Summary

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board), under authority delegated by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), has extended for three years, without revision, the Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire (FR 1379a), Federal Reserve Consumer Help - Consumer Survey (FR 1379b), Consumer Online Complaint Form (FR 1379c), and Appraisal Complaint Form (FR 1379d) (collectively FR 1379; OMB No. 7100-0135).

- The FR 1379a is sent to consumers who have filed complaints with the Federal Reserve against state member banks or other financial institution supervised by the Board. The information is used to assess the satisfaction of the consumers with the Federal Reserve's handling of, and written response to, their complaints at the conclusion of an investigation.
- The FR 1379b is a survey sent to consumers who contact the Federal Reserve Consumer Help (FRCH) desk¹ to file a complaint or inquiry. The information is used to determine whether consumers are satisfied with the way the FRCH handled their complaint.
- The FR 1379c collection addresses the burden associated with consumers electronically submitting a complaint against a financial institution to the FRCH.
- The FR 1379d collects information about complaints regarding a regulated institution's non-compliance with the appraisal independence standards and the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice, including complaints from appraisers, individuals, financial institutions, and other entities.

The current estimated total annual burden for the FR 1379 is 1,291 hours. The forms and instructions are available on the Board's public website at <https://www.federalreserve.gov/apps/reportforms/default.aspx>.

Background and Justification

A 1976 staff report by the Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs of the House Committee on Banking, Currency and Housing recommended the periodic evaluation of the Federal Reserve's complaint-handling system. In response, the Board developed the Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire in May 1977 to be sent to consumers whose complaints against state member banks were referred to a Federal Reserve Bank for investigation. Completion of the questionnaire is voluntary. In 1999, the Board extended distribution of the questionnaire to all consumers who have filed complaints involving state member banks and began requesting that consumers provide certain demographic information. The questionnaire has been revised from time to time, most recently in 2008, to assess consumer attitudes more accurately.

In November 2017, the Federal Reserve System launched the FRCH website, <https://www.federalreserveconsumerhelp.gov/>, a new centralized resource that consolidates and streamlines the Federal Reserve System's intake of consumer complaints and inquiries. The FRCH is operated by existing call centers and staff at the Kansas City and Minneapolis Reserve Banks. As a result, in 2008, the Board implemented (1) a new voluntary survey, the FRCH - Consumer Survey, to facilitate assessment of FRCH staff's handling of consumer complaints and inquiries and (2) a new voluntary online consumer complaint form, the Consumer Online Complaint Form, available on the FRCH website.

In 2012, the appraisal complaint form was created to assist in efforts to oversee the appraisal practices of Board-supervised institutions. Appraisal complaints are submitted to the appropriate agency using the Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form and are filed directly by an appraiser, other individual, financial institution, or other entities.

Description of Information Collection

Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire (FR 1379a)

The Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire is a six-question questionnaire that is sent to a consumer after investigation of the consumer's complaint against a state member bank. Although participation is optional, the questionnaire indicates that the responses would help improve the Federal Reserve's service to consumers.

The Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire includes four questions that ask consumers to indicate their level of satisfaction with the Federal Reserve's investigation. The fifth question asks consumers to indicate how they learned about the Federal Reserve's consumer complaint program, and the sixth question asks whether they would contact the Federal Reserve again for assistance.

FRCH - Consumer Survey (FR 1379b)

The FRCH - Consumer Survey is a five-question survey sent to consumers who contacted the FRCH to file a complaint or inquiry.
