Communications Focus Groups for Remaking the Safety Net

Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104-13) STATEMENT OF PUBLIC BURDEN: Through this information collection, ACF is gathering information to provide constituent research designed to understand target audiences with experience with economic and social safety net programming. The focus group and research will help identify experiences and perception of participants, and identify ways for the Office of Family Assistance (OFA) to produce communications messaging about safety net programming in a clear and resonant manner. The focus group will assist the program office in; (1) gathering feedback on safety net programming, (2) creating resonant communications messages, and (3) identifying trustworthy and relevant channels for communication with program service providers and beneficiaries. Public reporting for this collection of information is estimated to average 2 hours per respondent, including time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and reviewing the collection of information. This collection of information is not required to retain a benefit. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information subject to the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB # for this collection is 0970-0531 and the expiration date is 7/31/2022. MESSAGE MAP TESTING [35 MINUTES]

INSTRUCTION: READ RSN DESCRIPTOR: This project is about a new government effort called Remaking the Safety Net. The safety net is the large number of government programs designed to help people overcome challenges. Too often it does not help because the programs are not coordinated and are not built to help people achieve their goals. Remaking the Safety Net will rebuild this system so it can help people grow to the point where they do not need it anymore.

To strengthen society, we must strive to help people who are facing challenges. Remaking the Safety Net (RSN) starts with what individuals or families need to be successful, not simply with what government programs have to offer.

(B18)

Right now the safety net starts with the services government programs provide. Once we remake the safety net, it will start with what the individual or family needs to overcome challenges.

(B24)

Every individual has the ability to make life work. But society has to help make success possible. Society has fallen down on its end of the bargain. We need to fix that.

(B47)

We must be willing to try new approaches. We will evaluate our work to determine if it actually helps people be successful and achieve independence.

(B68)

Employment is key to making progress and overcoming challenges. As an individual strives to make enough money to live on, government can provide help as he or she works to take care of his or herself, his or her family.

(B53)

We have made a mistake trying to create a one-size-fits-all safety net. Government must help each community develop and implement its own vision for helping people succeed.

(B72)

We will provide support, while helping an individual or family develop the skills and abilities they need to overcome challenges—we will provide what is needed as a person works to achieve independence.

(B39)

Government can bring all parts of society together to build a safety net that creates real partnerships with individuals and families.
