only person who can look at the earnings chart and know whether it is complete and correct.

Some or all of your earnings from last year may not be shown on your Statement. It could be that we still were processing last year's earnings report when your Statement was prepared. Note: If you worked for more than one employer during any year, or if you had both earnings and selfemployment income, we combined your earnings for the year

▲ Limits on Taxable Earnings for Social Security

There's a limit on the amount of earnings on which you pay Social Security taxes each year. The limit usually increases yearly. Earnings above the limit will not appear on your earnings chart as Social Security earnings. (For Medicare taxes, the maximum earnings amount began rising in 1991. Since 1994, all of your earnings are taxed for Medicare.)

Note: Currently, you and your employer each pay a 6.2 percent Social Security tax on up to $137,700 of your earnings and a 1.45 percent Medicare tax on all your earnings. If you are selfemployed, you pay the combined employee and employer amount, which is a 12.4 percent Social Security tax on up to $137,700 of your net earnings and a 2.9 percent Medicare tax on your entire net earnings. If you have earned income of more than $200,000 ($250,000 for married couples filing jointly), you must pay 0.9 percent more in Medicare taxes.

▲ Why would earnings be missing from my record?

If the earnings missing from your Social Security record are for the current year or last year, you don't need to worry. Because these earnings are recent, we may not have recorded them yet. They should appear on a later Statement.

However, earnings could be missing from your record for earlier years for one of the following reasons:

- · Your employer reported your earnings using the wrong name or Social Security number.
- · Your employer reported your earnings incorrectly.
- · You got married or divorced and changed your name, but never reported the change to Social Security.
- You worked using a Social Security number that didn't belong to you.
