The purpose of the Lacey Act is to combat trafficking in "illegal" wildlife, fish, and plants. The Lacey Act was amended in 2008. Under the Act now, among other things, it is unlawful to 1) import, export, transport, sell, receive, acquire, or purchase in interstate or foreign commerce any plant, with some limited exceptions, in violation of the laws of the United States, a State, Indian tribe, or any foreign law; 2) import certain plants and plant products without an import declaration; or 3) make or submit any false record, account, or label for, or any false identification of, any plant covered by the Act. APHIS oversees the collection and enforcement of Lacey Act declarations as part of an effort to combat illegal timber imports and protect global natural resources.

Merchandise Details

Need Help ?

The Lacey Act requires that you declare each species in a shipment with its country of harvest and quantity. APHIS does not permit the use of common names. In cases where the species is unknown, the Lacey Act requires that you list all of the species that could be in the shipment.

APHIS has developed a set of Special Use Designations for products which present difficulty in the identification of the component species. These are used in rare occasions and should not be considered the first choice for a declaration.

Enter the scientific name for the article/component. If the species of plant used to produce the product varies and the species used to produce the product is unknown, enter each species that may have been used to produce the product.

Note: You must generate rows for Species and Special Use Designation separately.

Select Species

Please enter a common name or a botanical name to search for a commodity. From the Commodity search results, enter the number of rows to be added to the form for each commodity and click Generate Rows. The corresponding Scientific name (botanical name) will be added to the List of Articles. Click here for search tips. Any search will return a maximum of 1000 results.

Search By: Common Name Botanical Name

- OR -

Select Special Use Designation

If the product was manufactured prior to the Amendment and you cannot determine species, you can select the applicable Special Use option.

Please select the appropriate Special Use Designation (SUD). Use of a SUD is permitted only after the exercise of due care to determine the species present in a shipment. Please see the SUD guidance on the APHIS website for more instructions.

Note: You may only add 100 rows at a time.

Merchandise Details Need Help?

The Lacey Act requires that you declare each species in a shipment with its country of harvest and quantity. APHIS does not permit the use of common names. In cases where the species is unknown, the Lacey Act requires that you list all of the species that could be in the shipment.

APHIS has developed a set of Special Use Designations for products which present difficulty in the identification of the component species. These are used in rare occasions and should not be considered the first choice for a declaration.

Enter the scientific name for the article/component. If the species of plant used to produce the product varies and the species used to produce the product is unknown, enter each species that may have been used to produce the product.

Note: You must generate rows for Species and Special Use Designation separately.

Select Species

Please enter a common name or a botanical name to search for a commodity. From the Commodity search results, enter the number of rows to be added to the form for each commodity and click Generate Rows. The corresponding Scientific name (botanical name) will be added to the List of Articles. Click here for search tips. Any search will return a maximum of 1000 results.
