MILITARY FAMILY LIFE COUNSELOR (MFLC) RESPONDENTS

Introduction: Thank you for taking time to complete this brief survey related to Counseling on Access to Lethal Means (CALM). CALM involves asking clients who are experiencing significant distress or an adverse life experience about their exposure to lethal products (e.g., firearms, prescriptions/illegal drugs, poisons), which may be used to harm oneself or others in their home or other environments. If clients respond affirmatively, then a helping professional provides options for voluntary, temporary removal of lethal products or options for safe storage and use of lethal products. As a Military Family Life Counselor (MFLC), you may have or be in a position to use CALM as part of your duties. The purpose of this survey is to understand your experience with CALM training and your experience using CALM in the workplace. Your feedback will help us improve future training and implementation of CALM for all MFLCs. If you are unable to answer a question or a question is not applicable, please proceed to the next question. Survey participation is voluntary. You can skip questions you choose not to answer, and you can stop participating at any time. Data from the survey will only be reported in the aggregate; no responses will be linked back to an individual.

Instructions: Unless otherwise noted, please choose the response that best indicates your experience with CALM training and implementation within the past 12 months. Some questions are designed to understand your perceptions of how clients react to CALM techniques that are discussed during encounters. Please answer to the best of your ability and note your responses to these questions are confidential. Please do not include personally identifying information about yourself or your clients.
