What is this survey all about?

The [Fill: SURVEY_NAME] collects information on topics such as housing, education, income and jobs. This information was typically collected during the census every ten years. However, the [Fill: SURVEY_NAME] is an ongoing, monthly survey which can provide more accurate and up-to-date information continuously, not just every ten years.

This means that people who use the data - - businesses for example, or local, state or Federal governments will have more timely information with which to make informed decisions.

The data from all interviews is summarized so that no one person can be identified. The summary statistics are available on the ACS Web Site. [Fill 1: Federal, state, and local/ Federal, Puerto Rico, and municipio] governments use the data as an information base for planning, administering and evaluating government programs.

Businesses use the data to make informed decisions. For example, a business may look at the education level of the residents of a community to see if that community would have the appropriate workforce for that business.

The housing quality of an area can be assessed from the housing data collected in the [Fill 2: ACS/PRCS]. Using the income data, the poverty level of an area can be determined.

How was I selected?

Your address was randomly selected from a list of residential addresses in your [Fill: county/ municipio].

Why don't you select someone else?

Your address was randomly selected from a list of addresses, so we can't substitute anyone else's address for yours. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every household. But in order for it to work, you can't pick and choose -- the sample has to be truly random. Your participation is very important if we're going to be able to produce accurate statistics from this survey.

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) oversees all Federal Government surveys. This office gives clearance to conduct a survey by providing an approval number. The approval number must be printed on every questionnaire. In addition, if requested, we must provide the approval number when we call regardless if we reach a business or private address.

If someone calls claiming to be a Census Bureau employee and you are concerned whether or not the survey is legitimate, ask the caller for the OMB approval number. If the caller can't provide the number, that very well could mean the purpose of the call is not legitimate.

HOW DO I BENEFIT BY COMPLETING THE ACS?

Communities, states, and federal agencies say they do not have the up-to-date information they need to better understand community issues, respond to needs, and allocate programs and resources. A community leader said, "Guessing is always fun, but seldom effective." The [Fill 1: American/Puerto Rico] Community Survey will provide communities with up-to-date housing and population data every year.

By responding to the [Fill 1: American/Puerto Rico] Community Survey, you are helping your community establish community goals, identify community problems and solutions, locate facilities and programs, and measure the performance of programs.

The [Fill 1: American/Puerto Rico] Community Survey data are used by:

Local governments:

- - for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects.

Community Programs:

- - such as for the elderly, scout programs, libraries, churches, banks, hospitals, and other community organizations, to provide services to the community and to locate buildings, services, and programs.

Transportation planners (using summarized journey-to-work information):

- - to plan for peak volumes of traffic to reduce traffic congestion, plan for parking, and to develop strategies such as car pooling programs and flexible work schedules.
- - to decide where to build new roads or add capacity to existing roads.
- - to develop transit systems such as light rail or subways by projecting rider ship.
- - by businesses, for determining the location of new buildings and services, such as banks selecting sites for ATM machines.

Utility companies

- - to understand their customer bases so they can project future needs. Every time you turn on your water faucet or a light switch in your home, summarized census data are behind the services you receive.

A message from the Director, U.S. Census Bureau ...

The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting the American Community Survey. A Census Bureau representative will contact you to help you complete the survey. The survey will ask you questions about your household's characteristics, including such topics as education, employment, and housing. I would appreciate your help, because the success of this survey depends on you.

The American Community Survey produces critical up-to-date information that is used to meet the needs of communities across the United States. For example, results from this survey maybe used to decide where new schools, hospitals, and fire stations are needed. Survey data are used by federal, tribal, state, and local governments to make decisions and to develop programs that will provide health care, education, and transportation services that affect you and your community. This survey information also helps communities plan for emergency situations that might affect you and your neighbors.

The Census Bureau chose your address, not you personally, as part of a randomly selected sample. You are required by U.S. law to respond to this survey (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, and 221). We estimate this survey will take about 40 minutes of your time.

The Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify this household. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics.

If you have access to the internet and want to learn more about the American Community Survey, please visit our website at census.gov/acs.

Thank you for your help.

We would appreciate your help because the success of this survey depends on you.

Un message du directeur du Bureau de recensement des États-Unis,

Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis est chargé de mener l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines (American Community Survey). Un représentant du Bureau de recensement vous contactera pour vous aider à répondre aux questions de l'enquête. L'enquête comporte des questions au sujet des caractéristiques de votre foyer, y compris en matière d'éducation, d'emploi et de logement. Nous vous serions reconnaissants de bien vouloir nous aider car le succès de cette enquête dépend de vous.

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines fournit des informations mises à jour et critiques qui répondent aux besoins des communautés dans tous les États-Unis. Par exemple, les résultats de cette enquête peuvent être utilisés pour décider des endroits où de nouvelles écoles, hôpitaux et casernes de pompiers sont nécessaires. Les agences du gouvernement fédéral, des États et des régions utilisent les données de l'enquête afin de prendre des décisions et mettre au point des programmes qui offrent des soins en matière de santé, d'éducation et de transport qui ont un impact sur votre communauté et vous-même. Ces informations aident également les communautés à se préparer à des situations d'urgence susceptibles d'avoir des répercussions sur vos voisins et vous-même.

Le Bureau de recensement a sélectionné votre adresse, pas vous personnellement, pour faire partie d'un échantillon sélectionné au hasard. Vous êtes tenu par la loi américaine de répondre à cette enquête (Titre 13, Code des États-Unis, Sections 141, 193 et 221). Nous estimons qu'il vous faudra environ 40 minutes pour répondre aux questions de cette enquête.

Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis a l'obligation légale de préserver la confidentialité de vos informations. Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis n'est pas autorisé à divulguer publiquement toute information qui permettrait d'identifier votre foyer. En application de la Loi de 2015 sur le renforcement de la cybersécurité fédérale, vos données sont protégées contre les risques liés à la cybersécurité grâce à la revue des systèmes qui transmettent vos données. La loi autorise le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis à utiliser vos réponses uniquement dans un but statistique.

Wiadomość od Dyrektora Biura Spisu Ludności Stanów Zjednoczonych ...

Urząd Spisu Ludności (U.S. Census Bureau) prowadzi ankietę na temat warunków życia społecznego pt. Amerykańska Ankieta Społecznościowa (American Community Survey). Przedstawiciel Urzędu Spisu Ludności skontaktuje się z Państwem, aby pomóc w wypełnieniu ankiety. Pytania ankiety dotyczą cech charakterystycznych Państwa gospodarstwa domowego, takich jak edukacja, zatrudnienie i warunki mieszkaniowe. Powodzenie ankiety zależy od Państwa współpracy.

Amerykańska Ankieta Społecznościowa pozwala uzyskać aktualne informacje o zasadniczym znaczeniu dla zaspokojenia potrzeb wspólnotowych w całym Stanach Zjednoczonych. Na przykład wyniki ankiety mogą zostać wykorzystane przy podejmowaniu decyzji, gdzie potrzebne są nowe szkoły, szpitale czy placówki straży pożarnej. Władze federalne, stanowe, lokalne i plemienne wykorzystują dane z ankiety przy opracowywaniu programów usług służby zdrowia, edukacji i transportu, mających wpływ na życie wspólnot i poszczególnych mieszkańców. Dane z ankiety są także pomocne przy planowaniu działań lokalnych na wypadek katastrof, co może mieć wpływ na życie Państwa i Waszych sąsiadów.

Urząd Spisu Ludności wybrał Państwa adres, nie zaś Pana/Panią osobiście, w ramach losowo wybranej próby. Przepisy prawne USA wymagają od Państwa wypełnienia niniejszej ankiety (Tytuł 13 Kodeksu Stanów Zjednoczonych, Artykuły 141, 193 i 221). Oceniamy, że wypełnienie ankiety zajmie około 40 minut.

Przepisy prawa wymagają od Urzędu Spisu Ludności zachowania poufności Państwa danych. Nie możemy publicznie udostępniać Państwa odpowiedzi w żaden sposób, który pozwoliłby na zidentyfikowanie Państwa gospodarstwa domowego. Zgodnie z Federalną Ustawą o poprawie cyberbezpieczeństwa z roku 2015, Państwa dane są chronione przed zagrożeniami dla cyberbezpieczeństwa poprzez kontrolę systemów przesyłających te dane. Zgodnie z prawem, Urząd Spisu Ludności może wykorzystać Pana/Pani odpowiedzi wyłącznie do celów statystycznych.

Jeśli mają Państwo dostęp do Internetu i pragną dowiedzieć się więcej o Amerykańskiej Ankiecie Społecznościowej, prosimy odwiedzić naszą witrynę internetową census.gov/acs.

Dziękujemy Państwu za pomoc.

Mensagem do diretor do U.S. Census Bureau (Censo dos EUA)...

O U.S. Census Bureau (Agência do Censo dos EUA) está realizando a Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas (ACS, American Community Survey). Um representante da Agência do Censo entrará em contato para ajudá-lo a preencher a pesquisa. Na pesquisa haverá perguntas sobre as características do seu domicílio, inclusive tópicos como educação, emprego e moradia. Agradecemos pela sua colaboração, porque o sucesso desta pesquisa depende de você.

A Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas gera informações importantes e atualizadas que são utilizadas para atender às necessidades das comunidades nos Estados Unidos. Por exemplo, os resultados desta pesquisa poderão ser utilizados para decidir sobre a necessidade de criação de novas escolas, hospitais e sedes de bombeiros. Os dados da pesquisa serão utilizados pelos governos federais, estaduais e locais para tomar decisões e desenvolver programas que proporcionarão serviços de saúde, educação e transporte que afetarão você e a sua comunidade. Os dados desta pesquisa também ajudarão as comunidades a planejar intervenções em situações de emergência, que poderão afetar você e seus vizinhos.

A Agência do Censo escolheu a sua residência, e não você pessoalmente, como parte integrante de uma amostra selecionada aleatoriamente. Responder à Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas é obrigatório por lei (Título 13, Código dos Estados Unidos, Seções 141, 193 e 221). Calculamos que a pesquisa leve cerca de 40 minutos para ser respondida.

De acordo com a lei, a Agência do Censo tem a obrigação de manter as suas informações confidenciais. Não podemos divulgar as suas respostas de uma forma que identifique o seu domicílio. De acordo com a lei para melhoria da segurança cibernética (Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act) de 2015, os seus dados são protegidos contra riscos de segurança cibernética pela análise dos sistemas que os transmitem. The American Community Survey

What Is the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey is a survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau. It provides information each year about the social, economic, and housing characteristics of the United States. Previously, this information was available only when the U.S. Census Bureau conducted a population census every 10 years. The American Community Survey will ask you questions about your household's characteristics, including such topics as education, employment, and housing.

Only a small sample of addresses is randomly selected to participate in the American Community Survey and they represent other addresses in the community. A survey questionnaire is delivered to a sample address to complete and mail back. When households do not mail back a questionnaire, the Census Bureau attempts to contact the household to complete the survey by phone or in person.

Do I Have to Answer the Questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes, your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, and 221).

How Will My Participation Help Me and My Community?

Billions of government and business dollars are distributed among states, communities, and population groups based on the social, economic, and housing information available for that area.

The information you provide will help you and other individuals, local governments, nongovernmental organizations, and businesses to:

- Help distribute resources to communities.
- Improve your community by deciding where in your town new highways, schools, and hospitals can do the most good.
- Measure changes in the well-being of children, families, and senior citizens to help plan future programs.
- Help communities plan for emergency situations that might affect you or your neighbors, such as floods, fires, and other natural disasters.

Is the Information I Provide Confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify this household. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics. We may combine your survey data with data that you may have provided to other federal agencies. Any combined information is given the same protections as your survey information. Some households that respond to the American Community Survey may be asked to participate in other Census Bureau surveys.

Will American Indians and Alaska Natives be Recruited for Jobs?

The Census Bureau has always relied on the help of American Indians and Alaska Natives to make the census work, and will do the same to make the American Community Survey work.

Only a small sample of addresses is randomly selected to participate in the American Community Survey and they represent other addresses in the community. The Census Bureau's local field representative may visit the household to complete the survey by conducting a personal interview or may attempt to contact the household by telephone to complete the survey. If the address selected for the survey is vacant or only occupied seasonally, data on the characteristics of the unit will be collected.

Do I Have to Answer the Questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes, your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, and 221).

How Will My Participation Help Me and My Community?

Billions of dollars are allocated among states, communities, Alaska Native villages, and population groups based on the social, economic, and housing information available for that area.

The information you provide will help you and other individuals, local governments, nongovernmental organizations, and businesses to:

- Help distribute resources to communities.
- Improve your community by deciding where new roads, schools, hospitals, and improved airstrips can do the most good for your town.
- Measure change in the well-being of children, families, and senior citizens to help plan future programs.
- Help communities plan for emergency situations that might affect you or your neighbors, such as floods, fires, and other natural disasters.
- Help village leaders and Alaska Native corporations plan for better education and health services.

What About My Tribe or My Village?

The use of American Community Survey data could result in improved utility services, new housing, job training, better school facilities, or a new or improved health clinic that benefits you, your family, or your village. For example, the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 requires information about American Indian and Alaska Native households to support training and employment activities. Your participation in the American Community Survey will provide this critically important information.

Is the Information I Provide Confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify this household. La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico es una encuesta realizada por el Negociado del Censo de los Estados Unidos. Ésta proporciona información anualmente sobre las características sociales, económicas y de vivienda en Puerto Rico. En el pasado, esta información estaba disponible únicamente cada 10 años, cuando el Negociado del Censo realizaba un censo de población. La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico le formulará preguntas sobre características de su hogar, incluyendo temas, tales como la educación, el empleo y la vivienda.

Sólo una pequeña muestra de domicilios se selecciona al azar para participar en la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico; esas direcciones representan a otras direcciones en la comunidad. Se entrega un cuestionario de la encuesta a una dirección particular en la muestra para llenarlo y enviarlo de vuelta por correo. Si un hogar no devuelve la encuesta, el Negociado del Censo intenta comunicarse con el mismo para completar la encuesta por teléfono o en persona.

Así es. Si su domicilio resulta seleccionado, usted está obligado por ley a responder a esta encuesta (secciones 141, 193 y 221 del título 13 del Código de los Estados Unidos).

Miles de millones de dólares del gobierno y de empresas privadas se distribuyen a los municipios, comunidades y grupos de población de acuerdo con la información social, económica y de vivienda disponible para el área correspondiente. La información que usted proporcione permitirá que usted y otras personas, gobiernos locales, organizaciones no gubernamentales y negocios:

- Ayuden a distribuir recursos a las comunidades.
- Mejoren su comunidad al decidir dónde sería de mayor beneficio construir autopistas, escuelas y hospitales nuevos.
- Midan los cambios en el bienestar de los niños, las familias y las personas de edad avanzada, para ayudar a planificar programas futuros.
- Ayuden a las comunidades a establecer planes para situaciones de emergencia que puedan afectarlo a usted o afectar a sus vecinos, como inundaciones, incendios y otros desastres naturales.

Así es. La Oficina del Censo está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial su información. A nosotros no se nos permite divulgar sus respuestas de manera que este hogar pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, sus datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten su información.

Por ley, la Oficina del Censo puede usar sus respuestas solo para producir estadísticas. Es posible que combinemos los datos de su encuesta con datos que usted haya proporcionado a otras agencias federales. Cualquier información combinada recibe la misma protección que la información de su encuesta. Además, es posible que se solicite que algunos hogares que respondan a la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico participen en otras encuestas de la Oficina del Censo.

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense es una encuesta realizada por la Oficina del Censo de los Estados Unidos. Proporciona información anualmente sobre las características sociales, económicas y de vivienda en los Estados Unidos. En el pasado, esta información estaba disponible únicamente cada 10 años, cuando la Oficina del Censo realizaba un censo de población. La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense le formulará preguntas sobre características de su hogar, incluyendo temas, tales como la educación, el empleo y la vivienda.

Sólo una pequeña muestra de domicilios se selecciona al azar para participar en la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense; esos domicilios representan a otros domicilios en la comunidad. Se entrega un cuestionario de la encuesta a una dirección particular de la muestra para llenarlo y enviarlo de vuelta por correo. Si un hogar no devuelve la encuesta, la Oficina del Censo intenta comunicarse con el mismo para completar la encuesta por teléfono o en persona.

Así es. Si su domicilio resulta seleccionado, usted está obligado por ley a responder a esta encuesta (Título 13, Código de los Estados Unidos, Secciones 141, 193 y 221).

Miles de millones de dólares del gobierno y de empresas privadas se distribuyen a los estados, comunidades y grupos de población de acuerdo con la información social, económica y de vivienda disponible para el área correspondiente.

La información que usted proporcione permitirá que usted y otras personas, gobiernos locales, organizaciones no gubernamentales y negocios:

- Ayuden a distribuir recursos a las comunidades.
- Mejoren su comunidad al decidir dónde sería de mayor beneficio construir autopistas, escuelas y hospitales nuevos.
- Midan los cambios en el bienestar de los niños, las familias y las personas mayores, para ayudar a planificar programas futuros.
- Ayuden a las comunidades a establecer planes para situaciones de emergencia que puedan afectarlo a usted o afectar a sus vecinos, como inundaciones, incendios y otros desastres naturales.

Así es. La Oficina del Censo está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial su información. A nosotros no se nos permite divulgar sus respuestas de manera que este hogar pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, sus datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten su información.

Por ley, la Oficina del Censo puede usar sus respuestas solo para producir estadísticas. Es posible que combinemos los datos de su encuesta con datos que usted haya proporcionado a otras agencias federales. Cualquier información combinada recibe la misma protección que la información de su encuesta. Además, es posible que se solicite que algunos hogares que respondan a la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense participen en otras encuestas de la Oficina del Censo.

وحسب القانون، يمكن لمكتب الإحصاء استخدام إجاباتك لإنتاج الإحصائيات فقط. وقد نجمع بيانات الدراسة التي قدمتها مع البيانات التي قد تكون قدمتها إلى الوكالات الفيدرالية الأخرى. وتحصل أي معلومات مجمعة على نفس أوجه حماية معلومات الدراسة الخاصة بك. وقد يُطلب من بعض الأسر التي تستجيب إلى دراسة المجتمع الأمريكي المشاركة في دراسات أخرى تابعة لمكتب الإحصاء.

كيف تسهم مشاركتي في مساعدتي ومساعدة مجتمعي؟

توزع الحكومة الفيدرالية والشركات التجارية مليارات الدولارات بين الولايات والمجتمعات والتجمعات السكانية بناء على المعلومات الاجتماعية والاقتصادية والإسكانية المتوفرة لتلك المناطق.

إن المعلومات التي تقدمها تساعدك وتساعد الأفراد الآخرين والحكومات المحلية والمؤسسات الأهلية وشركات الأعمال على:

- المساعدة في توزيع الموارد على المجتمعات.

- مساعدة المجتمعات في التخطيط لحالات الطوارئ التي قد تؤثر عليك أو على جيرانك، كالفيضانات والحرائق وغيرها من الكوارث الطبيعية.

ما هو استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية؟

نعم، فاستجابتك على هذه الدراسة إلزامية بموجب القانون (المادة ١٣ من قانون الولايات المتحدة، الفقرات ١٤١ و١٩٣ و٢٢١).

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines, qu'est-ce que c'est ?

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines est menée par le U.S. Census Bureau. Elle fournit tous les ans des informations en matière de société, d'économie et de logement aux États-Unis. Ces informations n'étaient autrefois disponibles qu'une fois tous les 10 ans, lorsque le U.S. Census Bureau organisait un recensement. L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines comporte des questions au sujet des caractéristiques de votre foyer y compris en matière d'éducation, d'emploi et de logement.

Seul un petit échantillon d'adresses est sélectionné au hasard pour participer à cette Enquête et pour représenter les autres adresses de la communauté. Un questionnaire d'enquête est remis à une adresse sélectionnée et doit être rempli et renvoyé. Si le foyer ne renvoie pas le questionnaire, le U.S. Census Bureau essaie de le contacter par téléphone ou personnellement pour s'assurer que le questionnaire est rempli.

Oui, la loi exige que vous répondiez aux questions de cette enquête (Livre 13 du Code des États-Unis, Sections 141, 193 et 221).

Comment cette participation à l'Enquête m'aidera-t-elle ainsi que ma communauté ?

Des milliards de dollars issus des agences gouvernementales et des entreprises sont répartis entre différents états, communautés et groupes de population en fonction des informations disponibles en matière de société, d'économie et de logement de la région en question.

Les informations que vous fournissez vous aideront, et aideront d'autres individus, des agences gouvernementales régionales, des agences non gouvernementales et des entreprises à :

- Répartir les ressources entre différentes communautés.
- Améliorer votre communauté en décidant dans quelles zones de votre ville de nouvelles autoroutes, de nouveaux établissements scolaires et de nouveaux hôpitaux se révéleront les plus utiles.
- Mesurer l'évolution du bien-être des enfants, des familles et des personnes âgées pour planifier des programmes futurs.
- Aider les communautés à se préparer à des situations d'urgence susceptibles d'entraîner des répercussions sur vos voisins ou vous-même, comme une inondation, un incendie ou une autre catastrophe naturelle.

Les informations que je vous communique sont-elles confidentielles ?

Oui. Le U.S. Census Bureau a l'obligation légale de préserver la confidentialité de vos informations. Nous ne sommes pas autorisés à divulguer publiquement toute information qui permettrait d'identifier votre foyer. En vertu du Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act de 2015 (loi fédérale américaine visant à améliorer la cybersécurité), vos données sont protégées contre les risques grâce au filtrage des systèmes qui transmettent vos données.

La loi autorise le U.S. Census Bureau à utiliser vos réponses uniquement dans un but statistique. Il se peut que nous combinions les informations que vous nous fournissez dans cette enquête à celles que vous avez fournies à d'autres agences fédérales. Toute information combinée est protégée de la même façon que vos réponses au questionnaire de cette Enquête. Il est possible que certains foyers qui répondent à cette Enquête sur les communautés américaines prennent aussi part à d'autres Enquête du U.S. Census Bureau.

Kisa sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an ye ?

Sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an se yon sondaj biwo resansman ameriken an ap fè. Se chak lane li founi enfòmasyon sou kesyon zafè sosyal, ekonomik epi lojman nan Etazini. Gen lontan, sèl lè nou te gen enfòmasyon sa a se lè biwo resansman ameriken an te fè yon resansman sou popilasyon chak 10 zan. Sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an se yon sondaj ki poze w kesyon ou sipoze reponn sou moun lakay ou; sètadi sou edikasyon, travay epi sou kay la menm.

Se pa tout moun k ap patisipe men sè kèk adrès kay ki chwazi o aza k ap patisipe nan sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an e se kay sa yo k ap reprezante lòt adrès nan vwazinaj la. N ap livre kesyonè sondaj la nan enpe kay yo k ap reprezante tout lòt kay pou enpe kay sa yo reponn kesyonè a epi voye li tounen. Si yon kay pa remèt kesyonè a, biwo resansman an ap rele moun kay sa a pou moun lan reponn kesyon sondaj la nan telefòn oswa fasafas.

Èske m oblije reponn kesyon ki nan sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an ?

Wi, gen yon lwa ki di ou oblije reponn sondaj la (Tit 13 - yon pati nan lwa Ameriken, seksyon 141, 193 ak 221).

Kijan patisipasyon m ap ede m epi ede moun ki nan menm zòn lan ?

Gen plizyè bilyon dola gouvènman ak biznis ki distribye nan tout leta yo, kominote yo ak nan gwoup popilasyon moun dapre enfòmasyon nou genyen sou zafè sosyal, ekonomik ak lojman yon zòn.

Enfòmasyon ou mete nan sondaj la ap ni ede n ni ede lòt moun, gouvènman lokal, òganizasyon ki pa gen anyen pou wè ak gouvènman an, epi biznis yo :

- Ede distribye resous nan kominote yo.
- Devlope kominote kote w rete a nan desizyon kote l ap yon pi gwo benefis pou mete nouvo wout, lekòl ak lopital.
- Mezire chanjman nan byennèt timoun, fanmi ak granmoun pou ede n tabli pwogram pou lavni.
- Ede kominote yo fè plan pou sitiyasyon ijan ki ka konsène ni oumnen ni vwazen ou yo ; sètadi manje, dife ak lòt katastwòf natirèl.

Èske enfòmasyon mwen bay nan sondaj la ap rete sekre ?

Wi. Lalwa egzije pou Biwo Resansman Ameriken an kenbe enfòmasyon w sekre. Nou pa gen otorizasyon kominike repons ou yo an piblik nan yon fason ki ta kapab idantifye kay la. Dapre Lwa Federal 2015 pou Amelyorasyon Sekirite Entènèt, done ou yo pwoteje kont risk ki gen nan sekirite entènèt gras a kontwòl sou sistèm ki transmèt done ou yo.

Dapre lalwa, Biwo Resansman an ka sèvi ak repons ou yo pou kreye estatistik sèlman. Konnen n ka mete ansanm enfòmasyon ou founi nan sondaj la ak enfòmasyon ou founi lòt ajans federal. Tout enfòmasyon nou mete ansanm ap gen menm pwoteksyon ak enfòmasyon ou bay nan sondaj la. Epi gen kèk adrès kay ki patisipe nan sondaj pou Kominote Ozetazini yo an ki ka resevwa demann pou yo patisipe nan lòt sondaj biwo resansman an.

단지 소수의 주소들만 미국 지역사회 조사에 참여할 표본으로 무작위 추출되며 이들은 지역사회 내의 다른 주소들을 대표 하게 됩니다. 조사 설문지가 표본주소로 전달되면, 해당 가구는 이를 작성하여 우편으로 다시 보내게 됩니다. 어느 가구 에서 설문지를 우편으로 제출하지 않는 경우, 인구조사국은 설문을 작성하기 위해 해당 가구에 전화를 하거나 방문을 통해 연락을 드립니다.

그렇습니다. 귀하의 조사 참여는 미국 법(미 연방법 Title 13의 Section 141, 193, 221)에 의거한 것으로, 조사에 응해 주시기를 부탁드립니다.

나의 참여가 나와 나의 지역사회에 어떻게 도움이 됩니까?

수십억 달러의 정부 및 기업 자금이 해당 지역에 관한 사회, 경제 및 주택 정보를 바탕으로 주, 지역사회 및 인구 집단 간에 분배됩니다.

귀하가 제공하시는 정보는 귀하와 다른 개인, 지방 정부, 비정부 기구 및 사업체들이 다음과 같은 일을 하는 데 도움이 될 것입니다.

- 자원을 지역사회에 배분하는 데 도움.
- 귀하가 거주하는 도시 내의 어느 지역에 고속도로, 학교 및 병원을 신설하면 가장 유익할지를 결정함으로써 지역사회를 개선.
- 미래의 계획 수립에 도움이 되도록 하기 위해 어린이, 가족 및 연장자들의 복지에 관련된 변화 측정.
- 지역사회가 홍수, 화재 및 기타 자연 재해와 같이 귀하나 귀하의 이웃에 영향을 미칠 수 있는 비상 사태에 대비한 계획을 세우도록 지원.

법률에 따라, 인구조사국은 귀하의 응답을 통계 작성용으로만 사용할 수 있습니다. 귀하가 이전에 다른 연방정부 기관 조사에 참여하신 적이 있으실 경우, 귀하의 응답은 이전에 제공하신 정보와 함께 사용될 수도 있습니다. 그러나 이 역시 동일한 법적인 보호를 받습니다. 조사에 응답하시는 일부 가구들은 인구조사국의 다른 조사에 참여하시도록 요청을 받을 수도 있습니다.

Co to są Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych to ankieta przeprowadzana przez Amerykańskie Biuro Spisu Ludności. Dostarcza ona co roku informacji na temat warunków społecznych, ekonomicznych i mieszkaniowych w USA. Poprzednio te dane były dostępne tylko po przeprowadzeniu przez Amerykańskie Biuro Spisu Ludności powszechnego spisu ludności co 10 lat. Pytania w ankiecie dotyczą cech charakterystycznych mieszkańców, takich jak wykształcenie, zatrudnienie i warunki mieszkaniowe.

Do udziału w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych wybierana jest losowo niewielka próbka adresów, które reprezentują inne adresy na danym terenie. Pod wybrane adresy dostarczany jest kwestionariusz do wypełnienia i odesłania. Jeżeli osoba mieszkająca pod tym adresem nie odeśle kwestionariusza, Biuro Spisu Ludności spróbuje skontaktować się z danym gospodarstwem domowym, aby przeprowadzić badanie telefonicznie lub osobiście.

Czy muszę odpowiadać na pytania ankiety Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Tak, Zgodnie z prawem, musicie Państwo udzielić odpowiedzi na pytania ankietowe. Udział w ankiecie jest wymagany przez prawo (Kodeks Stanów Zjednoczonych, tytuł 13, art. 141, 193 i 221).

W jaki sposób mój udział pomoże mnie i mojej społeczności?

Miliardy dolarów z funduszy rządowych i prywatnych są przyznawane stanom, miejscowościom i grupom ludności na podstawie informacji o ich warunkach socjalnych, ekonomicznych i mieszkaniowych.

Udzielone przez Państwa informacje pomogą Wam i innym osobom, jak też władzom lokalnym, organizacjom pozarządowym, przedsiębiorstwom i biznesom:

- rozdzielić środki finansowe dla ludności
- poprawić warunki życia, decydując gdzie w danej miejscowości nowe drogi, szkoły i szpitale mogą się najbardziej przydać
- mierzyć zmiany jakości życia dzieci, rodzin i ludzi starszych, aby lepiej planować przyszłe programy
- planować działania lokalne na wypadek sytuacji takich jak np. powodzie, pożary czy inne katastrofy naturalne, co może mieć wpływ na życie Państwa i Waszych sąsiadów.

Czy informacje jakich udzielię, są poufne?

Tak. Biuro Spisu Ludności Stanów Zjednoczonych jest zobligowane przepisami prawa do zachowania poufności Państwa danych. Nie możemy publicznie udostępniać Państwa odpowiedzi w żaden sposób, który pozwoliłby na zidentyfikowanie Państwa gospodarstwa domowego. Na mocy ustawy federalnej z 2015 roku o poprawie cyberbezpieczeństwa (Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act) Państwa dane są chronione przed zagrożeniami z zakresu cyberbezpieczeństwa za pomocą weryfikacji systemów przesyłających te dane.

