Paint immediately comes off

paint immediately comes off with kids placing blocks in mouth. Probably the paint is non-toxic, that's why it comes off so easy, but still disconcerting for toddlers or younger.

No, I do not recommend this product.

Unsafe - Zero Stars

Paint is coming off if my child gets it wet (her hands are usually wet from drool). Called customer service and they said the paint isn't toxic so it's not a problem if my child eats paint. She didn't care at all. Ya because paint is great for children to eat even if it isn't toxic. Clearly she did not have any children. Will not be buying a Melissa and Doug product ever again. How can they make toys like this for children?!

No, I do not recommend this product.

Useless storage bag

Super cute blocks. Storage bag is pretty useless since it doesn't close. A draw string would have been a great addition to actually keep the blocks contained when they're not in use.

Yes, I recommend this product.

I would not buy this product again

Blocks are a lot smaller than they appear in picture

Attractive blocks

Classic toy done well! They are a little smaller than I expected them to be, and the packaging makes it seem like there are more than there are. I'm glad it includes a little bag for the blocks.
