Subject: 2021 NIH Virtual Community College Day: Registration is Now Open

Dear Community College Faculty/Administrators:

I hope that all is well. I am pleased to announce that this year, the NIH will host the 2021 Virtual Community College Day on Tuesday, November 23, 2021! The goal of the annual Community College Day is to provide community college students and faculty an opportunity to learn about careers in the areas of biomedical sciences and health. This year's virtual program will include career panels, virtual networking, a newly added panel on "Preparing for the 4-year College/University Experience, and the popular session on the NIH Community College Summer Enrichment Program/Alumni panel. This is a program that many of students and faculty have grown to enjoy prior to the Thanksgiving Holiday! It is always a pleasure to physically see everyone each year. However, I hope that the virtual program will be just as inspiring and encouraging to your students! I hope that you will encourage them to attend.

Registration is now open! This program is free and open to all students and faculty nationwide. So please feel free to forward the attached "Save-the-Date" flyer!

For additional information and to review the agenda, please visit <https://www.training.nih.gov/communitycollegeday>

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

I look forward to "seeing" you in November!

Take Care,
Erika L. Barr, PhD