Na mocy prawa Biuro Spisu Ludności może wykorzystywać Państwa odpowiedzi wyłącznie do sporządzenia danych statystycznych. Możemy połączyć dane z ankiety z innymi danymi ewentualnie udzielonymi przez Państwa innym agencjom federalnym. Wszystkie inne informacje uzyskane i połączone z tą ankietą podlegają takiej samej ochronie jak dane z tej ankiety. Niektóre gospodarstwa domowe udzielające odpowiedzi na Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych mogą być poproszone o udział w innych badaniach Biura Spisu Ludności.

O que é a Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

A Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA é uma pesquisa realizada pelo U.S. Census Bureau (Censo dos EUA). Todos os anos, essa proporciona informações sobre as características sociais, econômicas e habitacionais dos Estados Unidos. No passado, essas informações só estavam disponíveis quando o Censo realizava um censo da população a cada 10 anos. A Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA fará perguntas sobre as características do seu domicílio, inclusive tópicos como educação, emprego e habitação.

Apenas uma pequena amostra de residências é aleatoriamente selecionada para participar da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA, representando assim outras residências na comunidade. Um questionário da pesquisa é enviado para uma residência da amostra para ser preenchido e devolvido. Quando os domicílios não devolvem um questionário, o Censo tenta contatar o mesmo para preencher a pesquisa por telefone ou pessoalmente.

Tenho que responder as perguntas da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

Sim, a lei dos Estados Unidos exige que você responda a esta pesquisa (Título 13, Código dos Estados Unidos, Seções 141, 193 e 221).

De que forma a minha participação irá ajudar a mim e à minha comunidade?

Bilhões de dólares do governo e das empresas são distribuídos pelos estados, comunidades e grupos populacionais em função das informações sociais, econômicas e habitacionais disponíveis para cada área.

As informações fornecidas ajudarão você e outros indivíduos, governos locais, organizações não governamentais e empresas a:

- distribuir recursos nas comunidades;
- melhorar a sua comunidade, determinando onde novas estradas, escolas e hospitais serão mais úteis na sua cidade;
- avaliar mudanças no bem-estar das crianças, famílias e cidadãos mais idosos para ajudar a planejar futuros programas;
- ajudar as comunidades a planejar ações para situações de emergência que possam afetar você e seus vizinhos, tais como: enchentes, incêndios e outros desastres naturais.

As informações são confidenciais?

Sim. A lei exige que o Censo mantenha suas informações confidenciais. Não temos permissão para divulgar suas respostas de modo a identificar o domicílio. De acordo com a lei Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act de 2015, seus dados estão protegidos de riscos cibernéticos pelo rastreamento dos sistemas que os transmitem.

As suas respostas só poderão ser utilizadas para fins estatísticos. Poderemos combinar os dados da sua pesquisa com os dados que você possa ter informado a outras agências federais. Quaisquer informações combinadas serão tratadas com a mesma proteção que as informações coletadas pela pesquisa. Alguns domicílios que responderem à Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA poderão ser solicitados a participar de outras pesquisas do Censo.

Что представляет собой анкетирование населения США по месту жительства?

Бюро переписи населения США проводит анкетирование населения США по месту жительства. Ежегодно по результатам этого исследования получают сведения о социальных, экономических и жилищных условиях в Соединенных Штатах. Ранее эту информацию можно было получить только раз в десять лет во время переписи населения. Анкетирование населения США по месту жительства включает в себя вопросы об образовании, занятости и условиях жизни, касающиеся Вас и проживающих с Вами лиц.

Для участия в Анкетировании населения США по месту жительства выбрано наугад лишь небольшое количество адресов, которые представляют и другие домохозяйства данного района. По данному адресу будет послана анкета, которую необходимо заполнить и отослать обратно. Если представители данного домохозяйства не вернут заполненную анкету, представитель Бюро переписи населения США постарается связаться с ними, чтобы завершить анкетирование по телефону или лично.

Да, закон требует, чтобы Вы ответили на эти вопросы (Часть 13, Кодекс Соединенных Штатов, разделы 141, 193 и 221).

Как мое участие поможет мне и моему району?

На основе информации о социальных, экономических и жилищных условиях в данной местности миллиарды долларов правительственных и частных средств распределяются между различными штатами, районами и группами населения.

Предоставленные Вами сведения помогут Вам и другим лицам, местным властям, неправительственным организациям и деловым предприятиям:

- Распределить средства между районами проживания жителей США.
- Улучшить условия жизни Вашего района путем принятия решений о том, где в Вашем населенном пункте необходимо построить новые шоссе, дороги, школы и больницы с тем, чтобы они принесли наибольшую пользу.
- Определить, насколько изменилось благосостояние детей, семей и пожилых граждан с тем, чтобы спланировать дальнейшие программы.
- Помочь местным властям и жителям в разработке планов действий на случай чрезвычайных ситуаций, таких как наводнения, пожары и другие стихийные бедствия, которые могут затронуть Вас или Ваших соседей.

Является ли предоставленная мною информация конфиденциальной?

Да. Закон обязывает Бюро переписи населения США сохранять конфиденциальность предоставленной Вами информации. Бюро переписи населения не имеет права разглашать какую-либо информацию, из которой можно получить сведения о Вашей семье. В соответствии с Федеральным законом об усилении кибербезопасности от 2015 года, Ваши данные защищены от рисков нарушения кибербезопасности посредством введения специальных мер защиты систем, используемых для передачи данных.

Согласно закону, предоставленные Вами сведения будут использованы исключительно в статистических целях. Данные, полученные в результате этого исследования, могут быть скомбинированы с данными, которые Вы, возможно, предоставили в другие государственные учреждения. Вся сводная информация охраняется так же, как и информация, полученная в результате данного исследования. Кроме того, к некоторым домохозяйствам, принявшим участие в анкетировании населения США по месту жительства, могут обратиться с просьбой об участии в других исследованиях, проводимых Бюро переписи населения.

美国社区问卷调查是美国人口普查局所进行的一项调查。这项调查每年提供有关美国社会、经济和住房特点的信息。过去，只有在美国人口普查局进行十年一次的人口普查时才能获得此类信息。美国社区问卷调查将提问您有关您住户特征的问题，包括例如教育、就业和住房的问题。

参加美国社区问卷调查的住户是以随机抽样的方式选出的。虽然数量很小，但是，这些住户代表了所在地区的其他住户。被抽样选中的住户会收到一份调查问卷，该问卷需在填写后寄回。如果某些住户没有寄回调查问卷，人口普查局会尝试以电话或上门方式与该住户联系，以填写调查问卷。

我必须回答美国社区问卷调查中的问题吗？

是的，根据法律规定，您必须回答本调查中的问题（《美国法典》第 13 篇第 141、193 和 221 节）。

我参加该项调查对我本人和我所在的社区有什么帮助？

各州、社区和人口群体所分配到的政府及商业资金，是根据所搜集到的该地区的社会、经济和住房信息决定的。

您所提供的信息将有助于您和其他个人、地方政府、非政府机构和企业：

- 帮助向社区分配资源。
- 通过确定在您所在城镇的哪些地方修建新的高速公路、新的学校和医院最合适，来改善您所在社区的状况。
- 衡量儿童、家庭和老年人的生活变化，帮助规划未来的计划。
- 帮助社区规划可能影响您或您所在社区的应急预案，例如水灾、火灾和其他自然灾害。

我提供的信息是否会得到保密？

是的。根据法律规定，美国人口普查局将对您的信息保密。人口普查局不得以可识别住户身份的方式公开发布您的回复。根据《2015年联邦网络安全增强法案》，我们将通过筛选传输数据的系统保护您的数据，使其免于网络安全风险。

根据法律规定，人口普查局仅可将您的回复用于编制统计数据。我们可能会把您在此项调查中所提供的信息与您可能已向其他联邦机构提供的信息进行合并。任何合并信息均将受到如您在此项调查中所提供的信息一样的保护。我们可能会要求某些参加此项调查的住户参加人口普查局的其他调查。

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ là gì?

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ là cuộc khảo sát do Văn Phòng Kiểm Tra Dân Số Hoa Kỳ thực hiện để cung cấp thông tin hàng năm về các đặc điểm xã hội, kinh tế, và gia cư của Hoa Kỳ. Trước đây, thông tin này chỉ có khi Văn Phòng Kiểm Tra Dân Số Hoa Kỳ tiến hành việc kiểm tra dân số mười năm một lần. Bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ sẽ hỏi về đặc tính của gia hộ quý vị gồm các đề tài chẳng hạn như học vấn, việc làm và gia cư.

Chỉ có một số nhỏ địa chỉ mẫu được chọn ngẫu nhiên để tham gia vào bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ và những địa chỉ này tiêu biểu cho các địa chỉ khác trong cộng đồng. Một bản câu hỏi khảo sát được gửi đến địa chỉ mẫu để điền vào và gửi trả lại. Khi các gia đình không gửi trả lại bản câu hỏi, Văn Phòng Kiểm Tra Dân Số sẽ cố gắng liên lạc với gia đình nhằm hoàn tất việc khảo sát qua điện thoại hay đến gặp tận mặt quý vị.

Có, trả lời câu hỏi trên bản khảo sát là đòi hỏi của luật pháp (Tựa Đề 13, Quy Luật Hoa Kỳ, Đoạn 141, 193, và 211).

Việc tham gia của tôi sẽ giúp tôi và cộng đồng như thế nào?

Hàng tỉ Mỹ kim của chánh phủ và doanh nghiệp được phân phát cho tiểu bang, cộng đồng, và nhóm dân số dựa theo thông tin về xã hội, kinh tế, và gia cư có trong khu vực đó.

Thông tin mà quý vị cung cấp sẽ giúp quý vị và những người khác, chánh quyền địa phương, các tổ chức phi chánh phủ, và các doanh nghiệp:

- Phân phối tài nguyên cho cộng đồng.
- Cải tiến cộng đồng bằng cách chọn nơi nào xây dựng xa lộ, trường học, và bệnh viện mới trong thành phố là tốt nhất.
- Đánh giá các thay đổi về sức khỏe của trẻ em, gia đình, và các lão niên nhằm giúp hoạch định các chương trình trong tương lai.
- Giúp cộng đồng hoạch định cho các trường hợp khẩn cấp có thể ảnh hưởng tới quý vị hay người láng giềng, như lũ lụt, hỏa hoạn, và các thiên tai khác.

Thông tin cung cấp có được giữ kín không?

Có. Cục Thống Kê Dân Số Hoa Kỳ được pháp luật yêu cầu bảo mật thông tin của quý vị. Chúng tôi không được phép công bố công khai các phản hồi của quý vị theo cách có thể nhận diện gia đình quý vị. Theo Đạo luật Tăng cường An ninh Mạng Liên bang năm 2015, dữ liệu của quý vị được bảo vệ khỏi các rủi ro an ninh mạng thông qua sàng lọc các hệ thống truyền đi dữ liệu của quý vị.

Theo luật, Cục Thống kê Dân số chỉ được sử dụng các phản hồi của quý vị để tạo ra các số liệu thống kê. Chúng tôi có thể kết hợp dữ liệu khảo sát của quý vị với dữ liệu mà trước đây quý vị có thể đã cung cấp cho cơ quan liên bang khác. Bất cứ thông tin phối hợp nào cũng được bảo vệ giống như là thông tin về khảo sát. Vài gia hộ tham gia vào cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ có thể được yêu cầu tham gia vào các cuộc kiểm tra dân số khác.

AMERICAN COMMUNITY SURVEY

census.gov/acs

The American Community Survey is a survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau in every county, American Indian and Alaska Native Area, and Hawaiian Home Land.

The American Community Survey provides critical economic, social, demographic, and housing information to this country's communities every year. Communities tell us the American Community Survey helps them make informed decisions and is a key to their future.

I have not heard of the American Community Survey. How long have you been conducting it?

The American Community Survey began in 1996 in a sample of counties across the country. Today the survey is conducted in all U.S. counties and in Puerto Rico, where it is called the Puerto Rico Community Survey.

How are the answers that I provide to the American Community Survey used?

The questions on the American Community Survey are required to collect data needed to manage or evaluate government programs. These questions are essentially the same questions that have been asked as part of the decennial census.

- Income information makes it possible to compare the economic levels of different areas. Many federal and state programs use such data to distribute funds for community development.
- Your answers to the questions on journey to work are used by the U.S. Department of Transportation to plan highway improvements, develop public transportation services, and design programs to ease traffic problems.
- Information about age is used in federal programs to target funds or services to children, working-age adults, or the elderly.

- Responses to questions about income and housing are summarized and used by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to assess the need for housing assistance for elderly, handicapped, and low-income homeowners.
- Information about race, Hispanic origin, and language spoken at home is used to determine bilingual election requirements under the Voting Rights Act and the monitoring of equal employment opportunities under the Civil Rights Act. Race and Hispanic origin (or ethnicity) are considered distinct concepts and, therefore, require separate questions.
- Information about military service is used primarily by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs to measure the needs of veterans and to evaluate veterans' programs dealing with education, employment, and health care.

How do I benefit by answering the American Community Survey?

Federal agencies, states, and communities say that they do not have the up-to-date information they need to better understand community issues, respond to needs, and allocate programs and resources. As one community leader said, "Guessing is always fun, but seldom effective."

By responding to the American Community Survey questionnaire, you are helping your community establish community goals, identify community problems and solutions, locate facilities and programs, and measure the performance of programs. The American Community Survey data are used by:

- Local governments for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects.
- Community programs, such as those for the elderly, scout programs, libraries, banks, hospitals, and other community organizations, to provide services to the community and to locate buildings, services, and programs.
- Transportation planners, using journey-to-work information, to plan for peak volumes of traffic in order to reduce traffic congestion, plan for parking, and develop strategies, such as carpooling programs and flexible work schedules. Decisions are made to build new roads or add capacity to existing roads, and to develop transit systems, such as light rail or subways, by projecting future needs.

Do I have to answer the questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes. Your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, and 221). The same law protects the confidentiality of the information that you provide.

Do I have to answer these questions every year?

No. Only a small sample of addresses is selected to participate in the American Community Survey. An address may only be selected for the sample once every 5 years. These addresses are selected at random and represent other addresses in the community. That is why it is so important that every sampled household respond.

Do I have to answer the survey if I am staying at this address temporarily?

Yes. If you are staying at the address for more than 2 months, you must complete the entire survey. If you are staying for 2 months or less, you must still complete a portion of the survey, according to the instructions. A Census Bureau representative can assist you. This information helps communities plan as the population changes at different times of the year.

Are my survey answers confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify this household. Per the Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data is protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to product statistics.

How can I see the results of the survey?

This information is published on the Census Bureau's American FactFinder® Web site at factfinder.census.gov

The data are provided in several formats for everyone from beginners (who may just want to look at the data) to experienced researchers.

American FactFinder® provides tables that:

- provide an overview of the data quickly,
- compare data for different places, and
- provide more extensive data for more detailed research.

I am elderly, disabled, or otherwise unable to complete the American Community Survey questionnaire. What do I do?

You may designate another person to help you, or a Census Bureau representative may call you or may come to your house and assist you in completing the survey. Respondents may call 1-800-354-7271 for assistance.

To produce the most accurate results, it is very important that every household selected for the survey participate.

Preguntas y respuestas

Census

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense es una encuesta que la Oficina del Censo realiza en cada condado, Área Indígena Norteamericana y Nativa de Alaska así como Territorio Autónomo Hawaiano.

La encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense provee importante información económica, social, de población y de vivienda a las comunidades de este país cada año. Las comunidades nos indican que la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense les ayuda a obtener la información necesaria para tomar decisiones fundamentadas y es clave para el futuro.

No había oído de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense. ¿Cuánto tiempo llevan realizándola?

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense comenzó en 1996 con una muestra de condados a través de todo el país. En la actualidad, la encuesta se realiza en todos los condados de Estados Unidos.

ENCUESTA SOBRE LA COMUNIDAD ESTADOUNIDENSE

¿Cómo se usarán mis respuestas proporcionadas a la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense?

Se requiere que las preguntas de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense obtengan los datos necesarios para administrar o evaluar programas del gobierno. Dichas preguntas son esencialmente las mismas que se han hecho como parte del censo decenal.

- La información sobre ingresos hace posible la comparación de los niveles económicos de las distintas regiones del país. Muchos programas federales y estatales usan esos datos para asignar fondos de desarrollo comunitario.
- El Departamento de Transporte de los Estados Unidos usa sus respuestas a las preguntas relacionadas con viajes al trabajo para planificar mejoras a las autopistas y carreteras, desarrollar servicios de transporte público y diseñar programas para aliviar los problemas de tráfico.
- La información relacionada con la edad se usa en programas federales para dirigir la asignación de fondos o servicios para niños, adultos de edad laboral o ancianos.
- Las respuestas a las preguntas sobre ingresos y vivienda son resumidas y utilizadas por el Departamento de la Vivienda y Desarrollo Urbano de Estados Unidos para evaluar las necesidades de asistencia relacionada con la vivienda para ancianos, personas discapacitadas y dueños de viviendas de bajos recursos.
- La información relacionada con la raza, el origen hispano y el idioma hablado en casa se utiliza para determinar los requisitos de papeletas de elección bilingües en conformidad con la Ley de Derecho al Voto, así como la supervisión de la igualdad de oportunidades de empleo en conformidad con la Ley de Derechos Civiles. La raza y el origen (o el grupo étnico) hispano se consideran conceptos distintos y, por lo tanto, requieren preguntas independientes.
- El Departamento de Asuntos de Veteranos utiliza principalmente la información relacionada con el servicio militar para medir las necesidades de los veteranos y evaluar los programas para veteranos relacionados con educación, empleo y atención médica.

¿Cómo me beneficio al responder a la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense?

Las agencias federales, los estados y las comunidades nos indican que no tienen la información actualizada que necesitan para comprender mejor los asuntos relacionados con la comunidad, responder a sus necesidades y asignar programas y recursos. Como expresó un líder de la comunidad, "Adivinar siempre es divertido, pero casi nunca eficaz".

Al responder al cuestionario de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense, usted ayudará a su comunidad a establecer sus metas, identificar sus problemas y soluciones, designar lugares para instalaciones y programas, así como a medir el desempeño de dichos programas.

Los datos obtenidos por la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense son utilizados por:

- Gobiernos locales para crear presupuestos, evaluar programas y planificar proyectos de desarrollo comunitario.
- Programas comunitarios, como los destinados a ancianos, programas de niños exploradores, bibliotecas, bancos, hospitales y otras organizaciones comunitarias para brindar servicios a ésta y designar lugares para la construcción de edificios, la prestación de servicios y programas.

- Planificadores de transporte que utilizan la información sobre viajes al trabajo para hacer planes relacionados con volúmenes de tráfico durante horas pico con el fin de reducir la congestión de tránsito, planificar espacios de estacionamiento y desarrollar estrategias, como programas de viajes compartidos y horarios de trabajo flexibles. Mediante el cálculo de necesidades futuras, se toman decisiones de construir carreteras nuevas o ampliar las ya existentes, y de desarrollar sistemas de tránsito en masa como trenes ligeros y subterráneos.

Así es. Si su domicilio resulta seleccionado, usted está obligado por ley a responder a esta encuesta (Título 13, Código de los Estados Unidos, Secciones 141, 193 y 221). La misma ley protege el carácter confidencial de la información que usted proporcione.

ENCUESTA SOBRE LA COMUNIDAD ESTADOUNIDENSE

No. Se selecciona únicamente una pequeña muestra de direcciones para participar en la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense. Es posible que una dirección de domicilio se seleccione para la muestra una vez cada 5 años. Las direcciones de domicilio se seleccionan de manera al azar y representan a otras dentro de la comunidad. Por eso es tan importante que responda cada hogar de la muestra.

Así es. Si vivirá en este domicilio por más de 2 meses tiene que completar la encuesta completa. Si vivirá allí por 2 meses o menos, aún tendrá que completar una porción de la encuesta según las instrucciones. Un representante de la Oficina del Censo podrá ayudarle. Esta información ayuda a las comunidades a planificar, a medida que la población cambia durante distintas épocas del año.

Así es. La Oficina del Censo está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial su información. A nosotros no se nos permite divulgar sus respuestas de manera que este hogar pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, sus datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten su información. Por ley, la Oficina del Censo puede usar sus respuestas solo para producir estadísticas.

¿Cómo puedo ver los resultados de la encuesta?

La información se publica en el sitio de Internet American FactFinder® (un buscador de datos sobre los Estados Unidos) de la Oficina del Censo en factfinder.census.gov

Los datos se proveen en varios formatos, desde información para principiantes (es decir, personas que sólo desean ver la información) hasta para investigadores experimentados.

American FactFinder® provee tablas que:

- muestran una reseña general y rápida de los datos,
- comparan los datos de distintos lugares, y
- proveen información más a fondo para realizar investigaciones más detalladas.

No. La Oficina del Censo protege el carácter privado de su información. La policía no puede verla; y ningún tribunal de ley tampoco. Nadie puede ver ni usar sus respuestas específicas para hacer cumplir ningún tipo de ley.

Si algún empleado de la Oficina del Censo violara estas disposiciones, quedaría sujeto a rigurosas sanciones penales impuestas por el Congreso – hasta 5 años de encarcelamiento y/o una multa de hasta $250,000 (Título 13 del Código de los Estados Unidos, Sección 214, según enmendada por el Título 18 del Código de Estados Unidos, Secciones 3559 y 3571).

Si soy una persona anciana, discapacitada o, por algún motivo, no puedo completar la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense, ¿qué hago?

Puede designar a una persona para que le ayude, o es posible que un representante de la Oficina del Censo lo llame o vaya a su casa para ayudarlo a completar la encuesta. Los respondedores pueden llamar al 1-877-833-5625 para obtener ayuda. Para lograr resultados más precisos, es muy importante que cada hogar seleccionado para la encuesta participe en ella.

استبيان المجتمعات
المحلية في الولايات
المتحدة الأمريكية

United States®
Census
Bureau

لم أسمع من قبل عن استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية. فمنذ متى وأنتم تقومون بها؟

بدأ استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية عام ١٩٩٦ في عينة من المقاطعات في كل أنحاء الدولة. واليوم يتم الاستبيان في كل المقاطعات الأمريكية وفي بورتوريكو، حيث يطلق عليه استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في بورتوريكو.

ما هو استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية؟

استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية هو استبيان يجريه مكتب الإحصاء الأمريكي في كل مقاطعة ومناطق الأمريكيين من أصل هندي أحمر أو من سكان الإسكا الأصليين وسكان هاواي الأصليين.

يقدم استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية معلومات هامة اقتصادية، اجتماعية، سكانية وإسكانية إلى المجتمعات السكانية الأمريكية كل عام. فالمجتمعات تخبرنا أن استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية يساعدهم في اتخاذ القرارات المدروسة وهو دليل على المستقبل بالنسبة لهم.

■ إجابات الأسئلة المتعلقة بالدخل والإسكان يتم تلخيصها واستخدامها في وزارة الإسكان والتنمية العمرانية الأمريكية لتقييم الحاجة للمساعدة السكنية بالنسبة لكبار السن والمعاقين ومالكي المساكن ذوي الدخل المحدود.

■ المعلومات المتعلقة بالعرق والأصول اللاتينية واللغة المتحدث بها في المنزل، تُستخدم لتحديد المتطلبات ثنائية اللغة في الانتخابات بموجب قانون حقوق التصويت ومراقبة تكافؤ فرص التوظيف بموجب قانون الحقوق المدنية. العرق أو الأصول الهسبانية (أو الجذور العرقية) تعد مفاهيم متميزة، ولذا فإنها تتطلب أسئلة منفصلة.

■ المعلومات المتعلقة بالخدمة العسكرية تستخدمها الإدارة الأمريكية أساسًا لشؤون المحاربين القدامى لقياس احتياجات المحاربين ولتقييم برامجهم المعنية بالتعليم والتوظيف والرعاية الصحية.

كيف سيتم استخدام الإجابات التي أقدمها إلى استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية؟

الأسئلة الواردة في استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية أساسية لجمع البيانات المطلوبة لإدارة البرامج الحكومية أو تقييمها. وتلك الأسئلة هي بالطبع نفس الأسئلة التي طرحت كجزء من الإحصاء الذي يجري كل عشر سنوات.

■ معلومات الدخل تتيح مقارنة المستويات الاقتصادية للمناطق المختلفة. كما أن العديد من البرامج الفيدرالية وبرامج الولايات تستخدم تلك البيانات لتوزيع الموارد المالية لتنمية المجتمع.

■ إجاباتك على الأسئلة المتعلقة بالتوجه إلى العمل تستخدمها وزارة النقل الأمريكية للتخطيط لتحسين الطرق السريعة وتطوير خدمات النقل العام وتصميم البرامج الكفيلة بالتخفيف من المشاكل المرورية.

■ المعلومات المتعلقة بالعمر تُستخدم في البرامج الفيدرالية لتوجيه الموارد المالية أو الخدمات إلى الأطفال أو البالغين في سن العمل أو كبار السن.

Questions et réponses

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines

United States[®]
Census
Bureau

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines, qu'est-ce que c'est ?

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines est menée par le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis dans chaque comté, dans les territoires des Indiens Américains et de l'Alaska et sur le territoire d'Hawaï.

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines fournit tous les ans aux différentes communautés des États-Unis des informations d'une importance cruciale en matière d'économie, de société, de démographie et de logement. Ces dernières nous ont confié que cette enquête les aide à prendre des décisions basées sur des informations récentes et qu'elle joue un rôle clé dans leur avenir.

Je n'ai pas entendu parler de l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines. Depuis combien de temps cette enquête a-t-elle lieu ?

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines a été menée pour la première fois en 1996, dans un échantillonnage de comtés des États-Unis. À l'heure actuelle, cette enquête est menée dans tous les comtés des États-Unis, ainsi qu'à Porto Rico où elle porte le nom d'Enquête sur la population des communautés portoricaines.

Comment mes réponses aux questions posées dans le cadre de l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines sont-elles utilisées ?

Les questions posées dans le cadre de cette enquête ont pour but de rassembler les informations nécessaires à la gestion ou à l'évaluation des programmes gouvernementaux. Ces questions sont essentiellement les mêmes que celles qui ont été posées dans le cadre du recensement décennal.

- Les informations au sujet du revenu permettent de comparer le niveau économique de différentes régions. De nombreux programmes fédéraux et des états se servent de ces informations pour répartir les fonds destinés au développement des communautés.
- Vos réponses aux questions concernant le trajet vers le lieu de travail sont utilisées par le Ministère des transports des États-Unis pour planifier les améliorations du réseau des autoroutes, développer les transports publics et concevoir des programmes afin de faciliter la circulation routière.
- Les informations sur l'âge sont utilisées dans le cadre des programmes fédéraux pour cibler les fonds ou les services destinés aux enfants, aux adultes en âge de travailler ou aux personnes âgées.

- Les réponses aux questions concernant le revenu et le logement sont présentées en bref et utilisées par le Secrétariat au logement et au développement urbain des États-Unis afin d'évaluer les besoins en matière d'aide au logement pour les personnes âgées, les handicapés et les propriétaires à faible revenu.
- Les informations relatives à la race, l'origine hispanique et la langue parlée domicile sont utilisées afin de déterminer les exigences du bilinguisme pour les élections dans le cadre du Voting Rights Act (Loi sur le droit de vote) et la surveillance de la non-discrimination en matière d'emploi dans le cadre du Civil Rights Act (Loi sur les droits civiques). La race et l'origine (ou ethnicité) hispanique sont considérées comme étant des concepts différents et font donc l'objet de questions distinctes.
- Les informations sur le service militaire sont utilisées principalement par le Ministère des anciens combattants des États-Unis pour estimer les besoins des anciens combattants et évaluer les programmes les concernant en matière d'éducation, d'emploi et de santé.

Quels bénéfices puis-je tirer de ma participation à l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines ?

Les agences gouvernementales fédérales, les états et les communautés des États-Unis se plaignent de ne pas disposer des informations les plus récentes leur étant nécessaires pour mieux comprendre les problèmes liés aux communautés, répondre aux besoins et répartir les programmes et les ressources. Comme l'a déclaré un des responsables d'une communauté : « C'est toujours amusant de jouer aux devinettes, mais ce n'est pas une manière vraiment efficace de trouver une réponse. »

Vos réponses aux questions de l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines aideront votre communauté à établir ses objectifs, à identifier ses problèmes et à leur trouver des solutions, à établir des institutions et des programmes, et à évaluer les performances des programmes.

Les informations recueillies par l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines sont utilisées par :

- Les agences gouvernementales régionales pour affecter les ressources, évaluer les programmes et planifier les projets de développement des communautés.
- Les programmes de communauté, comme ceux concernant les personnes âgées, le scoutisme, les bibliothèques, les banques, les hôpitaux et autres agences des communautés, pour offrir des services à la communauté et mettre en place des bâtiments, des services et des programmes.
- Les planificateurs des transports, utilisant les informations concernant le trajet vers le lieu de travail pour prévoir les heures de pointe et prendre les mesures nécessaires afin de réduire les embouteillages, planifier les places de stationnement et mettre au point des stratégies, comme des programmes de covoiturage et des horaires de travail flexibles. Les décisions concernant la construction de nouvelles voies routières, l'accroissement de la capacité des infrastructures existantes, la mise en place de systèmes de transports en commun, comme des tramways ou des métros, sont prises sur la base de projections des besoins futurs.

Dois-je obligatoirement répondre aux questions de l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines ?

Oui. La loi exige que vous répondiez aux questions de cette enquête (Livre 13, Code des États-Unis, Sections 141, 193 et 221). La même loi protège la confidentialité des informations que vous fournissez.

Dois-je obligatoirement répondre à ces questions chaque année ?

Non. Seul un petit échantillon d'adresses est sélectionné auquel sera envoyée l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines. Une adresse ne peut être sélectionnée pour cet échantillon qu'une fois tous les 5 ans. Ces adresses sont sélectionnées au hasard et représentent d'autres adresses de la communauté. C'est pourquoi il est si important que chaque foyer sélectionné réponde aux questions de l'enquête.

Dois-je obligatoirement répondre aux questions de l'enquête si je n'habite que temporairement à l'adresse sélectionnée ?

Oui. Si vous habitez à l'adresse sélectionnée pendant plus de 2 mois, vous devez répondre à toutes les questions de l'enquête. Si vous y habitez pendant un maximum de 2 mois, vous devez quand même répondre à certaines questions de l'enquête, comme indiqué dans les instructions. Un représentant du Bureau de recensement peut vous aider. Ces informations aident les communautés, à différents moments de l'année, à planifier leurs besoins au fur et à mesure de l'évolution de la population.

