The screenshot shows the top portion of an Eventbrite registration page. On the left, there is a blue header with the NIH logo and text: "U.S. Department of Health & Human Services National Institutes of Health" and "National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health". In the center, it says "OMB#: 0925-0740 Exp Date: 07/31/2022". On the right, the event title "Laying the Foundation: Building Blocks of Music-Based Interventions" is displayed, along with the date "MAR 31" and the text "by National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health". There is a "Follow" button and the word "Free" below it. At the bottom right, there is a green "Register" button. A heart icon is visible on the left side of the page.

Laying the Foundation: Defining the Building Blocks of Music-Based Interventions

About this Event

The National Institutes of Health (NIH), in collaboration with the Foundation for the NIH and the Renée Fleming Foundation, are sponsoring an expert panel discussion—the first in a series of three meetings intended to develop evidence-based music therapies for brain disorders of aging. The roundtable format will be used to gather input from individuals representing neuroscience, music therapy and music medicine, behavioral intervention development, clinical trial methodology, and patient advocacy and art-based organizations. Mr. Alan Weil, editor of Health Affairs, will serve as facilitator in fostering a dialogue between the NIH organizers and a group of invited experts. The NIH organizers will utilize input gathered from these meetings and the broader scientific community to inform the creation of a toolkit for research on music and health across the lifespan. NIH organizers ultimately hope to develop and disseminate the toolkit, which will include a consolidated set of common data elements for music-based intervention protocols.
