23.

What does "nature" mean to you and how/when do you feel connected to it? Why do you want to connect people to nature? *

Nature creates, provides, and sustains life. The earth's natural resources are what support all of the ecosystems and organisms on the planet and should be preserved and respected. Exposing people to nature and teaching them of its importance can encourage future interest and stewardship of the environment. We (all people) need current and future generations to understand and respect the natural world in order to combat issues that we face in the modern world such as climate change, species habitat loss and fragmentation, lack of resources (available clean water, air, food) to support humans and wildlife...

24.

Have you ever used your personal story to inspire change? *

If you have, give an example. If not, give a reason why that is the case.

25.

Tell us of one environmental problem you see in your community and where you believe the solution lies. *

Give some concrete steps that you could possibly take to work towards said solution. Examples: Lack of connection with the environment and thereby decreased stewardship/conservation. Dependency and comfort in technology and unfamiliarity with disconnecting and experiencing things independently firsthand, especially with the next generation 26.

What steps do you take to ensure you continue to grow and develop as a leader? *

27.

Project Goal and Summary *

28.

Who is your audience? Why are they important? *

29.

How would you implement this project, and what tools would you need to be successful? *

30.

Would you need additional support (ex: volunteers, other schools, professionals, neighboring communities)? *

31.

When would your project be completed? Is it a one-time project or ongoing over many years into the future? *