Mes réponses aux questions de l'enquête sont-elles confidentielles ?

Oui. Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis a l'obligation légale de préserver la confidentialité de vos informations. Nous ne sommes pas autorisés à divulguer publiquement toute information qui permettrait d'identifier votre foyer. En vertu du Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act de 2015 (loi fédérale américaine visant à améliorer la cybersécurité), vos données sont protégées contre les risques liés à la cybersécurité grâce au filtrage des systèmes qui transmettent vos données.

Comment puis-je consulter les résultats de l'enquête ?

Ces informations sont publiées sur le site Web American FactFinder® du Bureau de recensement des États-Unis : factfinder.census.gov

Les données sont présentées sous différents formats pour satisfaire les novices (qui ne veulent que consulter les informations) tout comme les chercheurs chevronnés.

American FactFinder® présente des tableaux qui :

- donnent un aperçu rapide des données,
- comparent les données de différents emplacements et
- proposent des données plus détaillées pour une recherche plus poussée.

Je suis âgé(e), handicapé(e) ou dans l'incapacité pour une autre raison quelconque de répondre aux questions de l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines. Que dois-je faire ?

Vous pouvez désigner une autre personne qui pourra vous aider, ou bien un représentant du Bureau de recensement des États-Unis pourra vous téléphoner ou se rendre à votre domicile pour vous aider à remplir le questionnaire. Les répondants peuvent demander de l'aide en appelant le 1-800-354-7271.

Pour optimiser les résultats de l'enquête, il est très important que chaque foyer sélectionné participe à l'enquête.

나는 미국 지역사회 조사에 대해
들어본 적이 없습니다. 이 조사를
얼마나 오랫동안 실시해 왔습니까?

미국 지역사회 조사는 1996년에 전

에서 실시되며, 푸에르토리코의 경

내가 미국 지역사회 조사에 제공하는 답은 어떻게 사용되니까?

미국 지역사회 조사의 질문들은 정부프로그램을 관리하거나 평가하는 데 필요한 자료를 수집하는 데 필요합니다. 이 질문들은 기본적으로 10년에 한번씩 실시되는 인구 조사(센서스)의 일부 질문들과 동일합니다.

- 소득 정보는 각 지역의 경제 수준을 비교할 수 있게 합니다. 이 자료는 많은 연방 및 주 프로그램에서 지역사회 개발기금을 분배하는 데 사용됩니다.
- 통근에 관한 질문에 대한 응답은 미 교통부에서 고속도로 개선을 계획하고, 대중 교통 서비스를 개발하며, 교통 문제 완화에 필요한 프로그램을 만드는 데 사용됩니다.
- 연령에 관한 정보는 어린이, 경제활동 인구 또는 노인에게 제공하는 기금이나 서비스를 목적으로 하는 연방 프로그램에 사용됩니다.

- 소득 및 주택에 관한 질문에 대한 응답은 요약되어 미국 주택 도시 개발부에서 노인, 장애인 및 저소득 주택 소유자들을 위한 주택 지원의 필요성을 평가하는 데 사용됩니다.
- 인종, 중남미 출신, 가정에서 사용하는 언어 등에 대한 정보는 민권법에 보장된 고용평등을 감독하고, 투표권법에 따른 이중 언어 요건을 결정하기 위해 사용됩니다. 인종과 중남미 출신(또는 민족)은 별개의 개념으로 간주되므로 별도의 질문이 필요합니다.
- 군복무에 관한 정보는 미국 재향군인 원호부에서 재향군인들이 필요한 것이 무엇인지를 파악하고, 이들을 위한 교육, 취업 및 건강 관리 프로그램을 평가하는 데 주로 사용됩니다.

미국 지역사회 조사에 응답함으로써 어떻게 혜택을 받습니까?

미국 지역사회 조사 설문지에 응답하는 것은, 여러분의 지역사회가 지역사회 목표를 수립하고, 지역사회 문제와 해결책을 파악하며, 시설과 프로그램의 장소를 찾고, 프로그램의 성과를 측정하도록 돕는 것입니다.

미국 지역사회 조사 자료는 다음 기관에 의해 사용됩니다.

- 지방 정부가 예산 책정, 프로그램 평가 및 지역사회 개발 사업계획 수립을 위해.

- 지역사회 프로그램, 예를 들면, 노인, 보이/걸 스카우트 프로그램, 도서관, 은행, 병원 및 기타 지역사회 단체들이 지역사회에 서비스를 제공하고 건물, 서비스 및 프로그램 실시 장소를 찾기 위해.
- 교통 계획 수립자들이 통근 정보를 사용하여, 출퇴근 시간의 정체를 줄이기 위한 최대허용 교통량을 계획하고, 주차 계획을 세우며, 승용차 함께 타기 (카풀)나 탄력근무제와 같은 전략을 개발하기 위해. 미래의 도로교통량을 미리 예상해 봄으로써 도로를 신설하거나 기존 도로의 수용량을 늘리고 전철 또는 지하철과 같은 교통 시설을 개발하기 위한 결정을 내립니다.

미국 지역사회 조사에 있는 질문에 대해 답을 해야 합니까?

그렇습니다. 귀하의 조사 참여는 미국법에 따라 의무적인 것입니다 (미 연방법 Title 13, Section 141, 193, 221).

나의 설문조사 응답은 비밀이 보장되니까?

이 주소에 임시로 거주하는 경우에도 조사에 응해야 합니까?

그렇습니다. 2개월 넘게 해당 주소에 거주해 왔다면, 전체 설문지를 작성해야 합니다. 거주 기간이 2개월 혹은 그보다 짧은 경우에도, 지시 사항에 따라 설문지의 일부를 작성해야 합니다. 인구조사국 직원이 작성을 도와드릴 수 있습니다. 인구가 연중 변화하므로 이 정보는 지역사회가 계획을 세우는 데 도움이 됩니다.

이러한 질문에 매년 답해야 합니까?

Pytania i odpowiedzi

Środowiskowe
Badania
Społeczne w
Stanach
Zjednoczonych

United States®
Census
Bureau

Co to są Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych jest to ankieta przeprowadzana przez Biuro Spisu Ludności Stanów Zjednoczonych (USCB) we wszystkich powiatach, terytoriach Indian, na Alasce oraz na Hawajach.

Dostarcza ona co roku ważnych informacji na temat warunków społecznych, ekonomicznych i mieszkaniowych w poszczególnych miejscowościach. Dowiadujemy się od ludności, że Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych pomagają w podejmowaniu świadomych decyzji i stanowi klucz do przyszłości.

Nie słyszałem o Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych. Od jak dawna ta ankieta jest przeprowadzana?

Środowiskowe Badania Społeczne w Stanach Zjednoczonych przeprowadzono po raz pierwszy w roku 1996 na próbie powiatów w całym kraju. Obecnie ankieta prowadzona jest we wszystkich powiatach USA oraz na Portoryko, gdzie nazywa się Badaniem Społecznym w Portoryko.

W jaki sposób wykorzystywane są odpowiedzi, których udzielię w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Pytania w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych mają na celu zebranie danych potrzebnych do zarządzania programami rządowymi i do ich oceny. Są to zasadniczo te same pytania, które zadawane są w ramach powszechnego spisu ludności co 10 lat.

- Informacje o dochodach umożliwiają porównywanie poziomów ekonomicznych na różnych obszarach. Wiele programów federalnych i stanowych również wykorzystuje te dane do dystrybucji funduszy przeznaczonych na rozwój miejscowości.
- Odpowiedzi na pytania dotyczące dojazdów do pracy są wykorzystywane przez Departament Transportu Stanów Zjednoczonych do planowania ulepszeń sieci dróg, opracowywania usług transportu publicznego i opracowywania programów usprawniania ruchu drogowego.

- Informacje na temat wieku służą do dystrybucji funduszy i usług w ramach programów federalnych dla dzieci i dla osób starszych.
- Odpowiedzi na pytania dotyczące dochodów i warunków mieszkaniowych są gromadzone i wykorzystywane przez Departament Mieszkalnictwa i Rozwoju, aby ocenić potrzeby zapewnienia pomocy mieszkaniowej dla osób starszych, niepełnosprawnych i właścicieli domów, którzy mają niskie dochody.
- Informacje na temat rasy, pochodzenia latynoskiego i języka, którego używa się w domu służą do określenia wymogów w zakresie dwujęzycznych dokumentów wyborczych na podstawie ustawy o prawie do głosowania oraz do kontrolowania równouprawnienia pracowników na podstawie ustawy o prawach obywatelskich. Rasa i pochodzenie latynoskie są traktowane jako różne pojęcia i dlatego wymagają odrębnych pytań.

- Informacje o śłużbie wojskowej są wykorzystywane głównie przez Amerykański Departament ds. Kombatantów w celu określenia potrzeb kombatantów i oceny przeznaczonych dla nich programów oświatowych, zatrudnienia i opieki zdrowotnej.

Jaką będę miał korzyść z udzielenia odpowiedzi na pytania w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Agencje federalne, stanowe i lokalne stwierdzają, że nie mają aktualnych informacji potrzebnych do lepszego zrozumienia potrzeb ludności, reagowania na te potrzeby i rozdziału środków na poszczególne programy. Jak stwierdził pewien działacz społeczny: „Zgadywanie jest zawsze ciekawe, ale rzadko bywa skuteczne”.

Odpowiadając na kwestionariusz Środowiskowych Badań Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych pomagają Państwo swojej społeczności w ustalaniu celów, określaniu problemów i ich rozwiązaniu, rozmieszczaniu udogodnień i programów oraz mierzeniu skuteczności programów.

Dane uzyskane w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych są wykorzystywane przez:

- władze lokalne: w celu układania budżetów, oceny programów i planowania rozwoju społecznego.
- Programy społeczne przeznaczone dla osób starszych, harcerzy, bibliotek, banków, szpitali i innych organizacji społecznych, aby świadczyć usługi i lokalizować budynki, usługi i programy.
- Institucje planujące sieć transportu na podstawie danych o dojazdach do pracy opracowują ulepszenie rozwiązań w czasie nasilonego ruchu drogowego, planują parkingi i opracowują programy takie, jak podwożenie do pracy, czy ruchome godziny pracy. Podejmowane są decyzje o budowie nowych lub zwiększeniu przepustowości istniejących dróg oraz o rozwoju systemów komunikacji zbiorowej, takich jak tramwaje czy koleje podziemne, z uwzględnieniem przyszłych potrzeb.

Czy muszę odpowiadać na pytania Środowiskowych Badań Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Tak. Udzielenie odpowiedzi na pytania ankiety jest wymagane przez prawo (Kodeks Stanów Zjednoczonych, tytuł 1, art. 141, 193 i 221). Ta sama ustawa chroni poufność udzielanych informacji.

Czy muszę odpowiadać na te pytania co roku?

Nie. Do udziału w Środowiskowych Badaniach Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych wybierana jest tylko mała próbka adresów. Dany adres może zostać wybrany nie częściej niż raz na 5 lat. Adresy są wybierane losowo i reprezentują inne adresy w danej miejscowości. Dlatego jest tak ważne, aby każde domostwo wybrane drogą losową udzieliło odpowiedzi.

Czy muszę wziąć udział w badaniu, jeżeli przebywam pod danym adresem tymczasowo?

Tak. Jeżeli przebywają Państwo pod danym adresem dłużej niż 2 miesiące, musicie wypełnić całą ankietę. Osoby mieszkające w danym lokalu do 2 miesięcy, muszą wypełnić część ankiety zgodnie z instrukcjami. Przedstawiciel Biura Spisu Ludności może udzielić pomocy. Te informacje pomagają miejscowościom w planowaniu z uwzględnieniem zmian zaludnienia w różnych porach roku.

Czy moje odpowiedzi na ankietę są poufne?

Tak. Biuro Spisu Ludności Stanów Zjednoczonych jest zobligowane przepisami prawa do zachowania poufności Państwa danych. Nie możemy publicznie udostępniać Państwa odpowiedzi w żaden sposób, który pozwoliłby na zidentyfikowanie Państwa gospodarstwa domowego. Na mocy ustawy federalnej z 2015 roku o poprawie cyberbezpieczeństwa (Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act) Państwa dane są chronione przed zagrożeniami z zakresu cyberbezpieczeństwa za pomocą weryfikacji systemów przysyłających te dane. Na mocy prawa Biuro Spisu Ludności może wykorzystywać Państwa odpowiedzi wyłącznie do sporządzenia danych statystycznych.

Jak mogę się zapoznać z wynikami badania?

Te informacje są publikowane w witrynie internetowej Biura Spisu Ludności, na stronie American FactFinder®: factfinder.census.gov.

Dane są przedstawiane w kilku formatach przeznaczonych dla różnych osób, począwszy od tych, którzy chcą tylko poznać wyniki, do doświadczonych badaczy.

American FactFinder® przedstawia tabele, które:

- pozwalają szybko przejrzeć dane zbiorcze
- porównać dane z różnych miejscowości
- wykorzystać rozszerzone dane do bardziej szczegółowych badań.

Co powinienem zrobić jako osoba w podeszłym wieku, niepełnosprawna lub jeżeli z innego powodu nie jestem w stanie wypełnić kwestionariusza Środowiskowych Badań Społecznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych?

Można wskazać inną osobę, która pomoże wypełnić ankietę lub też przedstawiciel Biura Spisu Ludności może zadzwonić albo przyjść do domu i udzielić pomocy w wypełnieniu ankiety. Aby uzyskać pomoc, należy zadzwonić pod numer 1-800-354-7271.

Aby uzyskać jak najbardziej rzetelne wyniki, bardzo ważne jest, aby każde gospodarstwo domowe wybrane do udziału w badaniu, w niej uczestniczyło.

Pesquisa às

PESQUISA ÀS COMUNIDADES NOS EUA

census.gov/acs

O que é a Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

A Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA é uma pesquisa realizado pelo Censo dos EUA em todos os municípios, áreas indígenas americanas e nativas do Alasca e Havai.

A Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA proporciona a todas as comunidades deste país dados econômicos, sociais, demográficos e habitacionais importantes. As comunidades nos informam que a Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA ajuda a tomar decisões conscientes, sendo fundamental para o futuro.

Nunca ouvi falar da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA. Há quanto tempo a realizam?

A Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA começou em 1996, com uma amostra dos municípios de todo o país. Hoje em dia, a pesquisa é realizada em todos os municípios dos Estados Unidos e em Porto Rico, onde se chama Pesquisa à Comunidade porto-riquenha.

De que forma são usadas as respostas à Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

As perguntas da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA são necessárias para colher dados, para administrar ou avaliar programas do governo. Estas perguntas são essencialmente as mesmas que têm sido feitas nos censos a cada dez anos.

- Os dados sobre a renda permitem comparar os níveis econômico de diferentes áreas. Muitos programas federais e estaduais utilizam esses dados para distribuir fundos para o desenvolvimento da comunidade.
- As suas respostas às perguntas sobre deslocamento para o trabalho são usadas pelo Departamento dos Transportes dos Estados Unidos para planejar melhorias nas auto-estradas, desenvolver serviços de transporte público e conceber programas para sanar os problemas do trânsito.
- Os dados sobre a idade são usados em programas federais para direcionar fundos ou serviços para crianças, adultos ativos ou idosos.
- As respostas às perguntas sobre renda e habitação são resumidas e usadas pelo Departamento de Habitação e Planeamento Urbano dos Estados Unidos para avaliar a necessidade de assistência domiciliar aos idosos, pessoas com deficiência e proprietários com baixa renda.
- Informações sobre raça, origem hispânica e língua falada em casa são usadas para determinar a necessidade de disponibilizar material bilingue para as eleições, ao abrigo da lei relativa aos direitos de voto (Voting Rights Act), bem como para controlar a igualdade de oportunidades de emprego, de acordo com a lei relativa aos direitos civis (Civil Rights Act). Raça e origem hispânica (ou etnicidade) são considerados conceitos distintos, que requerem perguntas diferentes.
- As informações sobre o serviço militar são basicamente usadas pelo Departamento de Veteranos de Guerra dos Estados Unidos para avaliar as necessidades dos veteranos e os programas para veteranos relativos à educação, emprego e saúde.

De que forma me benefico ao responder à Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

As agências federais, os estados e as comunidades dizem que não dispõem de informações atualizadas das quais precisam para melhor compreender os problemas das comunidades, responder às necessidades e criar programas e designar recursos. Como disse, uma vez, um líder comunitário: “Adivinhar é sempre divertido, mas raras vezes é eficaz.”

Ao responder à Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA, você estará ajudando a sua comunidade a estabelecer objetivos comunitários, a identificar problemas e soluções comunitárias, a determinar instalações e programas e a avaliar o desempenho dos programas.

Os dados da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA são usados por:

- Governos locais para estabelecer orçamentos, avaliar programas e planejar projetos de desenvolvimento comunitário.

- Programas comunitários, como programas para idosos, programas de escoteiros, bibliotecas, bancos, hospitais e outras organizações comunitárias, a fim de prestar serviços à comunidade e a localizar edifícios, serviços e programas.
- Planejadores de transportes, que utilizam os dados dos deslocamentos diários das pessoas que estão saindo do trabalho ou indo para o trabalho para planejar as horas de trânsito intenso a fim de reduzir congestionamentos, planejar o estacionamento e desenvolver estratégias, como programas de carona solidária e horários de trabalho flexíveis. São tomadas decisões no sentido de construir novas estradas ou de aumentar a capacidade das estradas existentes e de desenvolver sistemas de transporte, como veículos leves sobre trilhos e metrô, prevendo futuras necessidades.

PESQUISA ÀS COMUNIDADES NOS EUA

Tenho que responder às perguntas da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA?

Sim. A lei dos Estados Unidos exige que responda a esta pesquisa (Título 1, Código dos Estados Unidos, Seções 141, 193 e 221).

As minhas respostas à pesquisa são confidenciais?

Sim. A lei exige que o Censo dos EUA mantenha suas informações confidenciais. Não temos permissão para divulgar suas respostas de modo a identificar o domicílio. De acordo com a lei Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act de 2015, seus dados estão protegidos de riscos cibernéticos através do rastreamento dos sistemas que os transmitem. Por lei, o Censo só pode usar suas respostas para produzir estatísticas.

Tenho que responder à pesquisa se estiver morando nesta residência temporariamente?

Sim. Se estiver morando na residência atual por mais de 2 meses, você terá que responder à pesquisa por inteiro. Se estiver residindo durante 2 meses ou menos, tem de responder a uma parte da pesquisa, de acordo com as instruções. Um representante do Censo pode ajudá-lo. Estas informações ajudam as comunidades no seu planejamento, já que ocorrem alterações na população em diferentes períodos do ano.

Tenho que responder a estas perguntas todos os anos?

Não. Apenas uma pequena amostra de residências é selecionada para participar da Pesquisa às Comunidades nos EUA. Uma residência só pode ser selecionada para a amostra uma vez a cada 5 anos. Estas residências são selecionadas aleatoriamente e representam outras residências na comunidade. É por isso que é tão importante que todos os domicílios selecionados respondam.

Вопросы и ответы

Анкетирование
населения
США по месту
жительства

United States[®]
Census
Bureau

Что такое Анкетирование населения США по месту жительства?

Бюро переписи населения проводит анкетирование населения США по месту жительства в каждом округе страны, а также в местах проживания американских индейцев, коренных жителей Аляски и Гавайских островов.

Анкетирование населения США по месту жительства ежегодно предоставляет важную информацию о населении нашей страны в экономической, социальной и демографической сфере и в области жилья. Местные организации и общественность сообщают нам, что анкетирование населения США по месту жительства помогает принимать правильные решения на местном уровне и является важным условием для будущего развития регионов.

Я не слышал о проведении Анкетирования населения США по месту жительства. Как долго оно уже проводится?

Анкетирование населения США по месту жительства началось в 1996 году в ряде округов, расположенных в разных районах страны. Сегодня такое анкетирование проводится во всех округах Соединенных Штатов.

Как используются ответы на вопросы, которые я предоставил в ходе анкетирования населения США по месту жительства?

Вопросы, включенные в анкетирование населения США по месту жительства, нужны для сбора данных, необходимых для проведения правительственных программ или их оценки. Эти вопросы представляют собой практически те же самые вопросы, которые задаются в ходе переписи населения.

- Информация о доходе дает возможность сравнить экономические уровни различных районов. Многие федеральные программы и программы штатов используют эти данные для распределения средств, предназначенных для экономического развития на местах.
- Ваши ответы на вопросы, посвященные дороге на работу, используются Министерством транспорта для планирования улучшения скоростных шоссе, развития услуг общественного транспорта и создания программ, направленных на решение транспортных проблем.
- Информация о возрасте используется в федеральных программах для распределения финансовых средств или услуг, предназначенных для детей, взрослого работоспособного населения или для лиц пожилого возраста.

- Ответы на вопросы о доходах и жилье суммируются и используются Министерством жилищного строительства и городского развития США для оценки потребностей в области помощи с жильем, предоставляемой престарелым, инвалидам и домовладельцам с низкими доходами.
- Информация о расе, латиноамериканском происхождении и языке, на котором общаются дома, используется для выработки правил, требующих употребления двух языков при проведении выборов согласно Закону о праве на участие в голосовании и для наблюдения за обеспечением равноправия при приеме на работу согласно Закону о гражданских правах. Раса и латиноамериканское (или этническое) происхождение считаются различными понятиями и поэтому требуют отдельных вопросов.
- Информация о военной службе используется в основном Министерством США по делам ветеранов для определения потребностей этой категории населения страны, а также для оценки программ, связанных с образованием, трудоустройством и медицинским обслуживанием ветеранов.

Что дают мне ответы на вопросы, содержащиеся в Анкетировании населения США по месту жительства?

Федеральные ведомства, штаты и местные органы власти говорят, что не имеют актуальной информации, необходимой им для лучшего понимания местных проблем, удовлетворения существующих на местах потребностей, осуществления программ и выделения ресурсов. Как сказал один из местных руководителей, «угадывание всегда интересно, но редко бывает эффективно».

Отвечая на вопросы, содержащиеся в анкете, Вы содействуете постановке нужных задач на местах, выявлению местных проблем и их решению, помогаете в определении учреждений и программ, а также в деле оценки эффективности этих программ.

Данные, полученные в ходе анкетирования населения США по месту жительства, используются:

- Местными органами управления для составления бюджетов, оценки программ, а также планирования проектов по развитию на местах.
- Местными программами, такими, как программы для пожилых американцев и молодежи, а также библиотеками, банками, больницами и другими местными организациями для предоставления услуг местному населению и нахождения необходимых зданий, услуг и программ.
- Теми, кто занимается транспортным планированием. Используя информацию о дороге на работу, они составляют планы пиковых транспортных нагрузок для уменьшения автомобильных пробок, планы парковок автотранспорта и разрабатывают стратегию, включающую программы совместных поездок на работу и гибкие рабочие графики. Принимаются решения о строительстве новых дорог или расширении уже существующих, а также о создании транспортных систем, таких как рельсовые транспортные средства или метро, методом прогнозирования интенсивности будущих транспортных потоков.

Обязан ли я отвечать на вопросы, содержащиеся в анкете, заполняемой по месту жительства?

Да. Согласно закону Вы обязаны ответить на вопросы, содержащиеся в этой анкете (часть 13 Кодекса законов США, разделы 141, 193 и 221). Тот же самый закон обеспечивает конфиденциальность предоставляемой Вами информации.

Должен ли я отвечать на эти вопросы каждый год?

Нет. Только небольшое количество адресов отбирается для участия в анкетировании населения США по месту жительства. Один и тот же адрес может быть отобран для участия в опросе не чаще одного раза в пять лет. Эти домохозяйства выбираются по принципу случайного отбора и представляют другие домохозяйства данного района. Вот почему очень важно, чтобы все отобранные домохозяйства ответили на вопросы, содержащиеся в анкете, заполняемой по месту жительства.

Должен ли я отвечать на вопросы, если я проживаю по данному адресу временно?

Да. Если Вы находитесь по данному адресу более 2 месяцев, Вы должны ответить на все вопросы. Если Вы находитесь по этому адресу 2 месяца или меньше, то в соответствии с инструкциями Вы должны ответить на часть вопросов. При необходимости представитель Бюро переписи населения поможет Вам в этом. Такая информация помогает подготавливать планы по мере того, как население меняется в разное время года.

Являются ли конфиденциальными те ответы, которые я предоставляю в ходе анкетирования?

Да. Закон обязывает Бюро переписи населения США сохранять конфиденциальность предоставленной Вами информации. Бюро переписи населения не имеет права разглашать какую-либо информацию, из которой можно получить сведения о Вашей семье. В соответствии с Федеральным законом об усилении кибербезопасности от 2015 года, Ваши данные защищены от рисков нарушения кибербезопасности посредством введения специальных мер защиты систем, используемых для передачи данных. Согласно закону, предоставленные Вами сведения будут использованы исключительно в статистических целях.

Как я могу ознакомиться с результатами анкетирования?

Эта информация опубликована на сайте American FactFinder® Бюро переписи населения США, который находится по следующему адресу:
factfinder.census.gov

Эти данные представлены в нескольких форматах для каждого, кто желает с ними ознакомиться – от начинающих (тех, кто просто хочет взглянуть на них) до опытных специалистов, занимающихся исследованиями.

С помощью таблиц на сайте «Американский источник фактов» (American FactFinder) можно :

- осуществить быстрый обзор данных,
- сравнить информацию, полученную из разных районов, и
- получить более подробную информацию для проведения более детального анализа.

美国社区问卷调查

census.gov/acs

什么是美国社区问卷调查？

美国社区问卷调查是美国人口普查局在每一个县、美洲印第安人和阿拉斯加本地人地区以及夏威夷本土人地区所进行的一项调查。

美国社区问卷调查每年向美国的社区提供至关重要的经济、社会、人口特征和住房信息。社区的人士告诉我们，美国社区问卷调查帮助他们作出明智的决定，对他们的未来起到极为重要的作用。

我从未听说过美国社区问卷调查。你们从事此项调查已有多长时间？

美国社区问卷调查从 1996 年开始，在全国选出的一些试点县进行。如今，该项调查在美国所有的县和波多黎各开展，后者称为波多黎各美国社区问卷调查。

我在美国社区问卷调查中作出的回答将被如何使用？

美国社区问卷调查中的问题用于搜集管理或评估政府计划所需的数据。这些问题基本上与每十年一次的人口普查中提出的问题相同。

- 收入信息可用于比较不同地区的经济水平。很多联邦和州计划使用此类数据分配用于社区发展的资金。
- 美国交通部将根据您对上下班交通问题的回答，来规划高速公路的改进，开发公共交通服务和设计缓解交通问题的计划。
- 联邦计划根据有关年龄的信息，来分配用于儿童、工作适龄成年人或老年人的资金或服务。
- 对收入和住房问题的回答将由美国住房与城市发展部进行汇总，并用来评估有关老年人、残障人士和低收入房主的住房协助需求。

- 有关种族、西班牙裔及在家使用的语言的信息被用于确定《选举权法案》所规定的双语选举要求，也将被用于监管《民权法案》所规定的平等就业机会。种族和西班牙裔（或族裔）是两个不同的概念，因此需要用不同的问题。
- 美国退伍军人事务部根据服兵役的信息衡量退伍军人的需求，并且评估有关退伍军人教育、就业和健康护理问题的计划。

联邦机构、州政府和社区认为，他们没有所需的最新信息，以更好地理解社区问题、对社区需求作出回应以及分配计划和资源。正如一位社区领导人所说：“猜测总是一件有趣的事，但很少会有成效。”

通过回答美国社区问卷调查问卷，您可以帮助您所在的社区建立社区目标，发现社区问题和解决方案，确定设施和计划的位置以及衡量计划的绩效。

以下机构和人员使用美国社区问卷调查数据：

- 地方政府用于预算，评估计划和规划社区发展项目。

- 社区计划，例如老年人计划、童子军计划、图书馆、银行、医院和其他社区组织，用于向社区提供服务和确定建筑物、服务和计划的位置。
- 交通规划者利用“上下班交通”信息，来规划高峰期交通，以便减少交通堵塞状况，规划停车并制定策略，例如合伙搭车项目和灵活工作时间。通过预测未来的需求，作出有关决定，以建造新道路或扩大现有道路容量以及开发运输系统，例如轻轨或地铁。

我必须回答美国社区问卷调查中的问题吗？

是的，根据法律规定，您必须回答本调查中的问题（《美国法典》第 13 篇第 141、193 和 221 节）。

我在调查问卷中的回答是保密的吗？

是的，根据法律规定，美国人口普查局对您的信息保密。人口普查局不得以可识别住户身份的方式公开发布您的回复。根据《2015年联邦网络安全增强法案》，我们将通过筛选传输数据的系统保护您的数据，使其免于网络安全风险。根据法律的规定，人口普查局仅限将您的回复用于编制统计数据。

如果我在这个地址暂住，我需要回答调查问卷吗？

是的，如果您在这个地址居住超过两个月，您必须填写整份调查问卷。如果您的居住时间为两个月或更短，您仍然必须按照说明填写部分调查问卷。人口普查局的普查员可协助您。该信息可帮助社区随着一年内不同时间的人口变化作出规划。

我必须每年回答这些问题吗？

KHẢO SÁT CỘNG ĐỒNG MỸ

census.gov/acs

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ là gì?

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ là cuộc khảo sát do Văn Phòng Kiểm Tra Dân Số Hoa Kỳ thực hiện tại mỗi quận, vùng đất người Mỹ Da Đỏ, bản xứ Alaska và quần đảo Hạ Uy Di thuộc quốc gia.

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Hoa Kỳ cung cấp các thông tin quan trọng về kinh tế, xã hội, nhân khẩu, và gia cư cho những cộng đồng quốc gia này mỗi năm. Các cộng đồng cho chúng tôi biết rằng cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ giúp họ lấy nhiều quyết định sáng suốt và rất quan trọng cho tương lai của họ.

Tôi chưa nghe gì về cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ. Quý vị đã tiến hành được bao lâu rồi?

Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ bắt đầu vào năm 1996 tại một số quận tiêu biểu ở khắp quốc gia. Ngày nay khảo sát được tiến hành tại khắp các quận ở Hoa Kỳ.

KHẢO SÁT CỘNG ĐỒNG MỸ

Các câu trả lời trên bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ sẽ được sử dụng như thế nào?

