

Poster Abstracts

NCI invites in-person attendees to submit a poster for consideration at the symposium. Poster topics should cover at least one of the following:

- Assessment of current efforts to share personal genomic data for research
- Security and privacy concerns
- Consent models
- Business models
- Ethical, legal, and psychosocial implications of individuals controlling their own data
- Individual perceptions of the risks and benefits of data sharing

Abstracts are due by Friday, August 23, but space for posters is limited so please submit your abstract as soon as possible. Posters accepted for the symposium will be notified by Friday, September 6.

Use the Abstract Submission form below to submit your abstract.
