Contact After Adoption or Guardianship: Child Welfare Agency and Family Interactions

OMB Control Number: xxxx-xxxx

Expiration Date: XX/XX/XXXX

Contact After Adoption or Guardianship:
Child Welfare Agency and Family Interactions

Case Western Reserve University, Ohio
East Carolina University, North Carolina
RTI International, North Carolina

Sponsored by: Office of Planning, Research, and Evaluation, Administration for Children and Families

Note: The numbering used in this instrument matches what is used in the adoption version (Instrument 1a). This will help the research team identify common questions across the adoption and guardianship surveys. As the guardianship survey is shorter than the adoption survey, this means that there are some skipped numbers. In this draft we have highlighted where these item numbers are purposefully skipped. Also, note that the Adoption Survey Section C is skipped entirely in the Guardianship Survey. The version that the respondents will see will not show the numbering.

Section A: Routine Contact that Your Agency Initiates with Families Post-Guardianship

Definition of agency: When we use the term “agency,” we mean the public agency responsible for providing child welfare services. We understand that in some jurisdictions, the actual services may be contracted out to a private agency. In this survey, we are asking the public child welfare agency to report on the services they either provide directly or contract out to private agencies to provide.

We recognize that you may represent a state-administered or county/hybrid-administered system. We also recognize that there is variation across states in how adoption agencies implement the practices described in this survey. This variation may be especially common in county-administered systems. For the entirety of this survey, please reflect at a high-level about what you think is typical practice across the majority of your state’s agencies.

INTRO A: In this section, we ask about the types of routine contact that your agency initiates with families after guardianship has been finalized.

Section E: Innovative Practices for Guardianship

Thank you for answering all our questions. This is the end of the survey. After reviewing these survey results, our team plans to conduct stakeholder interviews with representatives from agencies who are implementing innovative practices. These innovations could be the way that an agency has contact with or receives information about families after guardianship. The innovative practices could also be in the way that an agency tracks information about the outcomes of children and youth who have exited the foster care system to guardianship.

Below, you may nominate up to five agencies or programs within your state who you believe are implementing innovative practices around routine contact with families post guardianship.

Please list the agency/program name, a point of contact, an email address, and a phone number. First, we ask that you provide the contact information and then below that, please select all the practices they are doing that you think are innovative.