Các câu hỏi trên bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ được để thu thập dữ kiện cần thiết để quản lý hay đánh giá các chương trình của chánh phủ. Những câu hỏi này tương tự như những câu hỏi có trong phần kiểm kê dân số mười năm một lần.

- Thông tin về lợi tức được để so sánh mức kinh tế của những khu vực khác nhau. Nhiều chương trình liên bang và tiểu bang dùng những dữ liệu như thế để phân phối ngân quỹ khai triển cộng đồng.
- Câu trả lời của quý vị cho các câu hỏi cách thức đi làm được Bộ Giao Thông Hoa Kỳ sử dụng để hoạch định cải tiến xa lộ, khai triển dịch vụ vận chuyển công cộng, và thiết kế các chương trình để giải quyết vấn đề giao thông.
- Thông tin về tuổi tác được dùng ở các chương trình liên bang để phân chia ngân quỹ hay dịch vụ cho trẻ em, người lớn ở độ tuổi đi làm, hoặc lão niên.
- Các câu trả lời cho những câu hỏi về lợi tức và gia cư được tóm lược và được Bộ Gia Cư và Phát Triển Cộng Đồng Hoa Kỳ dùng để đánh giá nhu cầu trợ cấp nhà cửa cho lão niên, người tàn tật và chủ nhà có lợi tức thấp.
- Thông tin về chủng tộc, nguồn gốc Tây Ban Nha, và ngôn ngữ sử dụng tại gia được để xác định yêu cầu bầu cử song ngữ theo Đạo Luật Quyền Bầu Cử và giám sát cơ hội làm việc bình đẳng theo Luật Dân Quyền. Chủng tộc và nguồn gốc Tây Ban Nha nguyên thủy (hay chủng tộc) được xem như là khái niệm khác biệt và do đó đòi hỏi các câu hỏi riêng biệt.
- Thông tin về quân đội chủ yếu do Bộ Sự Vụ Cựu Quân Nhân sử dụng để đánh giá nhu cầu của cựu quân nhân và các chương trình của những người này về giáo dục, việc làm và chăm sóc sức khỏe.

Tôi sẽ hưởng lợi ích nào khi trả lời bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ?

Các cơ quan liên bang, tiểu bang và cộng đồng cho biết là họ không có thông tin mới nhất để hiểu rõ hơn các vấn đề cộng đồng, đáp ứng các nhu cầu, và phân định chương trình và tài nguyên. Theo lời của một vị lãnh đạo cộng đồng nói thì “Ước tính thì khá hay nhưng ít có hiệu quả.”

Qua cách trả lời bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ, quý vị giúp cho cộng đồng mình thiết lập mục tiêu cộng đồng, nhận biết các vấn đề và các giải pháp của cộng đồng, tìm các cơ sở và chương trình, và đánh giá mức hiệu quả của chương trình.

Các chương trình và thực thể sau đây dùng dữ kiện của bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ:

- Các chương trình cộng đồng, như những chương trình cho lão niên, chương trình hướng đạo, thư viện, ngân hàng, bệnh viện, và các tổ chức cộng đồng khác, nhằm cung cấp dịch vụ cho cộng đồng và để tìm các tòa nhà, dịch vụ, và chương trình.
- Chuyên viên hoạch định vận chuyển, dùng thông tin về cách thức đi làm, để hoạch định lượng tắc nghẽn lưu thông, hoạch định chỗ đậu xe, và khai triển chiến lược, như chương trình đi chung xe và thời biểu làm việc uyển chuyển. Họ sẽ lấy quyết định để xây đường mới hay mở rộng đường hiện tại, và để khai triển hệ thống vận chuyển, như xe điện nhẹ hay xe điện ngầm, bằng cách dự đoán nhu cầu tương lai.
- Chánh phủ địa phương để cấp ngân sách, đánh giá chương trình, và hoạch định cho các dự án phát triển cộng đồng.

KHẢO SÁT CỘNG ĐỒNG MỸ

Tôi có phải trả lời các câu hỏi trên bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ không?

Có. Trả lời câu hỏi trên bản khảo sát được luật pháp đòi hỏi (Tựa Đề 13, Quy Luật Hoa Kỳ, Đoạn 141, 193, và 221).

Câu trả lời trong bản khảo sát của tôi có được giữ kín không?

Có. Cục Thống Kê Dân Số Hoa Kỳ được pháp luật yêu cầu bảo mật thông tin của quý vị. Chúng tôi không được phép công bố công khai các phản hồi của quý vị theo cách có thể nhận diện gia đình quý vị. Theo Đạo luật Tăng cường An ninh Mạng Liên bang năm 2015, dữ liệu của quý vị được bảo vệ khỏi các rủi ro an ninh mạng thông qua sàng lọc các hệ thống truyền đi dữ liệu của quý vị. Theo luật, Cục Thống kê chỉ được sử dụng các phản hồi của quý vị để tạo ra các số liệu thống kê.

Tôi có phải trả lời cho bản khảo sát nếu chỉ ở tạm thời tại địa chỉ này?

Có. Nếu ở tại địa chỉ này trong hơn 2 tháng, quý vị phải điền vào toàn bộ bản khảo sát. Nếu ở trong 2 tháng hay ngắn hơn, quý vị vẫn phải hoàn tất một phần bản khảo sát, theo chỉ dẫn. Đại diện Phòng Kiểm Tra Dân Số có thể giúp quý vị. Thông tin này giúp cho cộng đồng hoạch định khi dân số thay đổi ở thời điểm khác nhau trong năm.

Không. Chỉ một số địa chỉ mẫu được chọn tham gia vào cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng Mỹ. Một địa chỉ chỉ có thể được chọn làm mẫu mỗi 5 năm một lần. Những địa chỉ này được chọn ngẫu nhiên và tiêu biểu cho những địa chỉ khác trong cộng đồng. Đó là lý do vì sao việc các hộ được chọn làm mẫu phải trả lời lại quan trọng như vậy.

Dear <<F_RESPNAME>>:

Recently, a U.S. Census Bureau representative, <<FRNAME>>, visited your household on behalf of the American Community Survey. The Census Bureau is conducting this survey under the authority of Title 13, Sections 141, 193, and 221, of the United States Code. I understand that you have some concerns about participating in this survey, but your household's participation is important to the success of this survey.

The American Community Survey contains questions about your household characteristics including such topics as education, employment, and housing. The primary goal of this survey is to provide information each year about the social, economic, and housing characteristics of the United States. Your participation helps provide the information needed by your community, county, state, and nation, to plan and fund programs at all levels. The American Community Survey will provide communities annually updated, detailed information previously available only when the Census Bureau conducted a census every 10 years.

The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify this household. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics.

A member of our staff will contact you again in a few days, or you can contact <<FRNAME>> at <<FRPHONE>>, to arrange an interview at your convenience. Your participation and cooperation are important to the success of the survey. If you have any questions, contact <<SUPERVISOR1>>, Program Supervisor, at <<OFFICEPHONE>>. Your Answers, Your Future

The American Community Survey (ACS) provides vital information on a yearly basis about our nation and its people. Through the ACS, we know more about jobs and occupations, educational attainment, veterans, whether people own or rent their home, and other topics. Public officials, planners, and entrepreneurs use this information to assess the past and plan the future. When you respond to the ACS, you are doing your part to help your community plan hospitals and schools, support school lunch programs, improve emergency services, build bridges, and inform businesses looking to add jobs and expand to new markets, and more. The ACS consists of 72 questions pertaining to the topics shown below.

What we ask about...

How your responses help...

Employment

The ACS asks whether respondents are employed, unemployed, and out of the labor force. It also asks about weeks and hours worked and about industry and occupation.

This information helps government at all levels better understand unemployment and the availability of workers, plan unemployment programs and services, and develop programs to boost employment. Communities learn which occupations and industries are growing in their areas and businesses can find locations with the workforce they need.

Education

The ACS asks about school enrollment, gathering information on America's students from nursery school to graduate school and on whether they are in a private or public school. It also asks about educational attainment—did the respondent earn a high school diploma or the equivalent, a bachelor's degree, or higher?

These statistics help communities to measure how well educational resources are serving their populations, measure changes in education over time, evaluate the educational attainment of the workforce, and identify the educational and training needs of adults. This information also helps communities to bridge gaps between the educational attainment of potential workers and the educational requirements of potential employers.

Veterans

The ACS asks about a person's military service, where veterans are moving throughout the country, their ages, and their VA service-connected disability rating status to understand veterans' needs at the community level. Though the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) maintains veterans' records, the ACS provides additional statistics about all veterans, regardless of whether they utilize VA services.

These statistics about veterans help communities plan for future health care and nursing homes, plan and fund job training, and improve the home loan guarantee program. They also benefit businesses looking to hire or serve veterans.

Income and Housing Costs

The ACS asks several questions about the money you receive from various sources and your regular living expenses such as rents, mortgages, taxes, and utilities.

The statistics that result from these questions help gauge the need for economic and housing assistance. How many people live in poverty, what are their characteristics—the ACS is the only source of these data at the community level. Income and poverty estimates factor into funding requests that address need. When combined with income, selected monthly owner costs provide an excellent measure of affordability and excessive shelter costs.

Commuting

The ACS asks about your daily commute—where you go, how you get there, what time you leave for work, and how long it takes—to understand where people are traveling during a normal day.

Precise information about your commuting patterns is crucial to planning improvements to roads and highways, developing transportation and services, and creating emergency response strategies.

Disability and Health Insurance

The ACS asks about a person's difficulty with specific daily living tasks: Do you have difficulty seeing or hearing? Do you have difficulty walking or climbing stairs or in dressing or bathing?

The ACS also asks whether people have health insurance, including type of health insurance for those who have health coverage plans.

Communities use these statistics to plan services such as transportation, employment programs, and public service accessibility for people with disabilities. Businesses that serve this population may also seek areas that have a high demand for their services.

From these statistics, we learn which groups are at risk of experiencing limited health care access, poor health, and poor health outcomes.

Housing Characteristics

The ACS asks questions about plumbing, kitchen facilities, and other housing features to help identify areas with substandard housing.

Questions about the size and age of housing also flag local problems like overcrowding, health hazards, and congestion.

Through your ACS responses, we learn about communities eligible for housing assistance, rehabilitation loans, and other programs that help people afford decent, safe, and sanitary housing.

Your responses help communities plan solutions. In places where disaster strikes, these data are vital in planning recovery.

Owners and Renters

The ACS asks about whether you own or rent your home, and the amount of monthly rent or how much the home and property are worth.

These statistics are used to analyze whether housing is affordable, protect owners and renters, and allocate and fund assistance programs. Governments use these statistics to understand changes in local housing markets, monitor affordability, qualify for assistance, and reduce the tax revenue losses from vacant or abandoned properties. Businesses use these data to design and market homes, and home goods.

People and Relationships

The ACS asks respondents about their age, sex, race, Hispanic origin, and their relationship to others in the household.

This information, along with other statistics, is used to monitor well-being, discrimination, and economic hardship. Federal agencies use this information to administer programs providing funds and services for groups such as single parents, low-income families, older people living alone, etc. Businesses use these estimates to evaluate local market demand for products and services.

Your facility has been randomly selected to participate in a very important national survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau called the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS is separate from the 2020 Census. Some facilities, including yours, will be contacted by representatives from the ACS and from the 2020 Census this year. Participating in both is required by U.S. law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, 221, and 223).

The ACS is an on-going survey that tells us what the population looks like and how it lives. A sample of residents who live or stay in your facility is included in the ACS.

Estimates from the ACS are used by federal, tribal, state, and local governments, as well as by private nonprofit organizations and communities, for example:

- Local governments use these estimates for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects, such as those for the older population, scout programs, libraries, and hospitals.
- Other organizations use this information to provide services to the community and to plan or establish new facilities, buildings, and programs.
- Administrators at your own facility may use ACS estimates themselves.

Throughout the year, representatives for the ACS contact different facilities, such as correctional facilities, juvenile facilities, military barracks, and college residence halls. During the next month, one of our ACS field representatives will contact you or someone in your office to discuss the survey and to schedule an appointment to visit your facility.

The field representative will:

- answer any questions you may have about the ACS or about interviewing residents of your facility.
- collect and verify basic information about your facility, such as the facility name and address.
- ask for a list of residents who are currently living or staying at your facility to establish a basis for their sample.

- select a random sample of residents to take part in the ACS.
- interview the selected residents. If a resident is unable to participate in an interview, the field representative will work with you to determine if there are other ways to get the needed information.

Selected residents will be asked to respond to the ACS and provide information about various topics such as education and employment. The Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data (Title 13, United States Code, Section 9).

Your cooperation is essential to the success of the ACS, and the field representative may need your assistance in collecting survey information from the sample of residents. The field representative will need access to the residents chosen.

The enclosed brochure provides answers to frequently asked questions about the ACS. If you want to learn more about the ACS, please visit the Census Bureau's Web site at census.gov/acs.

The ACS is an on-going survey that tells us what the population looks like and how it lives. A sample of students who live or stay in student housing is included in the ACS.

Estimates from the ACS are used by federal, tribal, state, and local governments, as well as by businesses and private nonprofit organizations.

- The ACS estimates are used by federal agencies to determine the distribution of Title I funding and college tuition grant and loan programs.
- Local governments use these estimates for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects, such as those for libraries and new schools.
- Other organizations use this information to provide services to the community and to plan or establish new facilities, buildings, and programs.
- Researchers and planners at your own institution almost certainly use ACS estimates themselves.

Throughout the year, representatives for the ACS contact different facilities, such as college residence halls, dormitories, and fraternity/sorority housing recognized by the college or university. During the next month, one of our ACS field representatives will contact you or someone in your office to discuss the survey and to schedule an appointment to visit your facility.

Your facility has been randomly selected to participate in a very important national survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau called the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS is separate from the 2020 Census. Some facilities, including yours, will be contacted by representatives from the ACS and from the 2020 Census this year. Participating in both is required by U.S. law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, 221, and 223).

The ACS is an on-going survey that tells us what the population looks like and how it lives. A sample of residents who live or stay in your hospitals, nursing facilities/skilled nursing facilities, and inpatient hospice facilities is included in the ACS.

Estimates from the ACS are used by federal, tribal, state, and local governments, as well as by private nonprofit organizations and communities, for example:

- Local governments use these estimates for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects, such as those for the older population, hospitals, and senior centers.
- Other organizations use this information to provide services to the community and to plan or establish new facilities, buildings, and programs.
- Administrators at your own facility may use ACS estimates themselves.

Throughout the year, representatives for the ACS contact different facilities, such as hospitals, nursing facilities/skilled nursing facilities, and inpatient hospice facilities. During the next month, one of our ACS field representatives will contact you or someone in your office to discuss the survey and to schedule an appointment to visit your facility.

The field representative will:

- answer any questions you may have about the ACS or about interviewing residents of your facility.
- collect and verify basic information about your facility, such as the facility name and address.

- ask for a list of residents who are currently living or staying at your facility to establish a basis for their sample.
- select a random sample of residents to take part in the ACS.
- interview the selected residents. If a resident is unable to participate in an interview, the field representative will work with you to determine if there are other ways to get the needed information.

Selected residents will be asked to respond to the ACS and provide information about various topics, such as education, military service, insurance coverage and disability. The Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. Frequently Asked Questions for Facility Administrators

American Community Survey Group Quarters

Your Community's Key to the Future

Census
Bureau

What is the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey is a survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau in every county, American Indian and Alaska Native Area, and Hawaiian Home Land. It replaced the long form in the decennial census and greatly simplified operations so that the focus of the decennial census is solely on counting the population.

The American Community Survey provides current demographic, social, economic, and housing characteristics every year. In the past, this information was only available every 10 years when the decennial census was conducted. Estimates from the American Community Survey help communities make informed decisions and is a key to their future.

The American Community Survey does not count the population, but it does provide information that reflects what the population looks like and how it lives.

That information is vital for states and local communities in determining how to plan for schools, roads, senior citizen centers, and other goods and services.

The U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey and gave it OMB approval No. 0607-0810. Displaying this number shows that the Census Bureau is authorized to conduct this survey. Please use this number in any correspondence concerning this survey. Respondents are not required to respond to any information collection unless it displays a valid approval number from the OMB.

We have not heard of the American Community Survey. How long have you been conducting it?

The American Community Survey began in 1996 in a sample of counties across the country. The American Community Survey began sampling group quarters in 2006. Today, the survey is conducted in all U.S. counties, as well as in Puerto Rico where it is called the Puerto Rico Community Survey.

How does this group quarters and its residents benefit by answering the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey provides up-to-date information for your community. By responding to the American Community Survey you are helping your community to establish goals, identify problems and solutions, and measure the performance of programs.

Communities need data about the well-being of children, families, and the elderly to provide services to them. These estimates are also used to decide where to locate new highways, schools, libraries, hospitals, and community centers, and to determine the goods and services its residents need.

What type of group quarter facilities are included in the American Community Survey?

Examples of group quarter facilities include:

- College/university student housing.
- Residential treatment centers for adults.
- Nursing facilities/skilled-nursing facilities.
- Group homes intended for adults.
- Military quarters.
- Correctional facilities for adults.
- Workers' group living quarters and Job Corps centers.

Why did the Census Bureau select this group quarters facility?

Group quarters facilities are randomly selected each year from a sample list of all group quarters in your area. The larger the group quarters, the greater the probability that it will be selected to participate in the survey one or more times each year.

Your participation is very important for us to be able to produce accurate information from this survey.

We have already participated in this survey. How many times during the year will the Census Bureau sample my facility?

The number of times we visit your facility depends on the size of your facility. Large facilities may be sampled multiple times throughout the year.

What level of assistance is expected from my staff during the survey period?

Your staff will be asked to:

- Provide a list of residents currently staying at your facility.
- Give the Census Bureau representative access to the sample residents to conduct interviews.
- Inform the Census Bureau representative of any special requirements that may assist them in conducting interviews at your facility.

How are residents at my facility selected to be in the sample?

After you provide a list of all residents currently staying at your facility, field representatives randomly select residents to take part in the American Community Survey. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every resident at every facility. But in order for it to work properly, we cannot substitute sample residents—the sample has to be truly random.

Do the sampled group quarters and sampled residents have to answer the questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes. You are required by law to answer the American Community Survey. Two provisions of Title 13, United States Code, require your participation. Section 221 of Title 13 makes it mandatory for individuals to participate in the American Community Survey, and Section 223 of Title 13 makes it mandatory for building owners and others to provide access to individuals in order to conduct the American Community Survey group quarters interviews. The same law protects the confidentiality of the information you provide. For more information about Title 13, you may visit the Census Bureau's Web site at <https://askacs.census.gov/> and select the topic: "American Community Survey: Must I respond?"

How will information be collected from sampled residents in this facility?

The American Community Survey collects residents' information through face-to-face or telephone interviews. This can either be with the sampled resident or a proxy respondent. The sampled resident may also fill out the questionnaire on his/her own. The Census Bureau representative will leave the questionnaire with the resident and return to pick up the completed questionnaire at an agreed upon time.

Why do you select residents who may be physically or mentally unable to answer the American Community Survey?

Residents are randomly selected to take part in the American Community Survey. Sampled residents may designate another person, such as a relative, guardian, or facility administrator to help with the survey. The facility administrator may talk with the Census Bureau representative to resolve any issues. To produce the most accurate results, it is very important that every resident selected for the survey is included.

How long will it take to complete the survey?

We estimate that the facility survey will take about 15 minutes to complete and each resident survey will take about 25 minutes to complete. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to: Paperwork Reduction Project, U.S. Census Bureau, 4600 Silver Hill Road, ADDC-4H277, Washington, DC 20233. You may e-mail comments to aco.pra@census.gov; use "Paperwork Project" as the subject.

Can the sampled resident interviews be done via e-mail or online?

No. At this time, the survey cannot be completed via e-mail or online.

Why do you ask detailed questions that may seem unnecessary for residents living in this facility?

The American Community Survey asks very detailed questions because we are required to collect specific information that is used for a variety of federal and state programs. The questionnaire is used for residents of many types of facilities. Therefore, not every question will apply to everyone who receives it.

Will the Census Bureau keep the group quarter facility and resident information confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

How will the Census Bureau use the information the group quarters and sampled residents provide?

By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. The Census Bureau will also use this information to improve the American Community Survey, ultimately resulting in even better data for your community and the nation.

Who can see the answers this group quarters or its residents provide to the survey?

Your facility and resident responses will only be seen by Census Bureau personnel with a work-related need to know. The Census Bureau protects the confidentiality of the information. The police cannot see it and no court of law can see it. No one can see or use your specific answers to enforce any type of law or amend any kind of benefit.

If any Census Bureau employee were to share information about your facility or its residents, he or she would be subject to severe criminal sanctions imposed by Congress—up to 5 years imprisonment and/or up to a $250,000 fine (Title 13, United States Code, Section 214, as amended by Title 18, United States Code, Sections 3559 and 3571).

When will results of the survey be available?

The previous years' results of the American Community Survey are released every fall. Survey estimates are released each year for areas of 65,000 or more people. For smaller areas, results are available in the form of 3-year and 5-year estimates.

How can the group quarters and the residents see the results of the survey?

This information is published on the Census Bureau's American FactFinder Web site at <<http://factfinder.census.gov>>.

Office of the Director

Dear Resident:

The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting a very important survey called the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS is separate from the 2020 Census. This year, some residents will be contacted by representatives from both the ACS and the 2020 Census. Your response is required by U.S. law (Title 13, United States Code (U.S.C.), Sections 141, 193, 221, and 223).

An ACS field representative from the Census Bureau will conduct a personal interview with you or you may complete the survey questionnaire yourself. We estimate this survey will take about 25 minutes of your time. If you fill out the questionnaire yourself, please place it in the envelope that the ACS field representative gave you. The field representative will arrange for a convenient time to pick it up.

The ACS produces critical, up-to-date information that is used to meet the needs of communities across the United States. For example, results from this survey may be used to decide where new schools, hospitals, and fire stations are needed. The ACS estimates are used by federal, tribal, state, and local governments to make decisions and to develop programs that will provide healthcare, education, and transportation services that affect you and your community.

The Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. The Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics. The enclosed brochure provides answers to frequently asked questions about the ACS.

If you have access to the Internet and want to learn more about the ACS, please visit the Census Bureau's Web site at: census.gov/acs. Thank you for your help.

Office of the Director

Estimado señor o señora,

La Oficina del Censo de los EE. UU. está realizando una encuesta nacional muy importante conocida como la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense (ACS, por sus siglas en inglés). La ACS es una encuesta independiente del Censo del 2020. Este año, algunos residentes serán contactados por representantes de la ACS y del Censo del 2020. Su respuesta es requerida por la ley de los EE. UU. (Título 13 del Código de los EE. UU., Secciones 141, 193, 221 y 223).

Un representante de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense realizará una entrevista en persona con usted, o usted mismo puede completar el cuestionario de la encuesta. Estimamos que esta encuesta tomará aproximadamente 25 minutos de su tiempo. Si usted mismo contesta el cuestionario, por favor, échelo en el sobre que le entregó el representante de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense. El representante acordará con usted el mejor momento para recogerlo.

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense produce información actual y crítica que se utiliza para satisfacer las necesidades de comunidades en todo los Estados Unidos. Por ejemplo, puede que los resultados de esta encuesta se usen para decidir dónde se necesitan nuevas escuelas, hospitales y estaciones de bomberos. El gobierno federal, los gobiernos de las tribus y los gobiernos estatales y locales usan los estimados de la ACS para tomar decisiones y elaborar programas que brinden atención médica, educación y servicios de transporte que le atañen a usted y a su comunidad.

La Oficina del Censo de los EE. UU. está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial su información. A la Oficina del Censo no se le permite divulgar sus respuestas de manera que usted pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, sus datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten su información (sección 9 del título 13 del Código de los Estados Unidos). Por ley, la Oficina del Censo solamente puede usar sus respuestas para producir estadísticas. El folleto adjunto proporciona respuestas a las preguntas más frecuentes acerca de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense.

Si tiene acceso a Internet y desea obtener más información acerca de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense, visite el sitio de la Oficina del Censo por Internet en census.gov/acs. Gracias por su ayuda.

Instructions for Completing the Survey Questions	5

Your Answers are Confidential and Required by Law

The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

The same law that protects the confidentiality of your answers requires that you provide the information asked in this survey to the best of your knowledge.

What the Survey is About – Some Questions and Answers

Why are we taking a survey?

The Census Bureau is conducting the American Community Survey to provide more timely data than data we typically collect only once every 10 years during the decennial census.

What does the Census Bureau do with the information you provide?

The American Community Survey will be the source of summarized data that we make available to federal, state, and local governments, and also to the public. The data will enable your community leaders from government, business, and non-profit organizations to plan more effectively.

Why did you select this Group Quarters (GQ) facility and how did I get selected?

Group quarters facilities are randomly selected each year from a sample list of all group quarters in your area. The larger the group quarters, the greater the probability that it will be selected to participate in the survey one or more times each year. From a list provided by the GQ contact person of all residents currently staying at the GQ, field representatives randomly select residents to take part in this survey. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every person at every GQ. But in order for it to work, we cannot substitute sampled facilities or individuals -- the sample has to be truly random. Your participation is very important to us to be able to produce accurate information from this survey.

Why the Census Bureau Asks Certain Questions

Here are reasons we ask some of the questions on the survey.

Name

Names help make sure that we don't duplicate persons selected at this place for the survey. Individual identities are kept confidential.

Place of birth

This question provides information used to study long-term trends about where people move and to study migration patterns and differences in growth patterns.

Job

Answers to the questions about the jobs people hold provide information on the extent and types of employment in different areas of the country. From this information, communities can develop training programs, and business and local governments can determine the need for new employment opportunities.

Income

Income helps determine how well families or persons live. Income information makes it possible to compare the economic levels of different areas, and how economic levels for a community change over time. Funding for many government programs is based on the answers to these questions.

Education

Responses to the education questions in the survey help to determine the number of new public schools, education programs, and daycare services required in a community.

Disability

Questions about disability provide the means to allocate federal funding for healthcare services and new hospitals in many communities.

How to Fill Out the American Community Survey Form

Use blue or black ink to complete the form. Please mark the category or categories as they apply to you. Some questions ask you to print the information. See examples below.

Make sure you answer all the questions that apply to you. Read these instructions and also follow the instructions provided throughout the questionnaire. These instructions will help you understand the questions and to answer them correctly. If you need assistance, call the number that the field representative has provided to you.

Instructions for Completing the Survey Questions

The questionnaire is a bilingual form. One side is in English and the other is in Spanish.

1. Print your Last Name, First Name, and Middle Initial (MI) in the spaces provided.

Enter your telephone number, including area code, and today's date in the boxes provided.

2. Mark one box to indicate your biological sex.
3. Print your age and month, day, and year of birth. Print your age at your last birthday. Do not round your age up if you are close to having a birthday. If you do not know your exact age, provide an estimate. Print "0" for babies less than 1 year old.

Please answer BOTH question 4 about Hispanic origin and question 5 about race. For this survey, Hispanic origins are not races.

4. You are of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin if your origin (ancestry) is Mexican, Mexican American, Chicano, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Argentinean, Colombian, Costa Rican, Dominican, Ecuadorian, Guatemalan, Honduran, Nicaraguan, Peruvian, Salvadoran, from other Spanish-speaking countries of Central or South America or from Spain.

The term Mexican Am. refers to persons of Mexican-American origin or ancestry.

If you mark the "Yes, another Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin" box, print the name of the specific origin.

If you are not of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin, answer this question by marking the "No, not of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin" box.

This question should be answered by all individuals.

5. Mark all boxes for the appropriate races.

The concept of race, as used by the Census Bureau, reflects self-identification by individuals according to the race or races with which they identify.

The instruction before question 4, "For this survey, Hispanic origins are not races" reflects the federal government's treatment of Hispanic origin and race as separate and distinct concepts. People who identify their origin as Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish may be of any race.

People may choose to provide two or more races either by marking two or more race response boxes, by providing multiple write-in responses, or by some combination of marking boxes and writing in responses.

If you mark the "American Indian or Alaska Native" box, print the name of your enrolled or principal tribe(s) in the space provided (for example, Navajo Nation, Blackfeet Tribe, Muscogee (Creek) Nation, Mayan, Doyon, Native Village of Barrow Inupiat Traditional Government, and so on).

For people born outside the United States:

Use current boundaries, not boundaries at the time of your birth. For example, specify Czech Republic or Slovakia, not Czechoslovakia; North or South Korea, not Korea. Specify the particular country, not region. For example, specify Jamaica, not West Indies; Kenya, not East Africa.

7. If you were born in the United States (50 states and the District of Columbia), mark the "Yes, born in the United States" box. If you were born outside the United States (50 states and the District of Columbia) or at sea and had at least one parent who was a U.S. citizen at the time of your birth, mark the "Yes, born abroad of U.S. citizen parent or parents" box. La Oficina del Censo está llevando a cabo la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense para proveer datos más actualizados que los que generalmente se recopilan sólo una vez cada 10 años durante el censo decenal.

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad Estadounidense será la fuente de datos resumidos que ponemos a la disposición del gobierno federal, los gobiernos estatales y locales, y del público. Los datos ayudarán a los líderes de su comunidad en el gobierno, negocios y organizaciones sin fines de lucro a planear eficazmente.

Cada año, se seleccionan al azar las instalaciones de alojamientos de grupo (GQ) basada en una lista de muestra de todos los alojamientos de grupo de su área. Mientras más grande es el alojamiento de grupo, mayor es la probabilidad de ser seleccionado para participar en la encuesta una o más veces cada año. La persona contacto del GQ suministra una lista de todos los residentes que se quedan actualmente en el GQ. De esta lista, los representantes del Censo seleccionan residentes al azar para participar en esta encuesta. Una de las ventajas de la muestra al azar es que nos permite medir la población total sin tener que entrevistar a cada persona en cada GQ. Para que esto funcione, no podemos sustituir instalaciones o a individuos en la muestra; la muestra tiene que ser verdaderamente al azar. Su participación es muy importante para nosotros, porque nos permite producir información precisa de esta encuesta.

Por Qué la Oficina del Censo Hace Ciertas Preguntas

A continuación se indican las razones por las cuales hacemos algunas de las preguntas en la encuesta.

Nombre

Los nombres ayudan a asegurar que las personas seleccionadas en este lugar para la encuesta no se listen dos veces. Las identidades de los individuos se mantienen confidenciales.

