10th Annual Symposium on Global Cancer Research @ The 2022 Consortium of Universities for Global Health Annual Conference

The 10th Annual Symposium on Global Cancer Research will be held virtually March 21, 2022 – March 25, 2022 as a satellite meeting to the 13th Annual Consortium of Universities for Global Health \(CUGH\) Global Health Conference. The Symposium is organized through a collaboration with the US National Cancer Institute Center for Global Health, CUGH, UCLA Jonsson Comprehensive Cancer Center, USC Norris Comprehensive Cancer Center, City of Hope Comprehensive Cancer Center, the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO), and the American Association for Cancer Research (AACR). The objectives of this virtual Symposium are to: (1) provide a venue for the global oncology research community to exchange information to identify potential areas for collaboration; (2) develop strategic priorities for advancing the field of global oncology; and (3) share initiatives that are reducing the burden of cancer in low resource settings.

Submission Guidelines

The organizers invite all persons wishing to report original research, projects, or programs related to global cancer research and control to submit abstracts.

General

- All abstracts must be submitted in English.
- Abstract maximum word count is 300.
- Abstract titles must be 250 characters or less and should not be submitted in all caps.
- Abstracts should not contain figures or tables.
- Abstracts highlighting research or programs conducted in low- and middle-income countries (LMICs) must contain at least one author affiliated with an institution from the same LMIC.
- Only one abstract per person as presenting or first author may be submitted. (Note: There is a maximum of three abstracts total per author).
- Abstracts must be submitted online by November 22, 2021 at 11:59pm EST.

Topic Areas

Authors will be asked to select a topic area(s) relevant to their abstract at the time of submission. The six topic areas have been identified from the International Cancer Research Partnership's (ICRP) Common Scientific Outline (CSO) classification system. For definitions and more information on CSO codes, please visit <https://www.icrpartnership.org/cso>. The six topic areas include:

- Biology
- Etiology
- Prevention
- Early detection, diagnosis, and prognosis
- Treatment
- Cancer control, survivorship, and outcomes research

Only abstracts that comply with all the above guidelines will be considered for presentation and publication. Authors will receive decisions and more information about the virtual platform and presentations via email February 2022.

Responsibilities of Authors

By submitting an abstract for presentation at the 10th ASGCR, abstract authors agree and/or attest to the following:

Confirmation of Originality. Authors who submit an abstract must confirm that the abstract is original, does not infringe on copyright or proprietary or personal rights of any person, firm, or corporation.

Review Criteria

Abstracts will be reviewed based on the following criteria:

- Public health significance: addresses relevant public health question
- Methodology: methods chosen are appropriate for research, project, or program
- Overall impact: enhances understanding of global cancer burden/aims to improve global cancer control equitably
- Clarity of ideas

Publication

Accepted abstracts will be selected for poster and/or oral presentation and will be published later in 2022 in ASCO's JCO Global Oncology. Only abstracts that agree and/or attest to the following will be considered for publication:

Confirmation of No Prior Publication/Presentation. Authors who submit an abstract must confirm that they have not previously published these data, that they have not previously presented them at a large national annual scientific meeting, and that they are not planning to present or publish them prior to the dates of the 2022 ASGCR.

Exception: Encore presentations must contain updated data not previously presented or published.
