* “Restart – AD No Longer Applies” screen provides information to an iClaim user in the following possible scenario:

- The iClaim user is eligible to see the Advance Designation option screens when completing the iClaim, but leaves the claim without submitting it.
- Upon re-entry into iClaim, the iClaim user now has a representative payee and is no longer eligible to see the Advance Designation option screens.
- iClaim will remove the Advance Designation option screens, along with any information previously input by the filer, and will display this screen instead. The language on this screen is intentionally broad because iClaim is not allowed to disclose information from our records to the iClaim user, including the presence of a newly selected representative payee.

The final screens in the mock-up show how the responses will display in the iClaim summary, where the applicant will sign. The iClaim receipt is the same screen as the summary, but without the signature agreement.