Lugar de nacimiento

Empleo

Las respuestas a las preguntas sobre el empleo de las personas proveen información sobre la variedad y los tipos de empleo en las diferentes áreas del país. Utilizando esta información, las comunidades pueden desarrollar programas de entrenamiento, y los negocios y gobiernos locales pueden determinar la necesidad de nuevas oportunidades de empleo.

Ingreso

El ingreso ayuda a determinar cuán bien viven las familias o las personas. La información sobre ingreso hace posible comparar los niveles económicos de diferentes áreas y cómo los niveles económicos de una comunidad cambian a través del tiempo. Los fondos para muchos programas gubernamentales se basan en las respuestas a estas preguntas.

Educación

Las respuestas a las preguntas sobre educación en la encuesta ayudan a determinar el número de escuelas públicas, programas de educación y servicios de cuidado diurno nuevos que se requieren en una comunidad.

Impedimentos

Las preguntas sobre impedimentos proveen los medios de asignar fondos federales para servicios de salud y nuevos hospitales en muchas comunidades.

La explicación que precede a la pregunta 4, "Para esta encuesta, origen hispano no es una raza", refleja la manera en que el gobierno federal trata el origen hispano y la raza como dos conceptos separados y distintos. Las personas que identifican su origen como hispano, latino o español pueden ser de cualquier raza.

What is the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey (ACS) provides current demographic, social, economic, and housing characteristics every year. In the past, this information was only available every 10 years when the decennial census was conducted. Estimates from the American Community Survey helps communities make informed decisions and is a key to their future.

Only a small sample of addresses is selected to participate in the American Community Survey and represent other addresses in the community. In addition to this household sample, the U.S. Census Bureau selects a sample of group quarters (GQ) facilities from a sample of all GQs in your area each year. Individuals from sampled GQs are randomly selected to participate in the ACS. A Census Bureau representative will contact the sample GQs and individuals and conduct a personal interview. If a personal interview is not possible, the Census Bureau representative may collect your information over the telephone or ask that you complete the survey questionnaire. If you complete the survey yourself, a Census Bureau representative will arrange for a day and time to return to the GQ to pick up the completed questionnaire.

Do the sampled group quarters and individuals have to answer the questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes. Your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193 and 221).

The Census Bureau estimates the survey will take about 25 minutes to complete. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to: Paperwork Reduction Project, U.S. Census Bureau, 4600 Silver Hill Road, ADDC-4H277, Washington, DC 20233. You may e-mail comments to acso.pra@census.gov; use “Paperwork Project” as the subject.

The U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey and gave it OMB approval No. 0607-0810. Displaying this number shows that the Census Bureau is authorized to conduct this survey. Please use this number in any correspondence concerning this survey. Respondents are not required to respond to any information collection unless it displays a valid approval number from the OMB.

How will my participation help me and my community?

Billions of government and business dollars are distributed among states, communities, and population groups based on the social, economic, housing, and GQ information available for that area.

The information you provide will help you and other individuals, local governments, nongovernmental organizations, and businesses to:

- Distribute resources to communities.
- Improve your community by deciding where in your town new highways, schools, and hospitals can do the most good.
- Measure changes in the well-being of children, families, and senior citizens to plan for future programs.
- Plan for emergency situations that might affect your community, such as floods, fires, and other natural disasters.

Is the information I provide confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

How will the Census Bureau use the information that I provide?

The Census Bureau will compile and publish estimates for geographical areas, such as, for the nation, states, counties and Puerto Rico municipios. The Census Bureau will not publish or release information that would identify a facility, or its residents. Estimates are then available for use by a variety of programs supporting your community.

Is the information I provide strictly confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

When will the results of the survey be available?

The previous years' results of the American Community Survey are released every Fall. Survey estimates are released each year for areas of 65,000 or more people. For smaller areas, results are available in the form of 3-year and 5-year estimates.

Will American Indians and Alaska Natives be recruited for jobs?

The Census Bureau has always relied on the help of American Indians and Alaska Natives to make the census work and will do the same to make the American Community Survey work.

Where can I get assistance or find more information about the American Community Survey in Alaska?

For questions or assistance with completing this survey, telephone the Census Bureau's Los Angeles Regional Office at 1-800-992-3530 (ext. 1).

How will my participation help me and my community?

Billions of dollars are allocated among states, communities, villages, and population groups based on the social, economic, housing, and GQ information available for that area.

The information you provide will help you and other individuals, local governments, nongovernmental organizations, and businesses to:

- Ensure fair distribution of tax dollars and other resources.

- Evaluate programs to increase their effectiveness and target specific needs.
- Improve your community's quality of life by building new roads, improving airstrips, schools, and hospitals, and deciding where in your town they can do the most good.
- Observe change over time in such key areas as the well-being of children, families, and senior citizens.
- Help communities plan for emergency situations that might affect you or your neighbors, such as floods, fires, and other natural disasters.
- Help village leaders and Alaska Native corporations plan for better education and health services.

What about my tribe or my village?

The use of American Community Survey estimates could result in improved utility services, new housing, job training, better school facilities, or a new or improved health clinic that benefits you, your family, or your village. For example, the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 requires information about American Indian and Alaska Native households to support training and employment activities. Your participation in the American Community Survey will provide this critically important information.

Office of the Director

Dear Resident:

The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting a very important national survey called the Puerto Rico Community Survey (PRCS). The PRCS is separate from the 2020 Census. This year, some residents will be contacted by representatives from both the PRCS and the 2020 Census. Your response is required by U.S. law (Title 13, United States Code (U.S.C.), Sections 141, 193, 221, and 223).

A PRCS field representative from the Census Bureau will conduct a personal interview with you, or you may complete the survey questionnaire yourself. We estimate this survey will take about 25 minutes of your time. If you fill out the questionnaire yourself, please place it in the envelope that the PRCS field representative gave you. The field representative will arrange for a convenient time to pick it up.

The Puerto Rico Community Survey paints a picture of life in Puerto Rico—education, housing, jobs, and more. Every year, this survey provides up-to-date information to community leaders as well as federal, Puerto Rico, and municipio governments. This information can be used to identify the services and programs your community needs. For example, this survey can provide information to plan services for the elderly, emergency services, and federal aid.

The Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. We are not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. The Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics. The enclosed brochure provides answers to frequently asked questions about the PRCS.

If you have access to the Internet and want to learn more about the PRCS, please visit the Census Bureau's Web site at: census.gov/acs. Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,

Your Answers are Confidential and Required by Law

The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to keep your information confidential. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data.

The same law that protects the confidentiality of your answers requires that you provide the information asked in this survey to the best of your knowledge.

What the Survey is About Some Questions and Answers

Why are we taking a survey?

The Census Bureau is conducting the Puerto Rico Community Survey to provide more timely data than data we typically collect only once every 10 years during the decennial census.

What does the Census Bureau do with the information you provide?

The Puerto Rico Community Survey will be the source of summarized data that we make available to federal, Puerto Rico, and local governments, and also to the public. The data will enable your community leaders from government, business, and non-profit organizations to plan more effectively.

Why did you select this Group Quarters (GQ) facility and how did I get selected?

Group quarters facilities are randomly selected each year from a sample list of all group quarters in your area. The larger the group quarters, the greater the probability that it will be selected to participate in the survey one or more times each year. From a list provided by the GQ contact person of all residents currently staying at the GQ, field representatives randomly select residents to take part in this survey. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every person at every GQ. But in order for it to work, we cannot substitute sampled facilities or individuals -- the sample has to be truly random. Your participation is very important to us to be able to produce accurate information from this survey.

Why the Census Bureau Asks Certain Questions

Here are reasons we ask some of the questions on the survey.

Name

Names help make sure that we don't duplicate persons selected at this place for the survey. Individual identities are kept confidential.

Place of Birth

This question provides information used to study long-term trends about where people move and to study migration patterns and differences in growth patterns.

Job

Answers to the questions about the jobs people hold provide information on the extent and types of employment in different areas of Puerto Rico. From this information, communities can develop training programs, and business and local governments can determine the need for new employment opportunities.

Income

Income helps determine how well families or persons live. Income information makes it possible to compare the economic levels of different areas, and how economic levels for a community change over time. Funding for many government programs is based on the answers to these questions.

Education

Responses to the education questions in the survey help to determine the number of new public schools, education programs, and daycare services required in a community.

Disability

Questions about disability provide the means to allocate federal funding for healthcare services and new hospitals in many communities.

How to Fill Out the Puerto Rico Community Survey Form

Use blue or black ink to complete the form. Please mark the category or categories as they apply to you. Some questions ask you to print the information. See examples below.

Make sure you answer all the questions that apply to you. Read these instructions and also follow the instructions provided throughout the questionnaire. These instructions will help you understand the questions and to answer them correctly. If you need assistance, call the number that the field representatives has provided to you.

Instructions for Completing the Survey Questions

The questionnaire is a bilingual form. One side is in Spanish and the other is English.

1. Print your Last Name, First Name, and Middle Initial (MI) in the spaces provided.

Enter your telephone number, including area code, and today's date in the boxes provided.

2. Mark one box to indicate your biological sex.
3. Print your age and month, day, and year of birth. Print your age at your last birthday. Do not round your age up if you are close to having a birthday. If you do not know your exact age, provide an estimate. Print "0" for babies less than 1 year old.

Please answer BOTH question 4 about Hispanic origin and question 5 about race. For this survey, Hispanic origins are not races.

4. You are of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin if your origin (ancestry) is Mexican, Mexican American, Chicano, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Argentinean, Colombian, Costa Rican, Dominican, Ecuadorian, Guatemalan, Honduran, Nicaraguan, Peruvian, Salvadoran, from other Spanish-speaking countries of Central or South America or from Spain.

The term Mexican Am. refers to persons of Mexican-American origin or ancestry.

If you mark the "Yes, another Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin" box, print the name of the specific origin.

If you are not of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin, answer this question by marking the "No, not of Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish origin" box.

This question should be answered by all individuals.

5. Mark all boxes for the appropriate races.

The concept of race, as used by the Census Bureau, reflects self-identification by individuals according to the race or races with which they identify.

The instruction before question 4, "For this survey, Hispanic origins are not races" reflects the federal government's treatment of Hispanic origin and race as separate and distinct concepts. People who identify their origin as Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish may be of any race.

People may choose to provide two or more races either by marking two or more race response boxes, by providing multiple write-in responses, or by some combination of marking boxes and writing in responses.

If you mark the "American Indian or Alaska Native" box, print the name of your enrolled or principal tribe(s) in the space provided (for example, Navajo Nation, Blackfeet Tribe, Muscogee (Creek) Nation, Mayan, Doyon, Native Village of Barrow Inupiat Traditional Government, and so on).

If you mark the "Other Asian" box, print the name of the specific Asian group(s) in the space provided (for example, Pakistani, Cambodian, Hmong, Thai, Laotian, Bangladeshi, and so on).

If you mark the "Other Pacific Islander" box, print the name of the specific Pacific Islander group(s) in the space provided (for example, Tongan, Fijian, Marshallese, Palauan, Tahitian, Papua New Guinean, and so on).

If you mark the "Some other race" box, print the name of the specific group(s) in the space provided.

This question should be answered by all individuals.

6. For people born in the United States:

Mark the "In the United States" box and then print the name of the state in which you were born. If you were born in Washington, D.C., print "District of Columbia."

For people born outside the United States:

Mark the "Outside the United States" box, and then print Puerto Rico or the name of the foreign country or area where you were born. Use current boundaries, not boundaries at the time of your birth. For example, specify Czech Republic or Slovakia, not Czechoslovakia; North or South Korea, not Korea. Specify the particular country, not region. For example, specify Jamaica, not West Indies; Kenya, not East Africa.

7. If you were born in Puerto Rico, mark the "Yes, born in Puerto Rico" box. If you were born in a U.S. state, the District of Columbia, Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or Northern Marianas, mark the "Yes, born in a U.S. State, District of Columbia, Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or Northern Marianas" box. Although not listed, if you were born in American Samoa, mark "Yes, born in a U.S. State, District of Columbia, Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or Northern Marianas" box. If you were born outside the United States (50 states and the District of Columbia) or at sea and had at least one parent who was a U.S. citizen at the time of your birth, mark the "Yes, born abroad of U.S. citizen parent or parents" box. Mark the "Yes, U.S. citizen by naturalization" box only if you were born outside the United States (50 states and the District of Columbia), and have completed the naturalization process and are now a United States citizen. In the box below Print year of naturalization, enter the four-digit year you completed the formal naturalization process. If you are not a U.S. citizen, mark the "No, not a U.S. citizen" box. Legal Permanent Residents (LPRs) or "green card" holders, or other non-naturalized immigrants or visitors to the U.S. are not citizens of the United States and therefore should mark the "No, not a U.S. citizen" box.
- 9a. A public school is any school or college that is supported and controlled primarily by the Puerto Rico government or federal government. Schools are private if supported and controlled primarily by religious organizations or other private groups. Home school applies to parental guided education outside of a public or private school for grades 1-12.
- 9b. Only record grades that you attended in the LAST 3 MONTHS. If this is currently a summer month, do not record grades that you will attend in the future.

- 10. Mark only ONE box to indicate the highest grade or level of schooling you have COMPLETED or the highest degree you have received.

Report schooling completed in foreign or ungraded schools as the equivalent level of schooling in the regular American school system.

Mark the "GED or alternative credential" box if you did not receive a regular high school diploma but completed high school by receiving a GED or other formal recognition of high school completion from a school or governmental authority.

If you have not completed any college courses for credit, mark the highest level completed below college level. If you have not completed enough credit to be counted as a sophomore, mark the "Some college credit, but less than 1 year of college credit" box.

For the "Professional degree beyond a bachelor's degree" category, do not include certificates or diplomas for training in specific trades or occupations, such as computer and electronics technology, medical assistant, or cosmetology. DO NOT include post-bachelor's certificates that are related to occupational training in such fields as teaching, accounting, or engineering.

- 11. Answer this question only if you have a bachelor's degree or higher and print the specific major of your BACHELOR'S DEGREE. If you have more than one bachelor's degree or more than one major, print the names of the specific majors for all of your bachelor's degree(s).
- 12. Print your ancestry group(s). Ancestry refers to your ethnic origin or descent, "roots," or heritage. Ancestry may also refer to your country of birth or that of your parents or ancestors before their arrival in Puerto Rico. This question should be answered by all individuals, regardless of race, Hispanic origin, or place of birth.

Do not report a religious group as your ancestry.

You may report two ancestry groups (for example: German, Irish).

- 13a. Mark the "Yes" box if you sometimes or always speak a language other than English at home.

Mark the "No" box if you speak only English, or if a non-English language is spoken only at school or is limited to a few expressions or slang.

- 13b. If you speak more than one non-English language and cannot determine which is spoken more often, report the one you first learned to speak.

- 14a. If you did not live in Puerto Rico or the United States one year ago, mark the "No, outside Puerto Rico and the United States" box and print the name of the foreign country, or U.S. Virgin Islands, or Guam, etc., where you lived. Be specific when printing the name of the foreign country; for example, Czech Republic or Slovakia, not Czechoslovakia; North or South Korea, not Korea. Specify the particular country, not region. For example, specify Jamaica, not West Indies; Kenya, not East Africa. Then SKIP to question 15.

If you lived somewhere else in Puerto Rico or the United States one year ago, mark the "No, at a different address in the United States or Puerto Rico" box.

- 14b. Include the house or structure number; street name; street type (for example, St., Road, Ave.); and the street direction (if a direction such as "North" is part of the address). For example, print 1239 N. Main St. or 1239 Main St., N.W., not just 1239 Main. If you lived in Puerto Rico, the address should also include the name of the development or building.

*If the only known address is a post office box, give a description of the location. For example, print the name of the building where you lived, the nearest intersection, the name of a military base or installation, or the nearest street where the building is located, etc. DO NOT give a post office box number.

Print the name of municipio in Puerto Rico or U.S. county. If you lived in Louisiana, print the parish name in the "Name of municipio in Puerto Rico or U.S. county" space. If you lived in Alaska, print the borough or census area name, if known. If you lived in New York City and the county name is not known, print the borough name. If you lived in an independent city (not in any county) or in Washington, D.C., leave the "Name of municipio in Puerto Rico or U.S. county" space blank.

- 15. If you received benefits from the government to buy food using a benefit card, mark the "Yes" box.
- 16. Mark the "Yes" or "No" box for each part of question 16.

If you report any other type of coverage plan in question 16h, specify the type of coverage or name of the plan in the write-in box. DO NOT include plans that cover only one type of health care (such as dental plans) or plans that only cover a person in case of an accident or disability.

If you have more than one type of health insurance, answer these questions while thinking about your primary health insurance.

Answer questions 19a through 19c if you are 5 years old or over.

Mark the "Yes" or "No" box to indicate if you have serious difficulty with any of the activities listed in parts a, b, and c because of a physical, mental, or emotional condition.

Answer questions 20 through 44 if you are 15 years old or over.

- 21. Mark the "Now married" box if you are married regardless of whether you are living with your spouse, unless you are separated. If your only marriage was annulled, mark the "Never married" box. Mark the "Divorced" box only if you have received a divorce decree.
- 22. Mark the "Yes" box only if you have received a divorce decree in the PAST 12 MONTHS.
- 23. Do not count marriages that ended in annulment.
- 24. Enter the four-digit year when you last got married, even if you are now widowed, divorced, or separated.

Answer question 25 if you are female and 15–50 years old.

- 25. Mark the "Yes" box if you have given birth in the PAST 12 MONTHS to at least one child born alive, even if the child died or no longer lives with you. Do not consider miscarriages, or stillborn children, or any adopted, foster, or stepchildren.
- 27. Active duty means full-time service as a member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or as a commissioned officer of the Public Health Service or the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, or its predecessors, the Coast and Geodetic Survey or Environmental Science Service Administration. Active duty does not include active duty for training. Active duty also applies to cadets attending one of the five United States Military Service Academies. For service in the military Reserves or National Guard, mark the "Only on active duty for training in the Reserves or National Guard" box if you have never been called up for active duty, mobilized, or deployed. For service only as a civilian employee or civilian volunteer for the Red Cross, USO, Public Health Service, or War or Defense Department, mark the "Never served in the military" box. For Merchant Marine service, count only the service during World War II as active duty and no other period of service.
- 28. Mark as many responses as apply.

Sus Respuestas son Confidenciales y Requeridas por Ley

La Oficina del Censo de los EE. UU. está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial su información. A la Oficina del Censo no se le permite divulgar sus respuestas de manera que usted pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, sus datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten su información.

La misma ley que protege la confidencialidad de sus respuestas requiere que usted provea la información que se le pide según su mejor conocimiento.

De Qué Trata la Encuesta - Algunas Preguntas y Respuestas

La Oficina del Censo está llevando a cabo la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico para proveer datos más actualizados que los que generalmente se recopilan sólo una vez cada 10 años durante el censo decenal.

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico será la fuente de datos resumidos que ponemos a la disponibilidad del público y del gobierno federal, el gobierno de Puerto Rico y los gobiernos locales. Los datos ayudarán a los líderes de su comunidad en el gobierno, negocios y organizaciones sin fines de lucro a planear eficazmente.

Cada año, se seleccionan al azar las instalaciones de alojamientos de grupo (GQ) basada en una lista de muestra de todos los alojamientos de grupo de su área. Mientras más grande es el alojamiento de grupo, mayor es la probabilidad de ser seleccionado para participar en la encuesta una o más veces cada año. La persona contacto del GQ suministra una lista de todos los residentes que se quedan actualmente en el GQ. De esta lista, los representantes del Censo seleccionan residentes al azar para participar en esta encuesta. Una de las ventajas de la muestra al azar es que nos permite medir la población total sin tener que entrevistar a cada persona en cada GQ. Para que esto funcione, no podemos sustituir instalaciones o a individuos en la muestra; la muestra tiene que ser verdaderamente al azar. Su participación es muy importante para nosotros, porque nos permite producir información precisa de esta encuesta.

Por Qué la Oficina del Censo Hace Ciertas Preguntas

A continuación se indican las razones por las cuales hacemos algunas de las preguntas en la encuesta.

Nombre

Los nombres ayudan a asegurar que las personas seleccionadas en este lugar para la encuesta no se listen dos veces. Las identidades de los individuos se mantienen confidenciales.

Lugar de nacimiento

Empleo

Las respuestas a las preguntas sobre el empleo de las personas proveen información sobre la variedad y los tipos de empleo en las diferentes áreas del país. Utilizando esta información, las comunidades pueden desarrollar programas de entrenamiento, y los negocios y gobiernos locales pueden determinar la necesidad de nuevas oportunidades de empleo.

Ingreso

El ingreso ayuda a determinar cuán bien viven las familias o las personas. La información sobre ingreso hace posible comparar los niveles económicos de diferentes áreas y cómo los niveles económicos de una comunidad cambian a través del tiempo. Los fondos para muchos programas gubernamentales se basan en las respuestas a estas preguntas.

Educación

Las respuestas a las preguntas sobre educación en la encuesta ayudan a determinar el número de escuelas públicas, programas de educación y servicios de cuidado diurno nuevos que se requieren en una comunidad.

Impedimentos

Las preguntas sobre impedimentos proveen los medios de asignar fondos federales para servicios de salud y nuevos hospitales en muchas comunidades.

The Puerto Rico Community Survey

Group Quarters

What is the Puerto Rico Community Survey?

The Puerto Rico Community Survey is part of the decennial census program. It is a survey that collects and produces statistical information about the current social, economic, and housing characteristics of Puerto Rico. The Puerto Rico Community Survey provides this information each year. Previously, this information was available only once every 10 years when the U.S. Census Bureau conducted the decennial census.

Do the sampled group quarters and individuals have to answer the questions on the Puerto Rico Community Survey?

Yes. Your facility participation and your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193, and 221). The Census Bureau estimates the survey will take about 25 minutes to complete. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to: Paperwork Reduction Project, U.S. Census Bureau, 4600 Silver Hill Road, ADDC-4H277, Washington, DC 20233. You may e-mail comments to aco.pra@census.gov; use "Paperwork Project" as the subject.

The U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey and gave it OMB approval No. 0607-0810. Displaying this number shows that the Census Bureau is authorized to conduct this survey. Please use this number in any correspondence concerning this survey. Respondents are not required to respond to any information collection unless it displays a valid approval number from the OMB.

Do I have to answer these questions every year?

A random sample of group quarters (GQ) facilities in Puerto Rico and a random sample of the people staying at these sampled facilities are selected each year to participate in the Puerto Rico Community Survey. You will not be asked to complete the Puerto Rico Community Survey GQ questionnaire every year. You will be asked to complete the survey information only when you are randomly selected from all people staying at a sampled GQ. It is important that each sampled person respond to this mandatory survey so that the Census Bureau can produce characteristics about the GQ populations in your community and in Puerto Rico each year.

Why did you select this group quarters facility, and how did I get selected?

This GQ was selected from a sample of all GQs in your area. The GQ and individuals are randomly selected from this list each year, so we cannot substitute another GQ for this one. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every person at every GQ. But in order for it to work, we cannot substitute sampled facilities or individuals; the sample has to be truly random. Your participation is very important if we're going to be able to produce accurate statistics from this survey.

How will the Census Bureau use the information that I provide?

By law, the Census Bureau can only use your responses to produce statistics. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, your data are protected from cybersecurity risks through screening of the systems that transmit your data. The Census Bureau will also use this information to improve the Puerto Rico Community Survey, ultimately resulting in even better data for your community and the nation.

How do I benefit by answering the Puerto Rico Community Survey?

Federal agencies and communities in Puerto Rico say that they do not have the up-to-date information they need to better understand community issues, respond to needs, and allocate programs and resources. As one community leader stated, "Guessing is always fun, but seldom effective."

By responding to the Puerto Rico Community Survey questionnaire, you are helping your community establish community goals, identify community problems and solutions, locate facilities and programs, and measure the performance of programs.

The Puerto Rico Community Survey estimates are used by:

- Local governments for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects.
- Community programs, such as those for the elderly, scouts, libraries, banks, hospitals, and other community organizations to provide services to the community and to locate buildings, services, and programs.
- Transportation planners who use journey-to-work information when deciding to build new roads or add capacity to existing roads and to develop transit systems, such as light rail or subways, by projecting future ridership.

When will the results of the survey be available?

The previous years' results of the Puerto Rico Community Survey are released every Fall. Survey estimates are released each year for areas of 65,000 or more people. For smaller areas, results are available in the form of 3-year and 5-year estimates.

Will the Census Bureau keep my information confidential?

Yes. Your answers are confidential by law under Title 13, United States Code, Section 9. This law specifies that the Census Bureau can use the information provided by the facility and residents for statistical purposes only and cannot publish or release information that would identify any group quarters or individual.

Where can I get assistance or find more information about the Puerto Rico Community Survey?

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico

Alojamientos de Grupo

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico es parte del Programa del Censo Decenal del 2010. Es una encuesta que recopila y produce información estadística acerca de las características sociales, económicas y de vivienda actuales de Puerto Rico. La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico proporciona esta información cada año. Previamente, esta información estaba disponible únicamente una vez cada 10 años, cuando la Oficina del Censo de los Estados Unidos realizaba el censo decenal.

¿Tienen los Alojamientos de Grupo (GQ) y las personas en la muestra que contestar las preguntas que se hacen en la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico?

Sí. La ley requiere la participación de su institución y su respuesta a esta encuesta (secciones 141, 193 y 221 del título 13 del Código de los Estados Unidos). La Oficina del Censo calcula que tomará aproximadamente 25 minutos completar la encuesta. Envíe comentarios sobre el estimado de tiempo o cualquier otro aspecto relacionado con la recopilación de esta información a: Paperwork Reduction Project, U.S. Census Bureau, 4600 Silver Hill Road, ADDC-4H277, Washington, DC 20233. Usted puede enviar sus comentarios por correo electrónico a acso.pra@census.gov; use "Paperwork Project" como el tema.

La Oficina de Administración y Presupuesto (OMB) de los Estados Unidos aprobó esta encuesta y le asignó el número de aprobación de OMB Número 0607-0810. Al mostrar este número se indica que la Oficina del Censo está autorizado para llevar a cabo esta encuesta. Por favor, use este número en cualquier correspondencia relacionada con esta encuesta. No se requiere que las personas respondan a ninguna recopilación de información a menos que ésta tenga un número de aprobación válido de la Oficina de Administración y Presupuesto (OMB).

Cada año se selecciona una muestra al azar de las instalaciones de GQ en Puerto Rico y una muestra al azar de las personas que se quedan en las instalaciones seleccionadas para que participen en la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico. No se le pedirá que complete el cuestionario de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico cada año. Se le pedirá que complete la información de la encuesta sólo cuando sea seleccionado al azar entre todas las personas que se quedan en el alojamiento de grupo seleccionado. Es importante que cada persona en la muestra responda a esta encuesta obligatoria para que la Oficina del Censo pueda producir características de la población de los GQ en su comunidad y en Puerto Rico cada año.

Este GQ fue seleccionado de una muestra de todos los GQ en su área. Los GQ y las personas se seleccionan al azar cada año de esta lista. Por esta razón no podemos sustituir otro GQ por éste. Una de las ventajas de una selección al azar es que podemos usarla para medir toda la población sin tener que entrevistar a cada persona en cada GQ. Para que esto funcione, no podemos sustituir instalaciones o a individuos en la muestra; la muestra tiene que ser verdaderamente al azar. Su participación es muy importante si vamos a producir estadísticas precisas de esta encuesta.

¿Cómo utilizará la Oficina del Censo la información que les doy?

Por ley, la Oficina del Censo solamente puede usar las respuestas para producir estadísticas. La Oficina del Censo de los EE. UU. está obligada por ley a mantener confidencial la información. A la Oficina del Censo no se le permite divulgar las respuestas de manera que un individuo pudiera ser identificado. En conformidad con la Ley para el Fortalecimiento de la Seguridad Cibernética Federal del 2015, los datos están protegidos contra los riesgos de seguridad cibernética mediante los controles aplicados a los sistemas que transmiten la información.

Las agencias federales, Puerto Rico y las comunidades indican que no tienen la información actualizada que necesitan para entender mejor los asuntos comunitarios, responder a las necesidades y asignar programas y recursos. Como indicó un líder comunitario, "adivinar es divertido, pero rara vez efectivo".

Al contestar el cuestionario de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico, usted está ayudando a su comunidad a establecer metas para la comunidad, identificar problemas de la comunidad y soluciones, establecer instalaciones y programas y evaluar el funcionamiento de programas. Los estimados de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico los usan:

- Gobiernos locales para preparar presupuestos, evaluar programas y planificar proyectos de desarrollo comunitario.
- Programas comunitarios, tales como para las personas de edad avanzada, para niños y niñas escuchas, bibliotecas, bancos, hospitales, y otras organizaciones comunitarias para proveer servicios a la comunidad y para planificar o establecer edificios, servicios y programas.
- Planificadores de transportación usan la información sobre viaje al trabajo para proyectar el número de pasajeros y así tomar decisiones de construir nuevas carreteras o ensanchar carreteras existentes, y para desarrollar sistemas de tránsito, tales como trenes livianos o subterráneos.

¿Cuándo estarán disponibles los resultados de la encuesta?

Los resultados del año anterior de la Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico se publican cada año entre agosto y noviembre. Los estimados de la encuesta se publican cada año para áreas con 65,000 personas o más. Para áreas más pequeñas, los resultados están disponibles en forma de estimados de 3 años y de 5 años.

Sí. La sección 9 del título 13 del Código de los Estados Unidos estipula que sus respuestas son confidenciales. Esta ley específica que la Oficina del Censo puede usar la información provista por la facilidad y los residentes para propósitos estadísticos solamente no puede publicar o divulgar información que pueda identificar algún alojamiento de grupo o individuo.

What is the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey is a survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau in every county, American Indian and Alaska Native Area, and Hawaiian Home Land. It replaced the long form in the decennial census and greatly simplified operations so that the focus of the decennial census is solely on counting the population.

The American Community Survey provides current demographic, social, economic, and housing characteristics every year. In the past, this information was only available every 10 years when the decennial census was conducted. Estimates from the American Community Survey help communities make informed decisions and is key to their future.

The American Community Survey does not count the population, but it does provide information that reflects what the population looks like and how it lives. That information is vital for states and local communities in determining how to plan for schools, roads, senior citizen centers, and other goods and services.

The U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey and gave is OMB approval No. 0607-0810. Please use this number in any correspondence concerning this survey. Respondents are not required to respond to any information collection unless it displays a valid approval number from O

How do I benefit by answering the American Community Survey?

