Promoting Opportunity Demonstration (POD) Voluntary Participation Consent Form

What is POD?

- The Social Security Administration (SSA) is conducting a new study called POD for beneficiaries who receive Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI). If you work or want to work, you might find POD attractive because it uses simpler rules for reporting earnings to SSA. POD also includes new rules to adjust your benefits for earnings. SSA will randomize volunteers into one of three groups. Two out of three volunteers randomized into the POD groups will take part in the simpler rules for reporting earnings.

Do I have to participate in POD?

- No. POD is a voluntary study. There is no penalty if you choose not to participate.

What do I need to do to participate in POD?

- Read, sign, and return this agreement form.

When will POD end?

- POD will end in June 2021. All POD volunteers will return to current SSDI rules when POD ends.

Who will see my information and how will they use it in POD?

- SSA, POD researchers at Mathematica Policy Research, POD staff at Abt Associates who operate the study, and possibly vocational rehabilitation (VR) and Work Incentive Planning and Assistance (WIPA) program staff will see the information. The researchers will use this information to study whether the POD rules improve beneficiaries' outcomes. They will not report your individual information to anyone else.

How do POD rules differ from current SSDI rules?

- The rules tested under POD will allow you to keep some of your benefits when your earnings are high enough that you would otherwise lose them all under current rules. If you discover that current rules are better for you, you can switch back at any time.

Will the new POD rules benefit me?

- You could benefit from the rules tested under POD if you plan to regularly earn more than $1,200 a month for longer than a year. If you are blind, you could benefit from POD if you plan to regularly earn more than $2,000 a month for longer than a year. You can call 1-888-771-9188 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. eastern time to learn whether POD might be right for you. You can also visit www.podssa.org.

What are the potential risks of participating in POD?

- If you are selected for the special POD rules, in some situations, your benefits could be lower under POD than under current rules (see “How will working affect my benefits?” in the supplemental information materials).
- There is a small risk of an accidental release of personal information. Mathematica has extensive procedures in place to prevent this from happening. We would inform you immediately of any specific threat to your privacy.

If I agree to be in POD, what will happen?

1. You will receive $25 for signing this form, completing the survey, and returning both in the provided envelope.
2. SSA will randomly assign you to one of three groups shown in a table in the supplemental information materials. Mathematica will notify you via mail about your group.

Mathematica will contact you in the future to ask you to complete one or two follow-up surveys. All of these surveys are voluntary. SSA will pay you for participating in them.

Can I withdraw from POD?

- Yes. If SSA assigns you to one of the two groups with special rules, you can choose to return to current SSDI program rules at any time during the demonstration by calling 1-888-771-9188. You can also withdraw from the study if you are in any of the study groups (new rules groups or current rules group) at any time by calling the same number. We will use any information we collected while you were in the study.

If SSA randomly assigns me to a group with the special POD rules for earnings, will any current SSDI rules still apply to me?

- Yes. No matter which group SSA randomly assigns you to, the following rules apply:
 - You could be required to undergo periodic medical reviews. You could lose your benefits if SSA determines your medical condition has improved. However, working will not result in a medical review, and participation in POD will not affect selection for these reviews.
 - Your benefits could still be suspended for non-work-related issues.
 - Your auxiliaries (for example, children on your record) will continue to be eligible for monthly benefits as long as you are eligible for benefits during that month. If your monthly SSDI is reduced to $0.00 due to the POD offset, then your auxiliary's monthly benefit will also be reduced to $0.00 for that month.
 - If you receive more benefits than you are due in any month, you will have to repay the overpayment. SSA might allow you to repay the overpayment in installments to avoid financial hardship.
 - You will still be eligible for Ticket to Work.
