TITLE OF INFORMATION COLLECTION: NCI Drug Development Workshop: How to Advance A Therapeutic Candidate from Bench to Bedside

PURPOSE: This virtual workshop is organized by the Division of Cancer Treatment and Diagnosis (DCTD) at the National Cancer Institute (NCI). It is planned to introduce the principles of late stage drug development to educate translational scientists who are interested in advancing their agents to the clinic for cancer treatment. The registration page will provide a platform for individuals who are interested in this workshop to register for the workshop. The information collected on the registration page is needed for the purpose of distributing workshop logistic information and materials, as well as for us to understand our audience composition.

DESCRIPTION OF RESPONDENTS: The intended respondents are researchers who are interested in learning how to advance cancer drugs from preclinical development stage to clinical testing and opt to respond. The main body of respondents are anticipated to be academic translational researchers, particularly those who are NCI grantees and their trainees.
