

Potential Sample Topics for the Policy Impact Survey
(FR 3075; OMB No. 7100-0362)

The FR 3075 allows the Board to collect information regarding the impact of potential changes in regulation. Since each survey would reflect the most current policy variants being considered, the number, type, and definition of specific data items cannot be predicted well in advance. Qualitative data collected might include questions that are categorical, yes-no, ordinal, and open-ended. Quantitative data collected might include dollar amounts, percentages, numbers of items, interest rates, and other such information pertaining to the activities of a financial institution. As noted, using the FR 3075, the Board anticipates conducting five surveys per year, from an average of 14 respondents per survey. The annual reporting burden for the FR 3075 would be capped at 59,500 hours.
