

ADSS Supplemental Survey

Welcome and thank you for taking the time to share your input on this short survey.

This survey is voluntary and your individual responses will be kept private and in the strictest confidence.

Your input really matters. We want every military spouse to have an opportunity to share what matters most to you.

And, we use this data to inform policies and programs that impact military families.

As a result of what spouses told us on the last survey, DoD addressed employment and child care issues - in February 2020, the Secretary of Defense expanded DoD child care access to ensure active duty military members have priority access to child care. The DoD also issued a report to congress with measures to remove barriers for license portability and guidance for states to increase state license reciprocity for military spouses.

Once again, thank you for all that you do each and every day as an integral member of the overall force.
