CISA Situation Reporting System – Critical Infrastructure Workers Denied Movement Report

The CISA Situation Reporting System provides a secure web-enabled means of reporting Critical Infrastructure Workers Denied Movement situations to CISA. This system assists analysts in providing timely handling of your reports as well as the ability to conduct improved analysis and advocate for change. If you would like to report a Critical Infrastructure Workers Denied Movement situation, please complete the following form. Please provide as much information as you can to answer the following questions to allow CISA to understand your situation.

What Is a Reportable Situation?

For the purposes of this system, a Critical Infrastructure Workers Denied Movement situation occurs anytime an individual or entity believes they are considered an essential worker under the local definition and was denied the ability to move around to conduct activities the local authorities have determined are authorized.

Disagreements with local restrictions should not be reported in this manner.

We encourage you to report any activities that you feel meet the definition of a Critical Infrastructure Workers Denied Movement situation via this system.
