You're Invited

Dear [FIRST NAME] [LAST NAME],

Your household has been scientifically selected to take part in a unique study. We are conducting a non-partisan survey that will be used to evaluate state and federal programs that support wildlife-related recreation and manage wildlife populations.

We are interested in hearing how much (or little) your household participates in outdoor recreational activities. Your household represents thousands of other households across the U.S. Your participation will generate valuable insights such as how federal and state funds should be allocated.

This short survey lasts approximately 10 minutes and as a thank you, we will send you ($$) once it's completed.

To participate, please visit us as xxxxxxx@norc.org and enter your PIN (xxxxxx), or call us toll free at xxx-xxx-xxxx to participate over the phone or request a paper copy of the survey.

This survey is only open until (date). We hope you'll participate today!

Sincerely,

Kate Bachtell, Project Director
National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, & Wildlife-Associated Recreation

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is funding this research?

Funding for this project comes from a Multistate Conservation Grant jointly administered by the US Fish and Wildlife Service and the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies.

What is this study about?

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has sponsored national surveys of fishing and hunting at about five-year intervals since 1955. This survey, the National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife-Associated Recreation (FHWAR), is authorized by the Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration Programs Improvement Act of 2000. This study helps carry out the responsibility to conserve, protect, and enhance fish and wildlife for the benefit of the American people.

Why should I participate?

Whether you're an avid fisher/hunter/wildlife-watcher, or never participate in these activities, we want to know! By taking part in this study you can help make sure we collect the most complete and accurate data possible on fishing, hunting, and wildlife-associated activities across the United States. Study results are used by non-profits, news organizations, and other state and federal agencies to better understand current participation in outdoor recreation as well as to project the community's needs of the future.

Why me? Can't you just select someone else?

Through a scientific sampling process, your household was chosen to represent 2,500 other households similar to yours. Because of this, you can't be replaced. The success of the study depends on voluntary participation from folks just like you.

Do I have to participate?

Participation is voluntary, and if you decide to take part in the study you may choose to skip any question(s) you do not want to answer or stop participating at any time.

How do I know this is legitimate?

There are several ways to check the legitimacy of this study. Learn more about:

- NORC at the University of Chicago: www.norc.org
- Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (AFWA): www.fishwildlife.org
- US Fish and Wildlife Service: www.fws.org

Who do I contact about my rights as a respondent?

If you have any questions regarding your rights as a study participant, you may call the NORC IRB Manager, toll-free, at 866-309-0542.

How is my privacy protected?

Your answers will always be kept private, and none of the information that you provide will be used for any purpose other than research. Your name and any information that could identify you will never be used. Your responses will be combined with others and reported in statistic form.
