NCCIH/NHLBI-led Trans-NIH workshop on Sickle Cell Disease Pain

About this event

This trans-National Institutes of Health (NIH) workshop will focus on sickle cell disease pain. Researchers will explore critical gaps and research challenges as well as brainstorm potential solutions for this grossly understudied pain condition in a highly underserved population. This fits into the NIH mission of seeking fundamental knowledge to enhance health. The meeting planning is being led by the National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health and the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute.

The agenda and registration information will be shared widely in June.

Dates:

Wednesday, July 21; Noon-5:30 p.m.

Thursday, July 22; Noon-5:30 p.m.

OMB#: 0925-0740

Expiration Date: 07/31/2022

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 10 minutes per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden to: NIH, Project Clearance Branch, 6705 Rockledge Drive, MSC 7974, Bethesda, MD 20892-7974, ATTN: PRA (0925-0740).