Federal agencies, states, and communities say that they do not have the up-to-date information they need to better understand community issues, respond to needs, and allocate programs and resources.

By responding to the American Community Survey questionnaire, you are helping your community establish community goals, identify community problems and solutions, locate facilities and programs, and measure the performance of programs.

The American Community Survey data are used by:

- Local governments for budgeting, evaluating programs, and planning for community development projects;
- Community programs, such as those for the elderly, scout programs, libraries, banks, hospitals, and other community organizations, to provide services to the community and to locate buildings, services, and programs; and
- Transportation planners use journey to work information to make decisions to build new roads or add capacity to existing roads; and to develop transit systems, such as light rail or subways by projecting future ridership.

Yes, your response to this survey is required by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 141, 193 and 221). Title 13 as changed by Title 18, imposes a penalty for not responding. The survey is approved by the Office of Management and Budget. Why did you select this facility and how did I get selected?

This GQ was selected from a sample of all GQs in your area. The GQ and individuals are randomly selected from this list each year, so we can not substitute another GQ for this one. One of the advantages of a random sample is that we can use it to measure the whole population without having to actually interview every person at every GQ. But in order for it to work, we cannot substitute sampled facilities or individuals – the sample has to be truly random. Your participation is very important if we're going to be able to produce accurate statistics from this survey.

RE: Comments on The American Community Survey

Dear Ms. Jessup,

On behalf of the Arab American Institute (AAI), we are pleased to provide comments in response to the Federal Register notice (the "Notice"). The Notice asks for comments on three issue areas important to Arab Americans and other communities across the country: changing the race and ethnicity question to match the 2020 Census, the reliance on technology in filling out the American Community Survey (ACS), and ways to generally minimize the burden on respondents while maintaining the integrity of the data.

As an organization, AAI seeks to nurture and encourage the direct participation of Arab Americans in political and civic life in the United States. AAI represents the policy and community interests of Arab Americans and strives to promote Arab American participation in the U.S. electoral system. Serving as a central resource to policy makers, the media, political leaders, and community groups on a variety of public policy issues that concern Arab Americans, AAI has been engaged in support of an accurate census count since its founding in 1985. AAI currently hosts the only Census Information Center tasked with dissemination of data about Arab Americans. We have been actively working with the Census Bureau (the Bureau), coalition groups, and a working group that we co-founded and lead, in preparation for the 2020 Census. It has been of mutual interest for AAI and the Bureau to find the best way to ensure a fair and accurate count for Arab Americans and other MENA populations for the upcoming Census.

AAI views the ACS as an important part of maintaining accurate data on Arab Americans. Considering the decennial is every 10 years, the ACS provides more timely insight and updated data that can be used to understand various communities in the United States. Further, given the ACS asks questions not on the decennial census, for many, including Arab Americans. It is the only source of data about our communities.

To improve the quality of the data on the ACS, AAI would urge the Bureau to include the tested combined question format, which would result in the implementation of the MENA category.

The combined question format was introduced with the intention of providing more granular and accurate data across all racial and ethnic groups. Research done by the Bureau found that “the strategy to combine the race and Hispanic origin questions into one item resulted in dramatically lower item nonresponse compared to the separate race and Hispanic origin questions.”¹ The addition of the combined question allows for granular data about race and ethnicity in the United States while increasing the likelihood of valid responses on the form because of the plurality of options presented to individuals across the country. The 2015 National Content Test: Race and Ethnicity Analysis Report showed that the combined question format allowed for reliability in responses and allowed for diversity in responses by individuals who identify with more than one race or ethnicity.² It is within this combined question format that a MENA category could be included to ensure a more accurate count.

AAI supports the inclusion of a distinct MENA category, as the Arab American community, one of several benefiting from the addition of a MENA category, has long suffered from a census undercount. This undercounting of members of our community has resulted in a lack of data to accurately assess community needs, possible denial of government services, and the potential of political underrepresentation. The lack of access to basic services and rights can range from language assistance at polling places to greater access to health information and research. During the 1997 review of federal standards to measure race and ethnicity in the United States, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) concluded that further research was needed on an Arab or Middle Eastern ethnic category.³ Since then, AAI has been working closely with the Bureau to explore ways to better reach, enumerate, and study these growing and complex population groups. It was field testing done on the National Content Test that showed the benefits of adding a MENA category in efforts to get more accurate census data.⁴ As it currently stands the Arab American community is severely undercounted. Federal statistics estimate there are 1.96 million Arab Americans living in the United States, a gross underestimate of the community. Research done by AAI suggests a more accurate estimate is around 3.66 million Arab Americans.⁵

While it was reassuring that research from the Bureau supported the addition of a MENA category to address an undercount, AAI was not provided with a credible rationale as to why the category was not being implemented for 2020, contrary to prior planning and testing. Through a request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, AAI obtained documents from OMB, yet none of the documents provide an explanation for the MENA category's omission. The omission of the MENA category, which was tested and proven to be beneficial to ensure an accurate count, generates concern among stakeholders, who do not understand why the Bureau is not moving forward with a tested category that would improve the count. Though the MENA category might not be included on the decennial Census, AAI still finds that this addition would lead to much more accurate data, more accurate than that was obtained during the Census enumeration.

Since the Bureau did not move forward with the addition of the MENA category, the ACS is the only place that Arab Americans and other communities within the MENA designation would be able to get data on our communities. As it currently stands, the ACS is the only way that Arab Americans are able to get any understanding of the increase in population, the diversity within the community, and the growth of the population. Through the ACS we are able to get a snapshot of various aspects of parts of the Arab American community—from levels of educational attainment, employment, and income levels we are able to see how to better inform our efforts to assist all Arab Americans in their daily lives. Data attained by the ACS gives us the only insight into the diversity of the Arab American community, their needs, and the growth patterns of the community. It is vital to organizations like AAI who rely on the ACS to get better quality data about the community to ensure that the ACS continues to ask and collect data on ancestry that is then made available to the public through data tools like American Fact Finder.

As a community-based organization with a long-held vested interest in accurate federal data, we are troubled by the various ways that this data has been put at stake for our community. Actions that compromise the accurate, constitutionally mandated collection of data will harm communities across the country, including Arab Americans. It is imperative that federal officials act at this time to (1) add a MENA category, (2) continue asking about ancestry and (3) work to ensure the integrity of Census Bureau data and ensure all people are counted. These recommendations will uphold the commitment of the Census Bureau to gather accurate data that can be used as a snapshot for the larger American public through the American Community Survey.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the upcoming Census and for taking these concerns seriously. If you have any further questions about the comments provided here, please feel free to contact Suher Adi at 202-429-9210 or sadi@aaiusa.org.

no way shoudl this survey be done the same year as a ten year census. of course it is confusing. the information is not that necessary that you need to hit the american citizenry with two huge surveys in one year. this needs to be held off for 3 years or 2 year, bu ttnot in the same year. there is no need for this to happen in teh same years. put it off. use your sense so that you do get information. this comment is for th eupbiloc record. please receipt. jean publiee jean public1@yahoo.com

Dear Ms. Jessup:

On behalf of NALEO Educational Fund, I write to comment upon the Census Bureau's Federal Register Notice, published at 83 FR 52189, concerning proposed changes to the 2020 American Community Survey (ACS) form and instructions (Docket No. USBC-2018-0014).

NALEO Educational Fund and our members rely upon ACS data in our efforts to increase civic engagement and manage government resources responsibly. Accuracy of these data is critical, and we applaud the Bureau's continual pursuit of improvement. We are pleased that the Bureau proposes innovations to improve the quantity and quality of ACS responses. However, we are extremely dismayed by the failure of President Donald Trump's Administration to update the Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) 1997 Standards for Maintaining, Collecting, and Presenting Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity, which has in turn prevented the Bureau from updating its race and Hispanic origin questions to a format its own research shows obtains more complete and accurate responses. We urge the Bureau to continue to convey to OMB its strong support for a revision of the 1997 Standards, and to make other changes to improve the quality of data it collects on race and Hispanic origin. In addition, we are concerned that planned enhancements to outreach, education, and enumeration methods will not go far enough in reversing downward-trending ACS response rates.

In addition, we recommend that:

- 1) The 2020 ACS mailed materials incorporate new messaging and multilingual items to increase their effectiveness.
- 2) The Bureau strive for personal contact between enumerators and ACS respondents who live in hard-to-count communities without mail delivery.

NALEO Educational Fund is the nation's leading nonprofit organization that facilitates the full participation of Latinos in the American political process, from citizenship to public service. Our Board members and constituency encompass the nation's more than 6,600 Latino elected and appointed officials, and include Republicans, Democrats and Independents. NALEO Educational Fund is a national leader in Census outreach, community education and policy development. Since the 1990 Census, our organization has conducted outreach campaigns to promote the full and accurate count of the Latino community. Together with Spanish-language media and national organization partners, we helped coordinate the multi-media ya es hora:

¡HAGASE CONTAR! (“It’s time: Make Yourself Count!”) effort in 2010, which included partnerships with a broad network of local organizations; the dissemination of community education materials; a toll-free Census information hotline staffed by bilingual operators; technical assistance for community groups; and direct assistance to Latino residents with completing Census forms.

NALEO Educational Fund also has decades of experience working closely with its Latino elected official constituency, other government officials and partner organizations to promote public policies to achieve the most accurate count possible of the nation’s population. NALEO Educational Fund has been a member of the U.S. Census Bureau’s national advisory committees since 2000, and currently sits on the Bureau’s National Advisory Committee on Racial, Ethnic and Other Populations. NALEO Educational Fund is also the co-chair of the Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights’ Census Task Force, and of the National Hispanic Leadership Agenda’s Census Task Force.

The Bureau Must Modernize the ACS to Capture More Accurate Data about Young Children and Race and Ethnicity

ACS data must be as accurate as possible, since they are used in the public and private sector for decisions that affect virtually all aspects of the lives of our nation’s residents. They guide several aspects of the collection of decennial Census data, which in turn determine the apportionment of representation, and they drive civil rights enforcement, fair redistricting and other fundamental efforts that advance our prosperity and security. To achieve the best possible results, the Census Bureau must update questionnaires and materials regularly to adapt to continually evolving culture and infrastructure. We strongly support the Bureau’s ongoing analysis and implementation of improved language and data collection methods. Its efforts have revealed problems that significantly diminish the quality of data about Latinos in the United States, as well as potential solutions.

The Census Bureau should determine whether the updated language actually reduces the undercount of young children by race, Hispanic origin, national origin, or linguistic ability. The persistent undercount of the youngest children, especially Latino children aged zero to four, has long diminished the usefulness of Census data. In 2010, the Census Bureau missed young children at a higher rate than any other age group. Although just 16.3 percent of the population identified as Latino in 2010, more than 36 percent of uncounted young children were Latino. Research suggests that the reasons include the fact that Latino children are disproportionately likely to live in households that are hard to count. In addition, parents of the youngest Latino children appear more likely than counterparts to mistakenly believe that they should not list children on Census forms.

We are heartened by the planned update to 2020 ACS instructions for reporting babies’ ages, in anticipation that it will draw respondents’ attention to the matter and increase their likelihood of listing every child in the household regardless of age. To improve its count of young children, the Bureau must also enhance messaging and methods to raise response rates in hard to count communities, in ways that we discuss below. As it analyzes results of the 2020 ACS, we urge the Bureau to examine whether updated question formats and instructions correlate to an overall amelioration of the undercount of young children, and in particular, to improvement in reporting by parents and guardians who are Latino, who were born outside the United States, and who are not fluent in English.

The Bureau should continue research around race and ethnicity questions, and advocate completion of OMB's review of the 1997 Standards for Maintaining, Collecting, and Presenting Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity. We are extremely concerned about the negative consequences of the proposed replication on the 2020 ACS of the decennial Census's separate questions about race and Hispanic origin. The proposed questions omit modifications that research has proven would increase the quality and detail of data about Latinos. We urge the Bureau to work with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to conclude the Interagency Working Group (IWG) review of its Standards for Maintaining, Collecting, and Presenting Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity that commenced in 2014. When the Standards are modernized, the Bureau should combine race and Hispanic origin queries into one question; add the option to indicate Middle Eastern/North African identity; and invite Latino respondents to report either one or multiple Latino national origins.

The race and Hispanic origin questions the Bureau will include in the 2020 ACS produce extremely high rates of nonresponse and inconclusive response. The Census Bureau's experiences fielding surveys using a "two separate question" format enshrined in OMB's Standards, and the Bureau's extensive research on alternative formats, motivated OMB to assemble a Working Group to recommend updates to the document, which the agency last revised in 1997. The Bureau has recognized a growing mismatch between the answer options for the race question and the ways that Latinos express their racial and ethnic background. Latinos persistently account for majorities of respondents who do not self-identify in any defined racial category. In the 2010 Census more than 43% of Latinos chose "Some other race" or did not answer the race question at all. Of those who chose "Some other race" and wrote in the race with which they identified, an overwhelming majority answered "Mexican," "Hispanic," "Latin American," or "Puerto Rican," thus demonstrating that they identified only with an "ethnic" group and not with any OMB-recognized "race." The prevalence of Latino nonresponse to the race question presents a major challenge for the consistency of Census data with 1997 Standards, and therefore with data compiled by other federal agencies, because OMB's standard race categories do not include "Some other race." The problem is likely to get worse: the Bureau has projected that "Some other race" will likely become the second-most widely reported race in 2020.

OMB's review process also investigated methods of collecting more accurate data about national origins and sub-groups. The agency sought feedback about the 2010 Census's failure to request, accept, or report on Latino respondents' multiple national origins, which resulted in the loss of detailed information about Latino identities. For example, in response to a differently formatted Hispanic origin question on the 2000 decennial Census, more than 260,000 respondents attempted to report multiple Latino national origins. In 2000, Census participants under the age of 35 were most likely to report multiple Latino national origins, portending future increases in the percentages of Latinos who would so identify.

Adoption of a single, combined race and ethnicity question—including a MENA category and instruction to Latinos to report multiple national origin—would powerfully strengthen Census data. The Census Bureau's extensive testing has repeatedly achieved lower nonresponse rates to a combined question than to separate race and Hispanic origin questions, regardless of the language or medium used. “Some other race” responses also declined dramatically when the Bureau substituted a combined question for separate race and Hispanic origin questions. Latino respondents were more likely to convey their Latino ethnicity on a survey with a single combined race and Hispanic origin question. Moreover, when checkboxes and optional write-in areas immediately followed broad race and Hispanic origin categories, a combined question was as effective as separate questions in prompting Latinos and other survey respondents to detail their national origins and ethnicities.

Use of a combined question format in test surveys has not lost any necessary data that would have been collected with separate questions. For example, the Census Bureau found no statistically significant differences in the rates at which respondents indicated Afro-Latino identity, whether they were responding to separate or combined questions. Similarly, the percentages of people who self-identified as both Latino and White in a combined question— about 15% of all Latinos—were consistent with the percentages of Latinos who affirmed their White identity in post-survey interviews.

The Bureau’s research also shows that people of Middle Eastern and North African descent use and feel better represented by a MENA response option. Across race and ethnicity categories, the racial and ethnic identities respondents described in post-survey interviews were more consistent with their answers to combined than to separate questions about race and ethnicity.

OMB mishandled and frustrated review of race and ethnicity data standards in 2017 and 2018. The IWG reviewed pertinent research and issued two Federal Register notices seeking comment in 2016 and 2017, as well as an Interim Report in 2017. In these publications, it indicated interest in recommending a single, combined question about race and ethnicity, and endorsement of the inclusion of a Middle Eastern/North African reporting option. In March 2017, the IWG said it would announce final decisions by mid-2017. However, OMB did not release any subsequent publications, explanations, or other final decisions during calendar years 2017 or 2018. Nor has OMB justified its silence publically. The review process begun in 2014 appears dormant or ended with no formal statement. Meanwhile, the Census Bureau has reverted to the planned use in 2020 of now-outdated separate questions on race and Hispanic origin. The final proposed questions ignore the Bureau’s and Census stakeholders’ recommendations that respondents have the option of indicating Middle Eastern/North African identity and of choosing multiple Latino national origins.

The Commerce Department exacerbated a bad situation by further restricting the Census Bureau’s effort to improve race and Hispanic origin data collection. In January 2018, the Census Bureau announced that the 2018 End-to-End decennial Census test would tell respondents who self-identified as Latino to choose one or more national origins or subgroups associated with Latino identity. Stakeholders understood that the Bureau would use the same Hispanic origin question format on the 2020 decennial and ACS questionnaires. But instead, the Census Bureau subsequently promulgated a version that omits any instruction about how many national origin choices Latino respondents can or should make. The agency also said it would not publish any decennial Census data reflecting Latino respondents' multiple national origins. The Bureau explained to stakeholders that the Department of Commerce had vetoed instructions to mark more than one response over concern that that direction might produce responses not compliant with the 1997 Standards.

The Bureau erred by failing to timely inform the public of this change in the intervening months between finalization of the 2018 questionnaire and submission to Congress of the 2020 decennial and ACS questionnaires. Any such sudden shifts in the Bureau's and OMB's positions on race and ethnicity data collection risk confusing key stakeholders, and causing them to give survey respondents bad advice.

Federal agencies have not yet resolved the serious problems resulting from use of outdated race and Hispanic origin question formats. The Census Bureau cannot end its efforts to improve the rate and quality of responses to race and ethnicity questions. Large and growing mismatches remain between the terms Americans use to describe their identities and the choices offered on the ACS questionnaire, and the absence from the present Notice of proposed innovations that redress them will result in second-rate ACS data that could cause the failure of critical community development or civil rights enforcement projects. Moreover, the Bureau will have to spend its limited resources to reclassify a higher volume of "some other race" responses to the 2020 ACS than it would have had to contend with if OMB had heeded its advice and updated the 1997 Standards to allow for a combined race and Hispanic origin question.

Although the Census Bureau has already expended years and many millions of dollars validating improvements to race and Hispanic origin questions, it must continue this crucially important work in the coming years, particularly in light of other federal agencies' recalcitrance. We strongly urge the Bureau to plan more content tests that compare results obtained with varying race and ethnicity question formats, including a combined question with a MENA category and the option for respondents of any race or ethnicity to claim multiple national origins. Additionally, as the nation's premier statistical agency charged with the most monumental surveying project in the United States – the decennial Census – the Census Bureau is a preeminent authority in all aspects of public data collection. Its recommendations to modernize the Hispanic origin and race questions should be accorded great weight. The Bureau should continue to convey to OMB its strong support for a revision of the 1997 Standards that would permit it to adopt a combined race and ethnicity question with expanded answer choices.

The Bureau should add examples or instructions to help Latinos understand how to complete subgroup boxes below major racial categories. Finally, we urge the Bureau to add language to the 2020 ACS questionnaire or instructions to clarify that Latinos who select "White" or "Black or African American" as their race should write in national origins under those categories. Without more explicit instruction, Latino respondents may not provide the answers to these questions that the Census Bureau seeks. The Bureau has not previously offered the option to report national origins under White and African American checkboxes. In addition, the format of these new response options differs from the format of responses to the Hispanic origin question: "White" and "Black or African American" choices are followed by lists of examples and an empty write-in box, while the Hispanic origin question provides several specific choices next to checkboxes, followed by an empty write-in box. Moreover, neither "White" nor "Black or African American" illustrative examples include any national origins or subgroups commonly associated with Latino identity, such as "Spanish" corresponding to "White," or "Dominican" or "Cuban" corresponding to Black or African American. As a result, Latino respondents in particular may not notice or understand the request to provide more detail. The Bureau would likely improve racial subgroup reporting by Latino ACS respondents if, for example, it added pertinent examples of White and Black or African American national origins to question instructions, or incorporated pop-up instructions into its internet-based survey to tell respondents that they may identify with the same or multiple national origins under both race and ethnicity questions.

The Census Bureau Must Apply Lessons from Decennial Census Preparation to Outreach around the ACS

If they are to be valid and useable, Census data must build on robust participation across geographic and socioeconomic boundaries. In particular, the Census Bureau must ensure a full and accurate count of the Latino community. The nation's 57 million Latinos are the country's second largest population group, and more than one of every six of the nation's residents is Latino. The Latino share of the nation's population is projected to rise in the coming decades. However, contemporaneously rising non-response rates and suspicion of government threaten the Census Bureau's success in counting this growing community and all Americans accurately. For example, between 1970 and 1990, the decennial Census mail response rate fell by more than 10 percentage points; the share of Americans who voluntarily returned a Census form declined to a new low of 63.5 percent in 2010. In addition, Latinos and members of other historically undercounted communities have skipped particular parts of questionnaires – such as the race question – in increasing numbers during these decades.

The Census Bureau will face significant challenges in 2020 because members of immigrant households and communities are more reluctant to interact with government since President Donald Trump's Administration altered immigration enforcement priorities, and moved to accelerate deportations. Census Bureau representatives have already reported widespread and unprecedented fear among respondents to its surveys; they are reluctant to participate fully and provide accurate information. Additionally, the Secretary of Commerce's decision to add an unwarranted and untested citizenship question to Census 2020 has exacerbated this fear¹, and five Bureau economists found evidence suggesting that a citizenship question in Census 2020 would lead to lower response rates, resulting in lower-quality data. NALEO Educational Fund's assessment of the results of the 2018 Census Test in Providence, Rhode Island similarly found widespread consensus that adding a citizenship question to the decennial Census would make residents reluctant to participate in surveys in 2020. In this climate, there is a serious risk that the response rate to the 2020 ACS could be detrimentally affected.

¹ For additional background information, we attach as an Appendix to the present Comments NALEO Educational Fund's comments on the proposed 2020 decennial Census form and operational plans.

Moreover, broad groups of U.S. residents have become increasingly wary of providing information to the government as awareness has spread of the theft of large amounts of personal data from federal databases. In light of these barriers to securing participation in Census data collection, the Bureau must strive to gain the public's confidence by employing new messages and communicating in-language with as many as possible of those residents not yet fully fluent in English. We applaud the Bureau for its initiative to increase voluntary ACS response in 2020, and recommend that it also enhance its messaging, materials, and enumeration methods to increase hard-to-count residents' participation.

The Bureau should feature messages about safety and confidentiality in ACS mailings, scripts, and other materials. In addition to emphasizing the distinction between the decennial Census and the ACS, and the obligation to answer both, in its materials, the Census Bureau should revise 2020 ACS-related messaging to incorporate lessons learned from the 2018 Census Barriers, Attitudes, and Motivators Survey (CBAMS) and related communications efforts. This most recent CBAMS revealed a significant drop between 2008 and 2018 – nearly 20 percentage points – in the number of respondents who said they would likely participate in the 2020 Census. Mistrust of the government and fear of the consequences of revealing personal information were, unsurprisingly, prominent reasons for this: 28 percent of 2018 CBAMS participants were “extremely” or “very” concerned that the Census Bureau would not keep their information confidential, while 59 percent said they did not trust the federal government.

Although CBAMS is conducted in preparation for the decennial Census, the challenges it revealed will apply to the task of fielding the ACS in 2020, and its conclusions are similarly useful. When it revises ACS mailings, scripts, and online guides, the Bureau should ensure that they reflect 2018 CBAMS-based recommendations. Preliminarily, those include making more information available about the scope, purpose, and process of enumeration to dispel fears about potential malevolent uses; and engaging trusted voices to promote survey participation. By the second half of calendar year 2019, communications consultants will have developed specific wording and content to address pre-existing suspicions and secure respondents' trust in the Bureau. These tools, too, should be incorporated into 2020 ACS materials.

The Bureau should leverage in-language capacity it has acquired in preparation for the decennial Census to reach more ACS respondents in the languages they understand. Government surveys have persistently undercounted residents who are not fully fluent in English. In part, this phenomenon may be based on fear and misunderstanding of U.S. government: for example, 22 percent of all 2018 CBAMS respondents said they feared that Census responses might be used against them compared to 39 percent of all respondents with low English proficiency. Communication barriers are also a significant contributing factor for many. For example, ACS mailings currently include materials in five languages other than English, but 2017 ACS 5-year data show that there are nearly 5,630,000 U.S. residents aged five or older who do not speak either English or one of these five languages at least very well.

The Census Bureau could and should do more to communicate effectively with ACS respondents who are not fluent in English, because such efforts would target and increase response rates among the hardest-to-count households. At absolute minimum, the Bureau should inform respondent households of the online availability of ACS pamphlets in five additional languages: Portuguese, Arabic, French, Creole, and Polish. For example, it could include a single piece of paper with the third mailing (which contains a paper ACS) that describes the ACS in a couple of sentences and directs people to the place online where they can view existing pamphlets; all of this information must be translated into each of the languages in which further information is electronically available. This could ensure that as many as hundreds of thousands of additional ACS households attain a clear understanding of what the ACS is and why they should respond.

Ideally, the Census Bureau will take advantage of the significant in-language capacity it has built in preparation for the 2020 Census to expand in-language support for ACS respondents. The Bureau should strongly consider equipping operators in its decennial Census call centers to answer questions and refer respondents to additional information about the ACS in-language. This effort would make live assistance available in seven additional languages in which the Bureau does not currently provide interactive answers about the ACS. The Bureau should also consider adding additional short in-language explanations of the ACS, its uses, and associated confidentiality protections to mailings to households that do not self-respond after first or second contact, as well as to its website and online versions of the survey. Calendar year 2019 is an ideal time to undertake these initiatives, because during the course of the year the Census Bureau will build toward its peak linguistic capacity.

The Bureau should conduct advance outreach and utilize update/enumerate rather than update/leave to survey ACS households without mailable addresses. To increase ACS response rates in 2020, the Census Bureau should reconsider its methodology for counting households that do not receive mail delivery. As with respect to its plans to strengthen messages that target ACS respondents, the Bureau should look to its experience during past decennial Censuses for lessons about the most effective means of enumerating isolated and underserved households. As one prominent example of residences that do not receive mail delivery, colonias in southwestern states – informally-constructed housing in areas that often lack infrastructure and services and are unincorporated – should inform the agency’s strategy. For example, a 2003 Bureau report on enumeration in colonias noted relatively high levels of irregular housing (making it potentially difficult for enumerators to determine which structures are used as homes), limited formal education (corresponding to elevated rates of illiteracy and lack of fluency in English), and high incidence of fear of the government.

These common characteristics of households without mail delivery spell the likely failure of ACS enumeration that employs update/leave-type procedures. Census Bureau employees instructed to leave ACS forms at selected homes without seeking any contact with their inhabitants may struggle to identify structures that serve as homes, and to determine where to leave materials to ensure that they will be seen and picked up by residents. If residents find ACS forms and instructions left for them, they may be unable to understand those materials. Moreover, even if respondent households do receive and are able to read ACS packets, they are more likely than counterparts in better-served neighborhoods to decline voluntary participation out of concern about the potential uses of the information requested.

We urge the Census Bureau to instead plan for operations resembling update/enumerate to count 2020 ACS households that do not receive mail delivery. Particularly in 2020 when capacity will be at its peak, enumerators should be preceded by advertising and other outreach that explains the benefits of Census participation and assures respondents that answering is safe. Enumerators may be members of isolated communities themselves, and their prior acquaintance with respondents may also help to earn trust. Generally, linguistically- and culturally-competent enumerators can overcome a range of barriers through in-person contact with ACS subjects: they can give thorough and nuanced answers to concerns, correctly identify households and guide respondents through questionnaires, and obtain responses from people whose inability to read English and other languages might otherwise cause them to ignore Census materials. We strongly believe that enumerators who seek contact on their first visits to ACS households without mail delivery will obtain higher response rates and more complete and accurate information than enumerators who leave behind materials without speaking with residents.

Conclusion

NALEO Educational Fund urges the Census Bureau to expand its efforts in 2020 and beyond to innovate through the vehicle of the ACS. Much progress can and must be made toward ending differential undercounts and increasing response rates to this critical survey. We look forward to supporting the Census Bureau in these efforts. Thank you for your consideration of these comments.

Dear Ms. Jessup:

On behalf of NALEO Educational Fund, thank you for the opportunity to submit the following comments in response to the Census Bureau's Federal Register Notice, published at 83 FR 26643, concerning collection of data through the 2020 Census (Document No. 2018-12365; Docket No. USBC-2018-0005). In summary, we strongly oppose the last-minute addition of an untested citizenship question to Census 2020 because the collection of that information on the decennial questionnaire is not necessary for the proper performance of the agency and has no practical utility. The addition of the question, and other proposed approaches by the Bureau, will also severely diminish the quality of information collected, and will impose significant unnecessary costs and burdens on the agency.

NALEO Educational Fund is the nation's leading nonprofit organization that facilitates the full participation of Latinos in the American political process, from citizenship to public service. Our Board members and constituency encompass the nation's more than 6,600 Latino elected and appointed officials, and include Republicans, Democrats and Independents. NALEO Educational Fund is a national leader in Census outreach, community education and policy development. Since the 1990 Census, our organization has conducted outreach campaigns to promote the full and accurate count of the Latino community. Together with Spanish-language media and national organization partners, we helped coordinate the multi-media ya es hora: ¡HAGASE CONTAR! ("It's time: Make Yourself Count!") effort in 2010, which included partnerships with a broad network of local organizations; the dissemination of community education materials; a toll-free Census information hotline staffed by bilingual operators; technical assistance for community groups; and direct assistance to Latino residents with completing Census forms.

NALEO Educational Fund also has decades of experience working closely with its Latino elected official constituency, other government officials and partner organizations to promote public policies to achieve the most accurate count possible of the nation's population. NALEO Educational Fund has been a member of the U.S. Census Bureau's national advisory committees since 2000, and currently sits on the Bureau's National Advisory Committee on Racial, Ethnic and Other Populations. NALEO Educational Fund is also the co-chair of the Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights' Census Task Force, and of the National Hispanic Leadership Agenda's Census Task Force.

Our comments address several areas of concern regarding the plans and operations of the upcoming 2020 Census:

- The unnecessary, untimely and costly addition of an untested citizenship question which would severely impair the quality of Census 2020 data;
- The decision not to adopt improvements to the questions on race and ethnicity initially supported by extensive Bureau research and recommended by Bureau staff;
- The planned use of administrative records;
- The adequacy of the questionnaire assistance program and use of electronic devices in non-response follow-up (NRFU) operations; and
- The approach to enumerating households and residents in Puerto Rico.

