I couldn't really find a dresser that was in my price range that I liked so I decided to order this and finish it myself. It was VERY easy to put together- it only took me about an hour and I'm definitely not a very handy person. I added a stain and new hardware and it looks like a million bucks! I definitely recommend this.

Real wood-remarkable in this day and age. After serious shopping from retail to used -this was a great value. And I can customize it to any look I want, but looks great at natural until I decide.

Pros: Easy to Assemble, Looks Great, Sturdy, Well Made

Pros: ~ Real solid wood frame, shell and drawer fronts ... truly exceptional ... a throw back before the days of particle board. ~ Clever design and easy assembly of exterior shell. ~ Fantastic value (price/quality): ~This is the second time in a decade or so that I've purchased a piece of furniture made in Viet Nam both well built. Being a 1960's vet I never could have conceived this. Con: ~ The drawer bottoms are way too thin and flimsy. It's an incredibly out of balance design and choice of materials. Particularly when considering how well the rest of the chest is designed and the quality of solid wood components. General: ~ I purchased two pieces. ~ Assembled the frame and shell of one but stopped short of assembling the drawers due to the flimsy bottoms. ~ Plan to redesign the drawer construction. Will use heavier bottom and additional supports. ~ Although it's not called for by the assembly instructions I will glue all joints for additional strength. ~ Feel the extra labor is worthwhile in light of the overall quality. So, yes, despite the drawer issue I would recommend this chest to others.

I bought this dresser and the nightstand for my daughter. We were going to paint both her favorite colors but after seeing and smelling the wood we are going to stain it to bring out its natural texture. The dresser arrived in a box about a week after I ordered it. The instructions were very easy and all the tools were with the nuts and bolts. It took about an hour to construct. The drawers roll very easily and it is a perfect height for my 7 year old daughter. I would highly recommend this dresser.

I love this chest of drawers! I wanted an affordable, solid wood piece, that would fit our small guest room! One of the reviews said assembly took three hours. Mine was assembled in 45 minutes. I did use an electric screwdriver which helped immensely.

We bought two of these dressers and they went together pretty easily. The quality is good with no particle board used in the construction. The wood finish also very nice.

Sturdy when all put together; not hard to assemble. The piece is solid wood, with sturdy pieces of wood for drawer fronts, top, sides & legs. The back cover piece and drawer bottoms come across as a bit thin & flimsy in comparison to the overall piece, but they have support pieces that add to their strength. I would have liked to have had the option to upgrade drawer sliders. This comes with low end, simple tracks. I added ball bearing sliders after the fact which really enhanced the piece. Overall, I am satisfied for what I got at the price offered.

Read all the reviews. I think this is probably a great little piece of furniture I really needed after Hurricane Matthew; yet, due to a recent deep leg wound on top of a serious spine injury, I can't assemble it, and the local Home Depot doesn't have anyone I can pay to do it, so it will have to be returned. For those who have help, definitely purchase it. I might call Lowes and see if they have anyone who can before sending it back.

This dresser arrived in good condition. It was easy to assemble, all the hardware was included and all I had to provide was a phillips screwdriver. Everything fits well together. The drawers are on glides that work very well. The solid wood is exactly what I looked for. I'm very happy with it.
