

Taxonomy Tool Prototype

The following example of the Taxonomy Tool is adapted from the initial Excel document that NSF reviewed and returned to RTI. Comments and suggestions from the Excel document have been integrated into this version. This example is intended to better represent the coordinator experience. The final web version of the Taxonomy Tool will address all formatting, alignment, font, and spacing issues that have resulted from the limitations of Microsoft Word.

About the Taxonomy Tool Prototype:

- It is not advised to print this document as the following pages have been set to 11x17 to show as much information as possible.
- The blue shaded boxes give comment to the page design and function and will not be shown to coordinators.
- Yellow highlights indicate a user has 'clicked' or interacted with an item.
- All impacted units listed are postdoc/NFR units
- Font sizes are purposefully inconsistent to limit each 'webpage' to one Microsoft Word document page.

The Taxonomy Tool is an interactive version of the GSS code list that will guide you through the recoding of units impacted by the 2017 GSS Taxonomy Change. The only units shown below are those effected by the Taxonomy change and reported postdocs or NFRs in 2016. Upon completion, a list of units and their new GSS codes will be available to download. This file will include all units at your school and can be used to construct an upload file or assist in manual data entry. Note that you will be unable to download this list until you have recoded all impacted units.

There are 10 units that need to be recoded.

If you have any questions, please contact the GSS Helpdesk at 866-558-0781.

Below are previously reported units that need to be recoded to a different GSS code in 2017.
Please click a unit name to recode it to the new GSS Taxonomy.

Screen 1: Impacted Unit List

When coordinators click the link (or are otherwise directed to the taxonomy tool) they will come to this screen. Yellow highlights indicate selected items. This screen will continuously update until they have completed their recoding.

The purpose of this screen is to introduce coordinators to the Taxonomy Tool and guide them through the recoding process. The unit list will update based on their selections. After each unit is recoded they will be directed back to this page and their efforts will be shown accordingly.

This screen will change once they recode all impacted units (last two pages of this document). It will only show the 2017 unit list and newly ineligible units. They will be asked to submit their changes and will then be able to download the results.

Screen 2: Field of Study or Research List

When a coordinator selects multiple fields of research for a postdoc or NFR unit this page determines if the unit should be 'split' by GSS code or coded as '980-Multidisciplinary/Interdisciplinary Studies'

You have selected the following programs of study or research within Wildlife & Wildlands Conservation.

Field of study/Research _____
Range Science and Management
Wildlife, Fish and Wildlands Science and Management

Can you identify which students, postdocs, and/or NFRs are associated with the programs of study or research listed?

- Yes, I can identify which postdocs and/or NFRs are associated with each field of research listed.
- No, I cannot identify which postdocs and/or NFRs are associated with each field of research listed.

If 'NO' the following will appear on the same screen.

Which field of study or research is this unit predominantly focused?

- Range, Science, and Management
- Wildlife, Fish, and Wildlands Science Management
- Neither

If 'YES' was selected on the previous screen.

This unit will be split into units with different GSS codes.

2017 GSS code for Range Science and Management is 501 Agricultural Sciences

2017 GSS code for Wildlife, Fish and Wildlands Science and Management is 511 Forestry, Natural Resources and Conservation

Return to Impacted Unit List

If 'NO' and then a field of study/research was selected:

2017 GSS code for the Counseling Wildlife & Wildlands Conservation unit is:

501 Agricultural Sciences (Range Science and Management)

If 'NO' followed by 'Neither' was selected:

2017 GSS code for the Counseling Wildlife & Wildlands Conservation unit is:

980 Multidisciplinary and Interdisciplinary Studies

Screen 3: Recode Results

This screen displays the 2017 GSS code for the selected unit.

This page is dynamic pending the selection of the previous line of questioning resulting in three outcomes.

1) They can identify which postdocs/NFRs are associated with each program of study. This unit will split and be reported multiple times depending on how many qualifying CIP codes they have selected.

2) They cannot identify which postdocs/NFRs are associated with each program of study, but they do know that most these individuals are researching in a particular field. The unit will be coded accordingly.

3) If they cannot identify which postdocs/NFRs the individual fields they are researching or the general field of research for the unit, the unit will be coded as Multidisciplinary/Interdisciplinary studies.

The 2017 Unit List has been updated. Notice that Wildlife & Wildlands Conservation is listed twice as a result of the previous recode. The 'field of study' column is important for this coordinator because now they know that Range Science is associated with GSS Code 501 and Wildlife, Fish, and Wildlands Science and Management is associated with GSS Code 511.

- None of these

If "None of These" is chosen, the complete list of 2017 GSS codes will be displayed in alphabetical order, and users can click to expand the program titles list.

If "None of These" is chosen at the end of this step the unit will be ineligible.

Screen 2: Field of Study or Research Listing-- OTHER

In this example the coordinator has not identified a field of study or research that they understand to be included in this unit.

The 'Other' option allows them to search for the field of study they are looking for based on keywords. This gives us the opportunity to recode units that were historically coded incorrectly.

If they are unable to locate the field of study/program based on key word ('None of These') we redirect them to the full CIP Program Title names (including ineligible CIP codes). We then code their selection accordingly. If they indicate they still cannot find the program of study and "None of these" is selected again, the unit is ineligible.