The Proposed Citizenship Question is Unnecessary and Unjustified

The Census Bureau's mission is to serve as the nation's leading provider of quality data about its people and economy. However, the addition of a citizenship question to Census 2020 is unnecessary for the Bureau to fulfill this mission and has no practical utility – it will in fact severely impair the Bureau's ability to provide quality data about our population and economy.

When the Secretary of Commerce announced in a memorandum dated March 26, 2018 that he was ordering the Census Bureau to add a citizenship question to the 2020 questionnaire, he claimed he was doing so at the request of the Department of Justice (DOJ) to enhance enforcement of the Voting Rights Act's (VRA) prohibition on discriminatory vote dilution. The DOJ request cited the need for more granular data for VRA enforcement.

The March memorandum by Secretary of Commerce Wilbur Ross explaining the decision to add the question does not scrutinize the purported need for the question, and the reasons cited by DOJ are specious and flawed. The data DOJ claims to need for VRA enforcement – a survey of citizenship reaching every household in the nation – was last produced in 1950, 15 years before the VRA's enactment. Although an actual count of the citizen voting-age population has never been available, VRA enforcement has nonetheless succeeded, and the federal government and private plaintiffs have blocked hundreds of discriminatory vote dilution schemes from taking effect.

Other Factors Which Raise Serious Questions About the Necessity of a Citizenship Question

Our concerns about the federal government's claim that the addition of the citizenship question is necessary for voting rights enforcement are exacerbated by the last-minute and haphazard nature of the decision-making process that led to its adoption. First, by statute, the Census Bureau must submit topics to be covered in a decennial Census to Congress by the date that is three years before Census Day, and questions to be asked by the date that is two years before Census Day. After these submissions are made, any changes that the Census Bureau or Department of Commerce propose must be shown to be necessary because of urgent or changed circumstances. In March 2017, the Census Bureau submitted the topics for Census 2020 to Congress; these did not include U.S. citizenship.

Given the disruptive nature and the potential logistical and budgetary costs of making a major change to the Census questionnaire at the last possible moment, it was incumbent upon the Department of Commerce to fully investigate the rationale set forth by the Department of Justice in its request for the question. However, neither Secretary Ross's March 26, 2018 memo describing his decision-making process, nor any other subsequent statement by Commerce Department representatives, indicate the existence of any independent review of the legitimacy of the purported need for citizenship data for VRA enforcement.

Another factor which raises serious doubts about the federal government's justification for the necessity of adding the citizenship question is the DOJ's poor record of enforcing voting rights protections. The sincerity of DOJ's request and the accuracy of its assessment of the necessity of the data sought through the citizenship question merit serious scrutiny. For example, the same officials who presided over submission of the request to the Department of Commerce have sided in ongoing litigation with implementation of a Texas voter ID requirement that registered African American and Latino voters disproportionately could not meet, compared to white voters. A federal judge described this measure as, "the most restrictive voting law...seen since the era of Jim Crow."

Even worse - and particularly troubling - is the Department of Commerce's most recent disclosure - a memorandum signed by Secretary Ross dated June 21, 2018, which acknowledges that the DOJ's purported rationale for requesting a citizenship question was merely an excuse devised after the fact to justify an idea that originated within the Department of Commerce itself, to serve unstated purposes. E-mails released as part of the litigation against the Department confirm that the Secretary of Commerce was considering the citizenship question well before the DOJ initiated its request, and was instrumental in securing the request. These documents raise the possibility that political considerations unrelated to the necessity of obtaining quality data were a factor in the addition of the citizenship question, which is completely contradictory to the Census Bureau's crucial mission.

The Inclusion of the Citizenship Question Would Significantly Impair the Quality of Census 2020 Data

There are two primary reasons the NALEO Educational Fund believes the inclusion of the citizenship question will severely impair the quality of Census 2020 data. First, the Bureau has not tested the question in a survey distributed to all of the nation's households in the current political environment. Second, existing research which would illuminate the effect of adding the question suggests that it will significantly depress response rates, leading to incomplete and inaccurate data.

Lack of testing: Consistent with sound data and research protocols, the Bureau typically conducts extensive testing of questions it considers adding to any of its surveys, to gauge how respondents understand the question, which formats and wording elicit the most accurate responses, and to ultimately assess response rates for the questions. This research often involves extensive and varied research approaches, such as surveys and focus groups. However, the citizenship question has not been included on a decennial questionnaire distributed to 100% of the nation's households since 1950. The version of the citizenship question asked in 1950 is significantly different than the version proposed for use in 2020, in addition, a fact that renders previous experience even less relevant to the present proposal. Even the 2018 End-to-End test, which is in progress in Providence County, is using a questionnaire which does not include a citizenship question. Moreover, the untimely nature of DOJ's December 2017 request prevents the Bureau from testing the impact the question is likely to have on data quality and completeness. While the citizenship question has appeared on the American Community Survey (ACS), the structure of that survey and its purposes are fundamentally different from the decennial questionnaire, and the testing around that question is inadequate to provide a well-informed analysis of including the question in Census 2020.

Existing research and information suggesting depressed response rates: Although necessary field testing has not been completed in advance of Census 2020, available relevant evidence strongly indicates that inclusion of a citizenship question on the 2020 Census will reduce participation and the quality of responses and resulting data. The Bureau has previously observed relatively high rates of non-response or false response to questions about citizenship in its sample surveys. In 2017 and 2018, as they have monitored trends, Census Bureau enumerators and experts began sounding new alarms about public perception of Census surveys and their most sensitive inquiries. This phenomenon occurred even before the DOJ formally requested addition of a citizenship question to the decennial form.

For example, a September 2017 memorandum written by the Bureau's Center for Survey Measurement stated, "researchers have noticed a recent increase in respondents spontaneously expressing concerns about confidentiality in...studies conducted in 2017," and recounted anecdotal incidents as extreme as one family moving out of its home, and another respondent leaving an enumerator alone in the respondent's residence, in response to attempts to collect sensitive information about citizenship and country of origin through Census surveys. Ultimately, in a memo dated January 19, 2018, the Bureau's Chief Scientist John Abowd clearly noted that the Bureau's own analyses support the conclusion that the question would have a negative impact on households' self-response.

In this connection, we would note that in his March memorandum, Secretary Ross indicated that there was no evidence suggesting that the inclusion of the citizenship question would depress response rates. This statement is disingenuous and fallacious in several respects. First, as noted above, there has not been sound testing of the citizenship question in a survey sent to 100% of the nation's households which would illuminate whether the question would depress response rates. In addition, the Bureau's own research and statements from its top scientist indicate that there would likely be a negative impact on response rates from the inclusion of the question. The Secretary's assertion that concerns of depressed response are overstated or unproven is directly contradicted by available evidence.

The experiences and perspectives of community members also support the research findings regarding the potentially detrimental effect of including a citizenship question on Census 2020. Since January 2017, community-based organizations and journalists have documented sharply increasing rates of avoidance of any contact with government entities on the part of people from immigrant communities and others who fear becoming targets of law enforcement actions. Police departments in cities with growing immigrant populations including Houston, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Denver reported significant declines in reports of domestic violence and sexual assaults received in 2017 as compared to prior years. Likewise, majorities of immigrant parents – both with legal status and undocumented, and regardless of their children’s citizenship – who were queried in a 2018 George Washington University study said they had counseled their children to avoid government authorities since President Donald Trump took office.

Although the questionnaire used in the Census Bureau’s 2018 End-to-End test in Providence County, Rhode Island did not include a citizenship question, residents and community leaders nonetheless noted that widespread popular discussion of the late addition would depress participation. “The confusion around the census and the fear around it...is going to dissuade people from filling it out,” Providence Mayor Jorge Elorza commented in April 2018.

Research conducted by non-profit community advocates after publication of Secretary Ross’s March 2018 memorandum has further confirmed that the citizenship question will provoke high levels of refusal to respond to the Census. A participant in a focus group convened by NALEO Educational Fund reflected the thoughts of many members of historically undercounted communities when he opined that the current administration is “using the census as part of a strategy. They want to know people’s status and their names. The government will make you fill out a form to tell them if you are not legal. They want to clear the U.S. of people without papers. That’s why they are asking about citizenship.”

The lack of sound testing of the citizenship question, together with research and information suggesting that its inclusion will depress response rates, create another significant challenge for Census 2020. Because the Bureau has not conducted any research at this late stage of preparations which shows how members of the public will react and respond to the question in 2020, it has not undertaken any work to tailor messaging and outreach to address respondents’ concerns and obtain the most accurate and complete responses possible.

For example, the Bureau’s Integrated Partnership and Communications Plans were formulated and published before the formal request for the citizenship question, and are premised upon the assumption that the 2020 Census questionnaire would ask about the same topics as were covered on the 2010 and previous decennial questionnaires. As a result, the Bureau fielded its crucial Census Barriers, Attitudes, and Motivators Survey, on the basis of which Census advertising is created and placed, without any mention of the question that will most affect residents’ inclination to participate in the Census.

To our knowledge, pertinent plans have not yet incorporated any early or geographically targeted efforts to conduct messaging and outreach to mitigate the clear, evident heightened fear of responding to a citizenship question in Census 2020. Similarly, some naturalized citizens or residents of Puerto Rico or U.S. territories have expressed concerns about how the proposed citizenship question asks residents specifically about the manner in which they acquired U.S. citizenship. However, the Bureau has not assessed how these citizens will respond to the question in the current political climate, and what kind of efforts would best promote their participation in Census 2020.

Inclusion of a Citizenship Question Will Increase the Burden of the 2020 Census on the Census Bureau

By depressing voluntary response to the decennial Census, the addition of a citizenship question will not only diminish the quality and accuracy of resulting data, but also increase the cost of obtaining it. The Bureau is obligated to take costly NRFU measures to attempt to obtain firsthand information from households that do not self-respond. As of January 2018, the Bureau estimates that it will cost an additional $55 million to enumerate each additional one percent of households that do not voluntarily answer the Census. However, this figure has been increasing since mid-decade as the Bureau updates its operational plans. This estimate also continues to be based upon optimistic, unproven assumptions about the Census Bureau's ability to reduce the number of in-person visits required to contact members of non-responding households, and to obtain data about non-responding households from government records instead of from in-person contacts.

In fact, the hardest-to-count households of immigrant and mixed-status families, historically underrepresented people of color, and lower-income individuals will also be those most likely to be reluctant to respond to a Census including a citizenship question. Thus, attempting to count them during NRFU will likely require significant personal contacts by enumerators. The added cost of doing this work may serve no purpose in the end: logic dictates that households afraid of voluntarily submitting citizenship and other sensitive Census information will experience similar, or even greater, fear of answering the door or phone when government officials reach out. Members of immigrant communities, in particular, have been strongly cautioned during the years immediately preceding the 2020 Census not to open their doors to any unknown person who does not hold a warrant authorizing access.

Inclusion of an Untested Citizenship Question Casts Doubt on All Aspects of the Census Bureau's 2020 Operational Plans

The detrimental effects of the inclusion of the citizenship question will pervade virtually all aspects of the Bureau's operational plans and may make some unworkable or obsolete. With less than two years remaining until Census Day 2020, we are extremely concerned that the Bureau will not have sufficient time or resources to make adjustments to preserve the integrity and usability of 2020 Census data.

As of this writing, the Census Bureau is still racing to finish development of new information technology systems and other functionalities without which it cannot begin to conduct the enumeration in 2020, while simultaneously contending with inadequate appropriations that accord it less of a year-to-year ramp up than it received at this point in any other recent decennial Census cycle. In light of these ongoing challenges, it is inconceivable that the agency possesses the capacity it needs to make the rapid and comprehensive adaptations that this major policy change necessitates.

The Secretary of Commerce ordered adoption of a citizenship question without sound justification, without following normal procedures, and in the absence of full information about its likely consequences. As a result, the Administration has created a very significant risk to the success of the 2020 Census and is essentially undermining the Constitutional mandate that the Census obtain a complete count of every resident in the nation. We strongly urge you to heed the advice of scientific experts at the Census Bureau, experienced stakeholders, and municipal and state political leaders who see that the addition of an untested, unnecessary citizenship question will have a certain and devastating effect on the cost and accuracy of the 2020 Census.

Failure to Move Forward with Modernization of Hispanic Origin and Race Questions Will Impair the Quality of Data Collected in Census 2020

In addition to the threat posed by the inclusion of the citizenship question, the Administration's failure to move forward with revisions recommended by the Bureau to the questions on Hispanic origin and race will diminish the quality of data collected in Census 2020. For Census data to present an accurate portrait of our Latino population and of other historically underrepresented groups, they must reflect the on-going evolution of Americans' racial and ethnic identity. As our nation's population has grown increasingly diverse, the Census Bureau and other government agencies have periodically conducted evaluations to determine whether changes to the wording and format of surveys about Hispanic origin and race would improve the accuracy of responses.

In 2014, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) initiated a new review process to consider changes to its 1997 Standards for Maintaining, Collecting, and Presenting Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity (1997 Standards). The action was motivated in part by the Census Bureau's experiences fielding surveys using the "two separate question" format for collection of data on Hispanic origin and race preferred by the 1997 Standards. The Bureau recognized a growing mismatch between the potential responses it offered to its race question and the ways in which many Latinos expressed their racial and ethnic background. The Bureau consistently found that Latinos accounted for majorities of people who did not report themselves as belonging to any of the race categories by which the OMB Standards require survey respondents to be classified. In 2010, more than 43% of Latinos chose "Some other race" or did not answer the race question on the 2010 decennial Census. Because the OMB minimum race categories do not include "Some other race," the Bureau must assign an OMB race to all of these Latinos. The Bureau has found itself applying this imperfect procedure to impute the characteristics of growing numbers of residents; it predicts that in 2020, "Some other race" will become the second largest racial group reported.

The two-question format employed in the 2010 decennial Census also did not accommodate the reporting of multiple national origins by Latino respondents, resulting in the loss of detailed information about Latino identities. In response to a differently-formatted ethnicity question on the 2000 decennial Census, the Bureau observed that more than 260,000 respondents attempted to report multiple Latino national origins, and that such reporting was most common among respondents under the age of 35, portending future increases in the percentages of Latinos identifying as being of more than one Latino national origin.

To obtain more complete and accurate data on Hispanic origin and race in the ACS and the decennial Census, the Census Bureau undertook more than a decade of extensive research, including the 2010 Alternative Questionnaire Experiment, the 2015 National Content Test, and the 2016 ACS test. The Census Bureau's extensive testing repeatedly demonstrated lower nonresponse rates to a combined question format than to separate race and Hispanic origin questions, regardless of the medium used to answer the questionnaire, or the language in which participants responded. "Some other race" responses also declined dramatically when a combined question was substituted for separate race and ethnicity questions. Latino respondents were more likely to convey their Latino ethnicity, and less likely to self-identify as White, when given a survey with a single combined race and ethnicity question. In addition, use of a combined question format in test surveys did not result in the loss of any necessary data that would have been collected with separate questions.

In addition, the Bureau's testing found that providing Latinos with an opportunity to indicate multiple sub-group origins produced more detailed and complete data on the Latino community. Because of the consistency and quality of the findings of the Bureau's research on the combined question format that provided Latinos with an opportunity to indicate multiple origins, in May 2017, NALEO Educational Fund endorsed the Census Bureau's recommendation that future questionnaires use that format.

To adopt the recommended combined question format, there needed to be a revision of the OMB's 1997 Standards, and the OMB's Interagency Working Group launched this process. The Working Group issued two Federal Register notices seeking comment in 2016 and 2017, and an Interim Report in 2017, concerning its inquiry and preliminary conclusions. In these publications, it identified proposed modifications to race and ethnicity questions that deserved consideration, including the use of a single, combined question about race and ethnicity

In its second Federal Register notice, published on March 1, 2017 at 82 FR 12242, the Interagency Working Group stated its intention to announce final decisions about changes to the Standards by mid-2017. However, OMB did not release any additional publications or other final decisions during 2017, in spite of the fact that the Census Bureau sought final determinations before the end of 2017 so that any changes could be incorporated into materials to be used in its 2018 End-to-End test. As of this writing, the Working Group's final report and determinations have not been released to the public; the review process begun in 2014 appears to be dormant or to have terminated without any formal statement or explanation.

The apparent termination, without resolution, of the Interagency Working Group process effectively forced the Census Bureau to revert to the now-outdated two-question approach for Hispanic origin and race questions used in the 2010 Census. In March 2018, the Bureau presented to Congress a format incorporating this approach for use in Census 2020 and the ACS. In addition, the Hispanic origin question submitted to Congress does not provide respondents with an opportunity to indicate multiple Latino sub-group identifications. Unlike many of the formats used in the Bureau's tests (including the 2018 End-to-End test), the format provided to Congress does not include instructions to "Mark one or more boxes" when responding to the part of the question on Latino sub-group identifications. The Bureau has also indicated that it will not present data in any public products that reflect information provided by respondents who choose to mark more than one Latino sub-group box.

Without any reason, OMB's inaction has prevented the Census Bureau from implementing a modernization of its questionnaire that multiple high-quality experiments unequivocally showed would minimize nonresponse and enhance accuracy and detail in federal data. Its unjustified refusal to act will cost the Bureau the notable time and effort it must expend to continuously update its methodology for assigning race categories to tens of millions of respondents who will give ambiguous answers, or no answer at all, to separate Hispanic origin and race questions on the 2020 Census. In addition, OMB's silence wastes the considerable resources expended between 2014 and 2017 on the Interagency Working Group's study and deliberations.

The continued use of outdated separate questions about Hispanic origin and race will provoke accelerating rates of inaccurate response that diminish the value of crucial data used to redress persistent racial and ethnic disparities, and acts of discrimination that target underrepresented populations. Moreover, failure to provide response options with which Latino and other respondents most strongly identify will skew data by coercing many of those respondents to choose unsatisfactory responses that do not accurately reflect their racial and ethnic identity. In addition, the Bureau will face the increasingly difficult and expensive challenge of imputing racial categories to respondents who mark themselves as some other race, to ensure compatibility with the 1997 OMB standards. As in the case of its adoption of a citizenship question, the Department of Commerce will fail in its most fundamental duty if it persists in fielding a 2020 Census questionnaire that it knows will not collect the best and most comprehensive data possible.

We are also concerned that Latinos who self-identify as "White" or "Black or African American" may not provide detailed national origin responses under those categories, in spite of the Bureau's proposed revision of those two race category responses to request additional detail. The option to report national origins under White and African American checkboxes has not previously been offered and may not be well understood, particularly in light of the fact that the planned format of these new response options differs from the format of responses to the Hispanic ethnicity question: "White" and "Black or African American" choices are followed by lists of examples and an empty write-in box, while the Hispanic origin question provides several specific choices next to checkboxes, followed by an empty write-in box. Moreover, neither the "White" nor "Black or African American" illustrative examples include any national origins or subgroups commonly associated with Latino identity, in particular those of Afro-Latino origins.

The Bureau's Plans for Utilizing Administrative Records Raise Significant Concerns about the Accuracy of Census 2020 Data

The Bureau has studied the use of administrative records in enumeration for many years, and is conducting crucial testing that provides insight into the completeness and accuracy of potential sources of information. We are nonetheless concerned that at this late stage in the 2020 Census cycle, the Bureau intends to use administrative records for certain purposes, even though it has not yet reached final determinations about when and how to employ them, and what steps to take to fill in gaps or identify and correct errors in any administrative data used.

Our review of relevant published research indicates to us that use of administrative records may impair the accuracy of Census 2020 data by reinforcing racial, ethnic, and other disparities in the data produced. It is critical that the Bureau explain in detail how it will determine that administrative data can be used soundly and how it will complement or correct any such data incorporated into Census 2020 results. Until this occurs, we do not believe that administrative records can be used as planned without diminishing the quality of Census statistics and exacerbating differential undercounts. We are particularly concerned about any plans to use the records to determine vacancy status of housing, or in lieu of NRFU contacts.

We commend the Bureau and Department of Commerce for committing to use administrative records in innovative ways only when multiple sources contain consistent information of high quality, and only where a dataset passes the Bureau's strict rules – the details of which apparently remain under consideration – for determining likely reliability and accuracy. The most important criterion against which any enumeration method or tool should be judged is its likelihood of improving the quality of Census data, and cost-saving measures cannot be implemented if they pose a risk of diminishing Census accuracy. Thus, we seek more detailed explanation than the Bureau provides in the present Notice of its standards for validating any particular potential use of administrative records in the 2020 enumeration process.

Since January 2018, the Bureau has continued to seek feedback from entities including its National Scientific Advisory Committee (NSAC) about its process for assessing the reliability and completeness of administrative records, and about where and how to assign characteristics missing in those records to households it intends to enumerate with administrative data. For example, during its March 2018 meeting, members of the NSAC raised concerns and made suggestions for improvement of the Bureau's models underlying planned use of administrative records in 2020, including that the Bureau conduct additional testing and devise protocols for managing risk. Members of the NSAC noted, among other troubling issues, that reliability of methods used to determine whether to enumerate with administrative records varied according to household composition, mobility, and income, and that assignment of race, ethnicity, and other data to households counted with administrative records might be more frequently inaccurate for low-income and underrepresented communities. The NSAC's exchanges with Bureau staff make clear that data scientists believe that insufficient data have been gathered, to date, to validate administrative records' use across the widely variant demographic groups and socioeconomic communities in various locations in the country. These exchanges also indicate that critical questions are yet unresolved, with mere months remaining before irrevocable steps are taken in the implementation of the 2020 Census.

Pending the release of further information regarding the Bureau's final methodology for use of administrative records in the 2020 Census, we are concerned about the likelihood that administrative records data reflect racial, ethnic, socioeconomic, and other persistent disparities evident in Census results, and that their use will diminish data quality and exacerbate differential undercounts. Our alarm is based upon limitations on the contents of records the Bureau intends to use, and expert analyses of the quality of these sources, including results of the Bureau's 2015 and 2016 tests comparing administrative records determinations with the outcomes of traditional NRFU contacts.

Errors and omissions in administrative data: Some of the sources of information the Bureau intends to use have deficits and inaccuracies in their data. For example, to reach determinations about the most likely occupancy status of households that do not self-respond to initial Census mailings, the Bureau proposes to use Undeliverable as Addressed (UAA) notices from the Post Office, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) records, and enrollment registers for Medicare, Medicaid, and the Indian Health Service. However, the Bureau's own testing where it has attempted reliance on UAA notices to designate vacant and non-existent housing has found significant error rates, indicating that these notices are frequently erroneous or contain misleading information.

For example, at least 19.2% of addresses that administrative records showed as vacant in the 2015 Census Test were found to be occupied when enumerators made in-person visits, notwithstanding the fact that the Census Bureau received a UAA notice associated with most of these apparently vacant homes. Similarly, about 21% of all 2016 Census Test addresses that administrative records showed as vacant were confirmed occupied by in-person contact, even though every one of the locations in question was associated with at least one UAA notice. For majorities of the addresses that administrative records erroneously indicated were vacant or non-existent, two UAA notices had been returned in apparent error by the Post Office.

IRS and health insurance programs' records likewise suffer from omissions and errors. Millions of residents are not required to or otherwise do not file tax returns with the IRS, including individuals whose source of income is a tax-exempt program such as Supplemental Security Income or distributions from Roth IRAs, as well as some individuals who are not legally authorized to work in the United States and have not been assigned a Taxpayer Identification Number. Although in 2017, the Institute of Taxation and Economic Policy estimated that approximately half of undocumented workers in the United States file income tax returns, this leaves a minimum of several million individuals and their dependents likely excluded from IRS records.

An even larger segment of Americans is unrepresented in records concerning recipients of public health coverage. As of 2016, according to the Kaiser Family Foundation, just 35% of our nation's residents received coverage and care through Medicaid, Medicare, or another public insurance program. As all of these statistics and test results conclusively prove, even compilations of the best data available to the Census Bureau contain errors and provide only partial, incomplete information about where Americans live. Unsound reliance upon these sources to determine occupancy status will produce potentially large inaccuracies in final Census data.

Moreover, many of the data sources identified for use in enumerating non-responding households routinely omit portions of the information the Bureau must collect about every resident of our nation. For example, although they are each expected to be used to enumerate some non-responding households in 2020, IRS records, Selective Service enrollment information, and Post Office records each contain no information about individuals' race and ethnicity. Social Security Administration and Medicare enrollment records may include information about individuals' race and ethnicity, but applicants' provision of that information is voluntary, and resulting records are not considered to contain reliably complete or accurate information about these characteristics.

Data upon which the Bureau proposes to rely for racial and ethnic identity, such as its own KIDLINK file and past Census and ACS responses, in turn contain no or potentially outdated information about where particular individuals reside. No single source of administrative data can provide all of the information the Census Bureau needs about a particular household or individual, and even where the Bureau successfully links and compiles information about the same household from various sources, it may not find answers to every inquiry on its decennial questionnaire from the sum of the information it holds.

Bureau testing and administrative record error rates: Given the large number of errors and omissions found in administrative data sources slated for use in Census 2020, the Bureau's tests of administrative records-aided enumeration have repeatedly produced significant error rates. The Bureau's 2016 Census Test in Los Angeles County, California and Harris County, Texas produced larger than expected rates of error in multiple respects. For example, at least 41.8% of homes designated as vacant residences based on the content of administrative records were discovered by field workers to actually be occupied, nonexistent, or not in use as residences; at least 6.5% of apparently occupied residences and 40.0% of apparent nonexistent and nonresidential addresses were similarly misclassified in administrative records. When occupied residences were enumerated using administrative records instead of personal contacts, administrative record-based determinations of the number of residents of the household agreed with in-person contact-based determinations in just 67.7% of cases. Number of residents in a household is the simplest and most fundamental data point collected through the decennial Census, and administrative records' errors in this domain portend even larger rates of error in reporting a wide range of other demographic characteristics.

Administrative records and inaccuracies about hard-to-count populations: The use of administrative records in the enumeration process is particularly troubling because it is likely to produce inaccurate data about minority, lower-income, and other historically undercounted populations. For example, Americans with the lowest incomes will account for large shares of those covered in records upon which the Bureau expects to rely, such as the recipients of assistance through Medicaid, TANF, SNAP, WIC and other public benefit programs. These individuals are more likely to move to a new residence in any year than people with higher incomes. From 2016 to 2017, the Census Bureau found that 11% of people 15 and over with incomes of less than $25,000 changed residences, compared to just 8.4% of those with incomes above $100,000. Accordingly, the relatively higher rates of mobility of low-income individuals increase the risk that related administrative records data will contain erroneous, outdated information linking them to an incorrect residential location.

In addition, noncitizens and their minor dependents are less likely to be included in administrative records sources than adult U.S. citizens and their minor dependents. As previously noted, it is likely that millions of undocumented workers do not file tax returns and are not represented in IRS records; moreover, each year, millions of noncitizens are lawfully admitted to the country with temporary visas that do not permit employment. Some of these individuals are nonetheless temporary residents who should be counted – such as students and exchange program participants – but will also, in most cases, not file tax returns nor apply for Social Security numbers; they also are not obligated to register for Selective Service. Many noncitizen residents are prohibited, either temporarily or permanently, from receiving public benefits, and thus will never appear in records concerning those programs. In sum, there will be a significant number of noncitizens who will be residing in the United States on Census Day 2020 and will not be accurately represented in the administrative records databases the Bureau proposes to use. The use of administrative records to obtain data about these individuals creates serious risk of inaccuracies, which may be exacerbated by their reluctance to participate in a Census which includes a question about citizenship.

Lower-income residents and noncitizens have been persistently undercounted in past decennial Census cycles. Racial and ethnic minority populations that have also been historically undercounted account for disproportionate shares of lower-income families and of noncitizens. Because communities of color also include significant numbers of low-income residents and noncitizens, they are more likely to be omitted from or misrepresented by administrative records than non-Hispanic White, wealthier communities. This poses a serious threat to the Bureau's efforts to reduce differential undercounts.

The Bureau's dedication of resources and efforts to implementing the use of administrative records in enumeration may also divert resources from the urgent task of enumerating the hardest-to-count households and communities. Retrospective comparison of 2010 Census results to administrative records available at that time suggest that the administrative records available to the Bureau contain the most complete and consistent information about neighborhoods that are disproportionately Non-Hispanic White. If records are used to enumerate relatively less hard-to-count areas, the places that the Bureau recognizes as not adequately represented in administrative records deserve to have extra resources and strategic thinking dedicated to their enumeration.

To allay concerns about the consequences of the use of administrative records to replace in-person contacts, the Bureau must justify its plans with detailed operational specifications that make clear what associated margins of error the Bureau determines are acceptable. The Bureau must be able to identify those areas in which its administrative records-based determinations of housing status and composition match on-the-ground observations to a much higher degree than achieved in blanket applications of this methodology to date. Until it does so, we are not confident that these techniques can be used soundly, and would oppose their implementation. In addition, the disclosure of plans to improve enumeration of places not sufficiently documented in administrative records through advertising, community partnerships, and other targeted outreach is a necessary component of Census 2020 preparations. We urge the Census Bureau to accelerate and prioritize the completion and publication for comment of these plans.

Questions Remain About the Questionnaire Assistance Program and NRFU

Our review of the plans detailed in the Federal Register notice left us with outstanding questions regarding key components of the Questionnaire Assistance Program and NRFU operations. We believe the quality of data obtained on historically undercounted populations will depend greatly on how effectively these operations are executed. We urge the Bureau and Department of Commerce to provide more information about how critical decisions will be made for these programs in its future Federal Register publications and other public disclosures.

Assessing the demand for in-language assistance: For several decades, NALEO Educational Fund has conducted outreach and provided assistance to individuals in need of more information about naturalization, voting and elections, and Census participation. From our efforts, we are extremely knowledgeable about the importance of providing in-language assistance to Spanish-dominant residents who are not yet fully fluent in English. Based on this experience and our contemporary observations, we project high demand for bilingual English- and Spanish-language information and assistance through the Bureau's Census Questionnaire Assistance telephone program. Census data indicate that among those age 5 and above, the number of Latino U.S. residents who reported not being able to speak English fluently increased by more than 160,000 from 2015 to 2016, to a total of more than 16 million. In addition, nationwide polling conducted by Anzalone Liszt Grove Research for the Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights in December 2016 found that about 19% of Spanish-dominant Latinos would prefer to answer the Census by phone instead of online or on paper, far outpacing the national average of 7%.

