2021 National Substance Use and Mental Health Services Survey (N-SUMHSS)

March 31, 2021

WELCOME TO THE N-SUMHSS WEBSITE — This site should help you find answers to many of your questions about completing the N-SUMHSS questionnaire, plus provide you with other useful links and information.

The National Substance Use and Mental Health Services Survey (N-SUMHSS) is an annual census of all substance use and mental health treatment facilities in the United States and its territories. Each year, about 40,000 facilities are surveyed and information is collected on their location, organizational structure, services, and utilization. The data are used by policymakers when decisions are being made about substance use and mental health treatment programs. Information from the survey is also used to compile and update the National Directory of Drug and Alcohol Abuse Treatment Programs, the National Directory of Mental Health Treatment Facilities, and the online Behavioral Health Treatment Services Locator, three widely used resources for referrals to treatment.

The N-SUMHSS is conducted for SAMHSA by [COMPANY].
