*Census dated 1920 may be searched if you give only the name of the city, county, State of residence, and the name of the household head on the census date. However, a more complete address is helpful if extensive searching is required. For all other census listed, it is necessary to give your exact place of residence on the census date.

The average time it should take you to fill out the BC-658, "Insufficient Information Received to Proceed with Search," including the time spent reading instructions is 6 minutes.
