Project Summary - Online Diversity, Leadership and Climate for Inclusion

- (1) Purpose of the research: The purpose of this study is to better understand diversity and inclusion within the Army. The project will examine how the Army defines diversity and inclusion, how policies are developed and implemented, and how inclusion policies and procedures align with or differ from Soldier observations and experiences.
- (2) What you will be asked to do in this research: If you volunteer to participate, you will be asked to first complete a demographics form that will help us connect diversity characteristics with survey responses and unit outcomes. Next, you will be asked to complete a survey with questions about your observations and experience in the Army, especially as it pertains to diversity and inclusion and unit outcomes. Altogether, this survey will take approximately 45 minutes to complete. With appropriate review the data and information collected here may be used in future projects.
- (3) Voluntary participation: *Your participation is voluntary, and nobody outside of the research team will know whether or not you participated. You may withdraw your consent at any time and discontinue participation without penalty. Refusal to participate or discontinuation of participation will result in no penalty or loss of benefits to which you are otherwise entitled.
- (4) Confidentiality: We will not identify you, nor attribute specific responses to you or any other particular participant. It may be possible to combine different responses to the demographic questions to identify an individual. However, all responses will be kept confidential and your privacy protected. All data analyses will be conducted only by persons engaged in this project or future approved projects. We will NOT include your name or the name of your unit, or other personally identifiable information in any report or documents provided outside of the context of this exercise. All data will be stored in an encrypted database, in a safe, locked location within one of the approved researcher's facilities. Only project personnel who have been officially documented and approved will have access to the data. Note: we cannot provide "confidentiality" or "non-attribution" to a participant regarding comments involving criminal activity/behavior, or statements that pose a threat to yourself or others.

(5) Time required: approximately 45 minutes.

(6) Risks: *It is possible you may experience discomfort answering questions regarding diversity and/or questions that could reflect negatively on the Army or your leadership. You can choose to skip any questions that make you uncomfortable. We aim to minimize these risks by providing privacy when answering questions and taking steps to ensure your answers remain confidential. Although we have approved safeguards to secure these data and minimize the risk as much as possible, there is always some risk that data may be disclosed.

(7) Benefits: There are no direct benefits to you as a result of participation. However, both society and the Army will benefit from the findings through the advancement of knowledge on the relationships between diversity, inclusion, and unit outcomes. The Army will benefit from enhanced knowledge of diversity and inclusion, how these concepts are linked to things such as work attitudes and the success of the Army. Society and the Army will also benefit from development of a novel measure of new concepts related to diversity and inclusion that can influence diversity policy implementation, leading to a more cohesive workplace environment.

(8) Compensation: None.
