites, and the support and guidance you receive from the State agency. The interviews are not part of an audit or review and no one from FNS or the State agency will participate in the call.
