

Instrument 3: SIRF Follow-up Meeting with Program Staff Protocol

Strengthening the Implementation of Responsible Fatherhood Programs (SIRF)

Semi-Structured Follow-up Protocol with Program Staff

Thank you for taking time to meet with the SIRF study team. My name is _____, and I'm a researcher with MDRC/MEF/Insight Policy Research. As a reminder, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has contracted with MDRC and its partners, MEF Associates and Insight Policy Research, to conduct SIRF. It will utilize rapid learning methods, or iterative cycles of learning to identify implementation roadblocks, design and test solutions, interpret findings, and make adaptations to practice and measurement.

This meeting and similar meetings with other fatherhood programs have two main purposes. The first is for the SIRF team to learn from programs about the challenges that fatherhood programs face with program implementation. This could include, but is not limited to, challenges recruiting fathers, enrolling them in services, engaging them in initial services, or retaining them as participants in ongoing services. We are also interested in learning about successful or innovative strategies your program has employed to solve these challenges.

Please know that meeting with us is completely voluntary, and you can choose not to answer any question you don't want to answer, or to leave the discussion entirely without any penalty. The discussion will last approximately 2 hours. If you complete only part of our conversation, we may use the information we collected from you before that point to better understand the program.

Anything that you share in the interview will be kept private and will not be used to evaluate you in any way.

I'll be taking some notes in order to keep track of what we discussed here today.

They'll be stored securely. They will not be shared with anyone outside of the SIRF team.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB # for this information collection is 0970-0356 and the expiration date is 6/30/2021.