While we are pleased the Federal Register notice reaffirms the responsible agencies' commitment to a robust in-language telephone assistance program, we are concerned that, in the absence of an explanation of how the Bureau will set goals for staffing and technological capacity, the Bureau may underestimate the demand for this service. Were the Bureau to finalize staffing and infrastructure plans for Questionnaire Assistance hotlines without collecting and analyzing as much data as are available about the language preferences of various groups of residents, it could find itself unable to meet demand. As a result, its services would not be accessible to the residents who need them.

In addition, in-language assistance helps build community members' trust in the government's ability to serve them effectively. In the nation's current political and policy climate, the failure to meet the demand for in-language assistance could exacerbate residents' concerns about contacting government agencies and participating in Census 2020. Thus, we urge the Bureau to describe in future publications the information it will consider and the process it will follow in staffing and securing adequate phone capacity for the Census Questionnaire Assistance Program.

Electronic collection of data during NRFU: Because we know that NRFU is the most expensive and most challenging aspect of conducting decennial Censuses, we applaud the Census Bureau for thinking critically and creatively about how to improve NRFU operations. We recognize that the agency has been researching and learning more about possible applications of advanced technology in in-field enumeration for at least a decade, since its initial planning to incorporate the use of handheld electronic devices into 2010 Census data collection.

We also understand that the Bureau may be able to achieve cost savings and better ensure against inadvertent loss of data by following the plan it has set forth in the present Federal Register notice to capture NRFU data exclusively in electronic format. However, we are concerned about the potential discrepancy between this plan and the findings that have emerged from the Bureau's test of in-field address canvassing procedures in geographically and residentially diverse settings. The connectivity issues that the Bureau has already encountered in carrying out limited activities in selected rural communities in West Virginia raise additional questions about whether electronic data capture will be fully functional where enumerators may lack cellular and data connections at the time of an interview.

Although comprehensive analysis of its 2018 End-to-End Census Test is not yet complete, Bureau documents, including Acting Director Jarmin's May 8, 2018 written testimony to the House's Oversight and Government Reform Committee, have made clear that the Test shows that enumerators will need to work in places where internet and cellular signals are not available or dependable. These enumerators will need to work around the challenges that lack of connectivity can create.

In addition, as the Bureau tested address canvassing with electronic devices in early 2018 in Fayette, Mercer, and Raleigh Counties in southern West Virginia, it discovered that devices lost connectivity in the field. It also learned that canvassers generally were able to successfully receive and complete their assignments by moving to connected locations at the start and conclusion of each workday.

Therefore, while it appears that devices will be equipped to store data for transmission as connectivity allows, key differences between in-field address canvassing and enumeration may create additional challenges for electronic data capture during NRFU - and we are not certain whether the Bureau has accounted for these potential challenges. For instance, address canvassers likely have far fewer interactions with residents than enumerators. Thus, canvassers' experiences are unlikely to reveal if during NRFU, residents will be more likely to be suspicious or uncooperative if they are aware enumerators are recording their personal information electronically.

In addition, the mechanics of address canvassing are less likely to be materially affected in real time than the enterprise of actual enumeration. For example, a field enumerator with connectivity could immediately discover that a family encountered at a non-responding address that knew its assigned Census ID number had already been enumerated at a prior address. The enumerator could then clarify on the spot which address was the family's residence on Census Day. However, without connectivity during this visit, the enumerator might be required to re-visit the household to resolve the issue.

We urge the Bureau to consider whether additional alternate data capture and transmission methods may be effective in areas in which its electronic devices may not have a consistent connection to its networks and databases. The Bureau should examine whether data collection by paper or through satellite-based networks are effective alternatives for some areas of the country or households.

The Bureau's Approach for the Enumeration of Puerto Rico Jeopardizes the Accuracy of Census 2020 Data

We are extremely concerned that the approach to enumerating Puerto Rico, as set forth in the present Federal Register notice, will result in a severe net undercount that will compound the challenges already facing the island. There is likely no other place in the United States that will have undergone as dramatic a change between 2010 and 2020 with respect to its residential infrastructure and resident population as the island of Puerto Rico.

The widespread devastation of Hurricane Maria and the slow pace of repair and recovery significantly accelerated the long-term trend of migration from Puerto Rico to the mainland United States. Accurately enumerating a population facing these challenges is critical to ensuring that our nation effectively provides the assistance Puerto Ricans need. Thus, it is imperative that the Bureau immediately reconsider the methods it plans to use, and increases anticipated staffing levels to ensure an adequate in-person presence on the island that allows for direct contact with its residents.

The significant limitations of in-office address canvassing: We disagree with the Bureau's published plan to develop its Master Address File for places in its Update/Leave enumeration areas using exclusively in-office address canvassing procedures. Because that method relies on reference to dated administrative records and satellite images, its use is simply not appropriate for places like Puerto Rico, where a severe natural disaster has had an extreme effect on the island's residences and other infrastructure.

Between September 2017 and May 2018, the Federal Emergency Management Administration (FEMA) received nearly 1,119,000 applications for assistance from Puerto Rican homeowners, an indicator that hurricane-related damage may have affected half or more of the homes of the approximately 3.4 million residents who lived there before Hurricane Maria arrived. Moreover, the Bureau must also take into account the fact that according to government and building industry estimates, even before the Hurricane, as much as approximately half of Puerto Rico's housing was informally built without being permitted or inspected; therefore, official records are likely to continue to be a poor source of accurate data about where Puerto Ricans live. Any address list for Puerto Rico assembled from static data and satellite images is unlikely to reflect current residential trends and will become quickly outdated, and its use will prospectively imperil the accuracy of data collected on its basis.

The state of housing and the state of individuals' intentions to occupy it make the island a poor candidate for in-office address canvassing. For example, data based on the physical movement of cell phones between Puerto Rico and the mainland from October 2017 through February 2018 show that about 400,000 people left the island during that period. The data also indicate that returns have accelerated and outpaced departures since January 2018.

As Puerto Ricans negotiate major changes and challenges, their plans may change quickly. During the period of years it will take for Puerto Rico to recover from the devastation of Hurricane Maria, many Puerto Ricans are likely to choose to live in homes that are partially in disrepair and that may appear unoccupied to an in-office canvasser, while others will have temporarily or permanently abandoned such structures. Some island residents will have opted to stay in spaces not normally used as residences (the use of which as residences may not be indicated in any official records), and some of these families may still intend for their pre-Hurricane homes to be their primary residences whether or not those homes are habitable at present.

In short, so much is changing in ways that cannot be adequately recorded by in-office canvassers that we believe use of that methodology to build Puerto Rico's 2020 Census Master Address File would be potentially disastrous. If the Bureau is to obtain a competent count in Puerto Rico that reflects the best and most up-to-date information it can gather about where its residents live, that count must be based upon an in-field address canvassing operation that is conducted as close in time as possible to Census Day, and incorporates residents' direct feedback delivered to canvassers who have the opportunity to make first-hand observations on the island.

Update/Leave as an inefficient, ineffective approach for Puerto Rico: Similarly, we are concerned that the enumeration strategy the Bureau intends to use in Puerto Rico is an inappropriate choice in light of the island's infrastructure, and demographic characteristics. The present Federal Register notice designates the entire island of Puerto Rico for Update/Leave enumeration, requiring that enumerators visit and leave Census materials at each home from the Master Address File that appears to be occupied on Census Day.

However, if the Bureau were to conduct competent advance address canvassing on the island, incorporating more complete and accurate data sources than just the official records and satellite imagery to which remote in-office canvassers have access, then it could include many parts of Puerto Rico in TEA-1 and conduct normal operations aimed at securing self-response prompted by mailings. As of April 20, 2018, all Post Offices in Puerto Rico were open and had resumed normal operations. In addition, as of June 5, 2018, the government of Puerto Rico reported that electricity, cellular and telecommunications services had been restored to at least 95% of their pre-Hurricane capacity.

As a result, we believe the Bureau could more efficiently and effectively enumerate Puerto Rico in 2020 by conducting normal self-response operations in those parts of the island that are best-connected and in which infrastructure has been restored. This would allow the Bureau to reserve resources and personnel for the enumeration of the most difficult-to-reach parts of Puerto Rico.

If the Bureau were to achieve some cost savings by conducting normal self-response operations in the easiest parts of Puerto Rico to count, it could wisely invest those savings in the difficult task of accurately counting residents of the island's least-recovered and most-remote areas. We urge the Bureau to recognize the imperative of personal contact with the hardest-to-count Puerto Ricans, and to designate selected areas for Update/Enumerate, instead of Update/Leave, enumeration.

In this connection, we note that the federal government's Hurricane response and assistance to Puerto Ricans have attracted significant and widespread criticism, not only from island residents and advocates but in at least one post-action analysis conducted by FEMA itself. The government's perceived poor performance has diminished some Puerto Ricans' faith and trust in federal agencies, and will negatively affect the Bureau's efforts to obtain personal information from Puerto Rican households in 2020.

To overcome the obstacles created by some island residents' unfortunate post-Hurricane Maria experiences with the federal government, the Census Bureau should assign enumerators who have the linguistic skills and cultural competency to effectively make personal contact with the hardest-to-count households. The Bureau should leverage those contacts to explain the Census process and secure robust participation. With a strong in-field presence in these areas, the Bureau can perfect its knowledge of the potentially dramatic effects of migration on the most-affected parts of Puerto Rico, and achieve an accurate count of the island, notwithstanding the many changes occurring there relatively close in time to Census Day.

Conclusion

The Census Bureau's and Department of Commerce's Constitutional and statutory duty is to produce complete, accurate data about our population, and in the case of decennial Census data, to enumerate every resident of our nation. In carrying out this duty, federal agencies have always strived to make scientifically-based decisions and to plan years in advance for an undertaking that grows more complex each decade. Uninformed and last-minute changes to Census instruments and methodology that run counter to data scientists' recommendations threaten the effectiveness of Census operational plans, and the accuracy of crucial decennial Census data. Our comments highlight a broad range of issues where science and evidence-based research indicate that the Bureau's approach to collecting information in Census 2020 is either unnecessary, will produce inaccurate data or will add significant costs to the decennial enumeration. In some cases, we urge the Bureau to continue its deliberations and provide greater disclosure to stakeholders.

The decennial Census is conducted once every ten years, and our nation will have to live with its results for the decade that follows. A flawed enumeration threatens the fundamental health of our democracy, and our nation's social and economic well-being. Ultimately, the Department of Commerce has an obligation to take all actions necessary to protect the integrity of the Census. History is watching - we urge the Bureau to adopt our recommendations, and make Census 2020 the sound enumeration our nation requires.

A message from the Director, U.S. Census Bureau ...

Your household has been randomly selected to complete a very important national survey, the American Community Survey. The U.S. Census Bureau conducts this survey to give our country an up-to-date picture of how we live—our education, employment, housing, and more.

The American Community Survey is not the 2020 Census. This survey asks questions about topics not on the 2020 Census, such as veteran status, transportation, and internet access. Your response to the American Community Survey is required by law.

Using the enclosed instructions, please complete the survey online as soon as possible at:

<https://respond.census.gov/acs>

The Census Bureau is using the Internet to collect this information in an effort to conserve natural resources, save taxpayers' money, and process your data more efficiently. If you are unable to complete the survey online, there is no need to contact us. We will send you a paper questionnaire in a few weeks.

The American Community Survey collects critical information used to meet the needs of communities across the United States. For example, results from this survey are used to decide where new schools, hospitals, and fire stations are needed. This information also helps communities plan for the kinds of emergency situations that might affect you and your neighbors, such as floods and other natural disasters.

If you need help completing the survey, please call our toll-free number (1-800-354-7271).

Thank you.

Enclosures

Is the American Community Survey the same as the 2020 Census?

No, the American Community Survey (ACS) is different from the 2020 Census.

The ACS shows how we live—our education, housing, jobs, and more. The ACS provides information about the social and economic needs of your community every year.

The census is conducted once every 10 years to provide an official count of the entire U.S. population to Congress.

Can you use my 2020 Census answers for the American Community Survey?

Your answers to the 2020 Census cannot be used for the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS includes questions about topics not on the 2020 Census, such as education, employment, internet access, and transportation.

A message from the Director, U.S. Census Bureau...

About two weeks ago, the U.S. Census Bureau sent instructions for completing the American Community Survey to your address. We asked you to help us with this very important survey by completing it online. But we have not received your response yet.

If you have already completed the American Community Survey, thank you very much. If you have not, please complete the survey soon using ONE of the following two options.

Option 1: Go to <https://respond.census.gov/acs> to complete the survey online.

Option 2: Fill out and mail back the enclosed questionnaire.

This year, the Census Bureau is also conducting the 2020 Census. The American Community Survey is different from the 2020 Census. Your response to the American Community Survey is required by U.S. law.

The American Community Survey is so important that a Census Bureau representative may attempt to contact you by telephone or personal visit if we do not receive your response.

The information collected in this survey will help decide where new schools, hospitals, and fire stations are needed. The information also is used to develop programs to reduce traffic congestion, provide job training, and plan for the health care needs of the elderly.

If you need help completing the survey, please call our toll-free number (1-800-354-7271).

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Steven D. Dillingham

Enclosures

Is the American Community Survey the same as the 2020 Census?

No, the American Community Survey (ACS) is different from the 2020 Census.

The ACS shows how we live—our education, housing, jobs, and more. The ACS provides information about the social and economic needs of your community every year.

The census is conducted once every 10 years to provide an official count of the entire U.S. population to Congress.

Can you use my 2020 Census answers for the American Community Survey?

Your answers to the 2020 Census cannot be used for the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS includes questions about topics not on the 2020 Census, such as education, employment, internet access, and transportation.

Will my response be confidential?

Yes. The U.S. Census Bureau is required by law to protect this information. The Census Bureau is not permitted to publicly release your responses in a way that could identify you. يجري مكتب الإحصاء الأمريكي استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية. وسيتصل بك ممثل مكتب الإحصاء الأمريكي لمساعدتك في استكمال الاستبيان. ومن المقرر أن يطرح الاستبيان أسئلة حول خصائص الأسرة، ومنها مواضيع مثل التعليم والعمل والإسكان. وإننا نقدر مساعدتك، لأن نجاح هذا الاستبيان يعتمد عليك.

تجدر الإشارة إلى أن استبيان المجتمعات المحلية في الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية ليس هو التعداد السكاني لسنة 2020. فهذا الاستبيان يتضمن أسئلة لا يطرحها التعداد السكاني لسنة 2020، مثل التأمين الصحي والنقل والوصول إلى الإنترنت. وإجابتك على الاستبيان مطلوبة بموجب القانون (الباب 13 من قانون الولايات المتحدة، الفقرات 141 و193 و221).

يلزم القانون مكتب الإحصاء الأمريكي بأن يحافظ على سرية معلوماتك. وغير مسموح لمكتب الإحصاء بنشر إجاباتك بشكل عام بطريقة من شأنها أن تحدد هوية أسرتك. وتتم حماية البيانات ضد هجمات الأمن الإلكتروني من خلال مراقبة الأنظمة التي تنقل بياناتك وذلك وفق قانون تعزيز الأمن الإلكتروني الفيدرالي لعام 2015. وحسب القانون، يمكن لمكتب الإحصاء الأمريكي أن يستخدم إجاباتك لإنتاج الإحصائيات فقط.

Un message du directeur du Bureau de recensement des États-Unis ...

Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis est chargé de mener l'Enquête sur les communautés américaines (American Community Survey). Un représentant du Bureau de recensement vous contactera pour vous aider à répondre aux questions de l'enquête. L'enquête comporte des questions au sujet des caractéristiques de votre foyer, y compris en matière d'éducation, d'emploi et de logement. Nous vous serions reconnaissants de bien vouloir nous aider car le succès de cette enquête dépend de vous.

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines n'est pas le Recensement 2020. Cette enquête comprend des questions qui ne sont pas posées par le Recensement 2020, comme celles sur l'assurance maladie, le transport et l'accès à Internet. Conformément à la loi des États-Unis vous êtes tenu par la loi de répondre aux questions de cette enquête (Titre 13, Code des États-Unis, Sections 141, 193 et 221).

L'Enquête sur les communautés américaines fournit des informations mises à jour et critiques qui répondent aux besoins des communautés dans tous les États-Unis. Par exemple, les résultats de cette enquête peuvent être utilisés pour décider des endroits où de nouvelles écoles, hôpitaux et casernes de pompiers sont nécessaires. Les agences du gouvernement fédéral, des États et des régions utilisent les données de l'enquête afin de prendre des décisions et mettre au point des programmes qui offrent des soins en matière de santé, d'éducation et de transport qui ont un impact sur votre communauté et vous-même. Ces informations aident également les communautés à se préparer à des situations d'urgence susceptibles d'avoir des répercussions sur vos voisins et vous-même.

Le Bureau de recensement a sélectionné votre adresse, pas vous personnellement, pour faire partie d'un échantillon sélectionné au hasard. Nous estimons qu'il vous faudra environ 40 minutes pour répondre aux questions de cette enquête.

Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis a l'obligation légale de préserver la confidentialité de vos informations. Le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis n'est pas autorisé à divulguer publiquement toute information qui permettrait d'identifier votre foyer. En application de la Loi de 2015 sur le renforcement de la cybersécurité fédérale, vos données sont protégées contre les risques liés à la cybersécurité grâce à la revue des systèmes qui transmettent vos données. La loi autorise le Bureau de recensement des États-Unis à utiliser vos réponses uniquement dans un but statistique.

Wiadomość od Dyrektora Biura Spisu Ludności Stanów Zjednoczonych ...

Urząd Spisu Ludności (U.S. Census Bureau) prowadzi ankietę na temat warunków życia społecznego pt. Amerykańska Ankieta Społecznościowa (American Community Survey). Przedstawiciel Urzędu Spisu Ludności skontaktuje się z Państwem, aby pomóc w wypełnieniu ankiety. Pytania ankiety dotyczą cech charakterystycznych Państwa gospodarstwa domowego, takich jak edukacja, zatrudnienie i warunki mieszkaniowe. Powodzenie ankiety zależy od Państwa współpracy.

Amerykańska Ankieta Społecznościowa nie jest równoznaczna ze Spisem Ludności 2020. Ankieta zawiera pytania niewystępujące w Spisie Ludności 2020, na przykład dotyczące ubezpieczenia zdrowotnego, transportu czy dostępu do Internetu. Wypełnienie Amerykańskiej Ankiety Społecznościowej jest wymagane przez prawo (Tytuł 13 Kodeksu Stanów Zjednoczonych, Artykuły 141, 193 i 221).

Amerykańska Ankieta Społecznościowa pozwala uzyskać aktualne informacje o zasadniczym znaczeniu dla zaspokojenia potrzeb wspólnotowych w całych Stanach Zjednoczonych. Na przykład wyniki ankiety mogą zostać wykorzystane przy podejmowaniu decyzji, gdzie potrzebne są nowe szkoły, szpitale czy placówki straży pożarnej. Władze federalne, stanowe, lokalne i plemienne wykorzystują dane z ankiety przy opracowywaniu programów usług służby zdrowia, edukacji i transportu, mających wpływ na życie wspólnot i poszczególnych mieszkańców. Dane z ankiety są także pomocne przy planowaniu działań lokalnych na wypadek katastrof, co może mieć wpływ na życie Państwa i Waszych sąsiadów.

Urząd Spisu Ludności wybrał Państwa adres, nie zaś Pana/Panią osobiście, w ramach losowo wybranej próby. Oceniamy, że wypełnienie ankiety zajmie około 40 minut.

Przepisy prawa wymagają od Urzędu Spisu Ludności zachowania poufności Państwa danych. Nie możemy publicznie udostępniać Państwa odpowiedzi w żaden sposób, który pozwoliłby na zidentyfikowanie Państwa gospodarstwa domowego. Zgodnie z Federalną Ustawą o poprawie cyberbezpieczeństwa z roku 2015, Państwa dane są chronione przed zagrożeniami dla cyberbezpieczeństwa poprzez kontrolę systemów przesyłających te dane. Zgodnie z prawem, Urząd Spisu Ludności może wykorzystać Pana/Pani odpowiedzi wyłącznie do celów statystycznych.

Jeśli mają Państwo dostęp do Internetu i pragną dowiedzieć się więcej o Amerykańskiej Ankiecie Społecznościowej, prosimy odwiedzić naszą witrynę internetową census.gov/acs.

Mensagem do diretor do U.S. Census Bureau (Censo dos EUA)...

O U.S. Census Bureau (Agência do Censo dos EUA) está realizando a Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas (ACS, American Community Survey). Um representante da Agência do Censo entrará em contato para ajudá-lo a preencher a pesquisa. Na pesquisa haverá perguntas sobre as características do seu domicílio, inclusive tópicos como educação, emprego e moradia. Agradecemos pela sua colaboração, porque o sucesso desta pesquisa depende de você.

A Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas não é o Censo de 2020. Esta pesquisa inclui perguntas que não são feitas no Censo de 2020, tais como sobre plano de saúde, transporte e acesso à internet. Responder à Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas é obrigatório por lei (Título 13, Código dos Estados Unidos, Seções 141, 193 e 221).

A Pesquisa de Comunidades Americanas gera informações importantes e atualizadas que são utilizadas para atender às necessidades das comunidades nos Estados Unidos. Por exemplo, os resultados desta pesquisa poderão ser utilizados para decidir sobre a necessidade de criação de novas escolas, hospitais e sedes de bombeiros. Os dados da pesquisa serão utilizados pelos governos federais, estaduais e locais para tomar decisões e desenvolver programas que proporcionarão serviços de saúde, educação e transporte que afetarão você e a sua comunidade. Os dados desta pesquisa também ajudarão as comunidades a planejar intervenções em situações de emergência, que poderão afetar você e seus vizinhos.

A Agência do Censo escolheu o seu endereço, e não você pessoalmente, como parte integrante de uma amostra selecionada aleatoriamente. Calculamos que a pesquisa leve cerca de 40 minutos para ser respondida.

De acordo com a lei, a Agência do Censo tem a obrigação de manter as suas informações confidenciais. Não podemos divulgar as suas respostas de uma forma que identifique o seu domicílio. De acordo com a lei para melhoria da segurança cibernética (Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act) de 2015, os seus dados são protegidos contra riscos de segurança cibernética pela análise dos sistemas que os transmitem. Письмо директора Бюро переписи населения США

Бюро переписи населения США проводит опрос населения по месту жительства. Представитель Бюро переписи населения свяжется с Вами, чтобы помочь Вам заполнить анкету опроса. Анкета включает в себя вопросы об образовании, занятости и условиях жизни. Я заранее благодарен Вам за помощь, поскольку успех опроса зависит от Вас.

Опрос населения США по месту жительства не является переписью населения 2020 года. Анкета содержит вопросы, которые не включены в перепись населения 2020 года, например, вопросы о медицинской страховке, транспорте и доступе к Интернету. В соответствии с законом США Вы обязаны ответить на вопросы анкеты (Кодекс законов Соединенных Штатов, часть 13, разделы 141, 193 и 221).

Важная текущая информация, полученная в результате опроса населения США по месту жительства, используется в целях удовлетворения потребностей жителей различных районов по всей стране. Например, результаты этого опроса могут быть использованы для принятия решения о том, где необходимо строить новые школы, больницы и пожарные станции. Федеральное правительство, правительства штатов и местные власти будут использовать данные, полученные в результате опроса, для принятия решений и разработки программ в области здравоохранения, образования и транспорта, которые касаются Вас и Вашего местного сообщества. Полученная информация также поможет выработать планы действий на случай чрезвычайных ситуаций, которые могут затронуть Вас и Ваш район.

Бюро переписи населения выбрало не Вас лично, а Ваш адрес для участия в опросе по принципу случайного отбора. По нашим подсчетам, ответы на вопросы анкеты займут приблизительно 40 минут.

Закон требует от Бюро переписи населения США сохранять конфиденциальность предоставленной Вами информации. Бюро переписи населения не имеет права разглашать какую-либо информацию, из которой можно получить сведения о Вашей семье. 美国人口普查局局长致辞 ...

美国人口普查局正在进行一项美国社区问卷调查 (American Community Survey)。人口普查局的普查员会与您联系，帮助您填写该调查问卷。此项问卷调查将提问您有关您的住户特征的问题，包括例如教育、就业和住房的问题。我们非常感谢您的帮助，因为此项问卷调查的成功取决于您的支持。

美国社区问卷调查 (American Community Survey) 并非2020年人口普查。此项问卷调查包含了2020年人口普查未涉及到的问题，例如医疗保险、交通和互联网接入情况。根据美国法律（《美国法典》第13篇第141、193和221节）规定，您必须填写此调查问卷。

您的住址（而非您个人）是人口普查局以随机抽样的方式选中的。我们估计，您填写此调查问卷大约需要40分钟。

法律要求美国人口普查局必须对您的信息保密。人口普查局不得以可识别住户身份的方式公开发布您的回复。根据《2015年联邦网络安全强化法案》(Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015)，我们将通过筛选传输数据的系统来保护您的数据，避免网络安全风险。根据法律，人口普查局只能使用您提供的答案来生成统计数据。

如果您能上网，并希望了解有关美国社区问卷调查 (American Community Survey) 的进一步详情，请访问我们的网站：census.gov/acs。

感谢您的帮助。

顺致敬意！

Thông điệp từ Giám đốc Cục Thống kê Dân số Hoa Kỳ...

Cục Thống kê Dân số Hoa Kỳ đang tiến hành một cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng tại Mỹ (American Community Survey). Đại diện Cục Thống kê Dân số sẽ liên lạc với quý vị nhằm giúp quý vị điền vào bản khảo sát. Bản khảo sát sẽ hỏi về đặc tính của hộ gia đình quý vị bao gồm các chủ đề chẳng hạn như giáo dục, việc làm và gia cư. Tôi rất cảm ơn sự giúp đỡ của quý vị bởi vì sự thành công của cuộc khảo sát này tùy thuộc vào quý vị.

Cuộc Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng tại Mỹ (American Community Survey) không phải là Thống kê Dân số 2020. Khảo sát này có các câu hỏi mà không được hỏi trong Thống kê Dân số 2020, như là về bảo hiểm y tế, giao thông và truy cập internet. Luật pháp yêu cầu quý vị phải trả lời bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng tại Mỹ (American Community Survey) này (Tiêu đề 13 của Bộ Luật Hoa Kỳ, Phần 141, 193 và 221).

Bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng tại Mỹ (American Community Survey) cung cấp thông tin cập nhật quan trọng được sử dụng để đáp ứng nhu cầu của các cộng đồng ở khắp Hoa Kỳ. Thí dụ, kết quả từ cuộc khảo sát này có thể sẽ được dùng để chọn nơi cần xây trường học, bệnh viện và sở cứu hỏa. Các số liệu khảo sát được chính quyền liên bang, tiểu bang và địa phương sử dụng để chọn và khai triển các chương trình cung cấp dịch vụ chăm sóc sức khỏe, giáo dục và vận chuyển ảnh hưởng đến quý vị và cộng đồng của mình. Thông tin khảo sát này cũng giúp cho các cộng đồng hoạch định các trường hợp khẩn cấp có thể ảnh hưởng đến quý vị và người láng giềng.

Cục Thống kê Dân số đã chọn địa chỉ của quý vị, chứ không phải cá nhân quý vị, theo lựa chọn mẫu ngẫu nhiên. Chúng tôi ước tính thời gian hoàn tất bản khảo sát này mất khoảng 40 phút.

Cục Thống kê Dân số Hoa Kỳ được luật pháp yêu cầu bảo mật thông tin của quý vị. Chúng tôi không được phép công bố công khai các câu trả lời của quý vị theo cách có thể nhận dạng hộ gia đình quý vị. Theo Luật Tăng Cường An Ninh Mạng của Liên Bang 2015, dữ liệu của quý vị được bảo vệ để tránh khỏi các nguy cơ về an ninh mạng thông qua cách kiểm duyệt các hệ thống truyền đi dữ liệu của quý vị. Theo luật pháp, Cục Thống kê Dân số chỉ có thể sử dụng câu trả lời của quý vị để lập dữ liệu thống kê.

Nếu quý vị có thể truy cập internet và muốn biết thêm về bản Khảo Sát Cộng Đồng tại Mỹ (American Community Survey), hãy viếng thăm trang mạng của chúng tôi tại census.gov/acs.

Xin cảm ơn sự giúp đỡ của quý vị.

Trân trọng.

The American Community Survey and the 2020 Census

I already answered the 2020 Census. Is this the same thing?

The American Community Survey is different from the 2020 Census.

How is the American Community Survey different from the 2020 Census?

The American Community Survey (ACS) shows how we live—our education, housing, jobs, and more. The ACS provides information about the social and economic needs of your community every year. For example, results may be used to decide where new schools, hospitals, and fire stations are needed.

The census is conducted once every 10 years to provide an official count of the entire U.S. population to Congress.

Do I have to answer the American Community Survey?

Yes, you are required by law to answer the American Community Survey (Title 13, U.S. Code).

Your response will help your community get its fair share of federal funding. The data help determine how more than $675 billion is distributed to states and communities every year.

Can you use my 2020 Census answers for the American Community Survey?

No, your answers to the 2020 Census cannot be used for the American Community Survey (ACS). The ACS asks questions about topics not on the 2020 Census, such as education, employment, and transportation.

Why was I chosen for the American Community Survey?

The U.S. Census Bureau chose this address, not you personally, as part of a randomly selected sample.

Thank you for your participation!

The American Community Survey

Each year, a random sample of addresses completes the American Community Survey.

The Puerto Rico Community Survey and the 2020 Census

Respond to the Survey

I already answered the 2020 Census. Is this the same thing?

The Puerto Rico Community Survey (PRCS) is different from the 2020 Census. The PRCS provides information about the social and economic needs of your community every year. For example, this survey can provide information to plan services for the elderly, emergency services, and federal aid.

The census is conducted once every 10 years to provide an official count of the entire U.S.15 population to Congress.

Do I have to answer the American Community Survey?

Yes, you are required by law to answer the Puerto Rico Community Survey (Title 13, U.S. Code). Your response will help your community plan for the future. The data help leaders, businesses and non-profit organizations know what programs and services your community needs.

Can you use my 2020 Census answers for the Puerto Rico Community Survey?

No, your answers to the 2020 Census cannot be used for the Puerto Rico Community Survey (PRCS). The PRCS asks questions about topics not on the 2020 Census, such as education, employment, and transportation.

Ya respondí al Censo del 2020. ¿Esto es lo mismo?

La Encuesta sobre la Comunidad de Puerto Rico (PRCS, por sus siglas en inglés) es diferente del Censo del 2020. La PRCS proporciona información sobre las necesidades sociales y económicas de su comunidad todos los años.
