WATER RESOURCES RESEARCH
NATIONAL COMPETITIVE GRANTS PROGRAM
ANNOUNCEMENT
FY 2019

ABSTRACT

The U.S. Geological Survey in cooperation with the National Institutes for Water Resources requests proposals for matching grants to support research on the topic of improving and enhancing the nation's water supply, including evaluation of innovative approaches to water treatment, infrastructure design, retrofitting, maintenance, management, and replacement; exploration and advancement of our understanding of changes in the quantity and quality of water resources in response to a changing climate, population shifts, and land use changes; development of methods for better estimation of water supply, both surface and groundwater, including estimation of the physical supply and of the economic supply of water; development and evaluation of processes and governance mechanisms for integrated surface/ground water management; and the evaluation and assessment of conservation practices. Any investigator at an accredited institution of higher learning in the United States is eligible to apply for a grant through a Water Research Institute or Center established under the provisions of the Water Resources Research Act of 1984, as amended (<http://water.usgs.gov/wrri/institutes.html>). Proposals involving substantial collaboration between the USGS and university scientists are encouraged. Proposals may be for projects of 1 to 3 years in duration and may request up to $250,000 in federal funds. Successful applicants must match each dollar of the federal grant with one dollar from non-federal sources. Preproposals must be submitted to your State Institute or Center by 5:00 PM, Eastern Time, February 15, 2019 and invited full proposals to the National Competitive Grants Program must be submitted to the grants.gov internet site at <http://www.grants.gov> not later than 5:00 PM Eastern Time, May 29, 2019 by the university at which the Institute or Center is located. I. INTRODUCTION

This Program Announcement is issued under the provisions of section 104 of the Water Resources Research Act of 1984 (Public Law 98-242), as amended by Public Laws 101-397, 104-147, 106-374, and 109-471. Section 104 of the Water Resources Research Act directs the Secretary of the Interior to administer program grants to Institutes and Centers established under the provisions of section 104(a) of the Act. Water Resources Institutes or Centers have been established in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Guam. The Institute in Guam also serves the Federated States of Micronesia and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. The Institute in Hawaii also serves American Samoa. The addresses of the 54 Institutes are available on the Internet at <http://water.usgs.gov/wrri/institutes.html>. Responsibility for administration of the State Water Resources Research Institute program has been delegated to the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS).

The 54 Institutes are organized as the National Institutes for Water Resources (NIWR). NIWR cooperates with the USGS in the administration of the State Water Resources Research Institute Program. II. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Section 104(g) of the Water Resources Research Act of 1984 requires that this competitive grant program focus on: “water problems and issues of a regional or interstate nature beyond those of concern only to a single State and which relate to specific program priorities identified jointly by the Secretary (of the Interior) and the (water resources research) institutes.”

Objectives of this program also include the following:

- A. Promote collaboration between the USGS and university scientists in research on significant national and regional water resources issues.

Proposals exhibiting substantial collaboration between the USGS and the applicant are encouraged and will receive extra weight in the evaluation and selection process. Collaborative proposals should describe in detail the respective roles of the USGS and the applicant in the proposed work. It is anticipated in FY2019 the USGS will have internal funds available for modest support of USGS scientists on selected proposals.

Potential applicants seeking collaborative opportunities are encouraged to contact USGS scientists directly (<http://water.usgs.gov/nrp/science.php>) or Water Science Center Directors (http://water.usgs.gov/district_chief.html).

- B. Promote the dissemination and application of the results of the research funded under this program.
- C. Assist in the training of scientists in relevant water resource fields. Proposals that include a strong educational component (student support) are encouraged, as are Proposals from faculty beginning their careers.

III. RESEARCH PRIORITIES

Proposals are sought on the topic of improving and enhancing the nation’s water supply and availability, and promoting the exploration of new ideas that address or expand our understanding of water problems, including the following specific areas of inquiry (levels of priority are not assigned, and the order of listing does not indicate the level of priority):

- Evaluation of innovative approaches to water treatment, infrastructure design, retrofitting, maintenance, management and replacement.
- Exploration and advancement of our understanding of changes in the quantity and quality of water resources in response to a changing climate, population shifts, and land use changes; including associated economic, environmental, social, and/or infrastructure costs.
- Development of methods for better estimation of water supply, both surface and groundwater, including estimation of the physical and/or economic supply of water.

- Development and evaluation of processes and governance mechanisms for integrated surface/ground water management.
- Evaluation and assessment of the effects of water conservation practices, as well as adoption, penetration and permanence.

IV. PROPOSALS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR FUNDING

- A. Proposals for research on health effects involving human subjects.
- B. Proposals for research involving oceanography (estuarine research proposals are acceptable).
- C. Proposals submitted by an Institute or Center that has not met reporting requirements on a previous award by the USGS.

Each preproposal will need to be written following the template (Attachment A). Preproposals which meet the requirements of this Announcement will be evaluated by a peer review panel composed of Institute directors, university scientists, and USGS employees experienced in water resources research. Preproposals will be reviewed according to the following criteria:

25 Points: Relevance and Importance. - The extent to which: (1) the preproposal focuses on a water problem or issue of a regional or interstate nature of concern to more than one State and directly addresses a research priority described in this RFP (Section III); (2) the subject is of particularly high importance to present and future water resources management programs; and (3) the preproposal includes collaboration with the USGS if appropriate.

25 Points: Scientific Merit. - The extent to which the preproposal (1) has potential to expand fundamental knowledge in its specific area(s); (2) is scientifically sound; and (3) demonstrates cognizance of past work.

25 Points: Expected Results and Benefits. - The extent to which the preproposal describes the how the potential outcomes and the potential realistic impacts of the proposed work.

15 Points: Information Transfer. - The extent the preproposal actively addresses the eventual transfer of results to user groups and whether it actively addresses the impact that the results could have?

10 Points: Training. – The extent to which the preproposal has a strong educational component, provides for student support, and engages a principal investigator near the beginning of his or her career?

B. Invited Full Proposals

Each invited full proposal will need to be written following the template (Attachment B). Full proposals which meet the requirements of this Announcement will be evaluated by a peer review panel composed of Institute directors, university scientists, and USGS employees experienced in water resources research. Proposals will be reviewed according to the following criteria:

20 Points: Relevance and Importance. - The statement of relevance and importance is a critical component of the proposal review process. Describe the water problem or issue of a regional or interstate nature of concern to more than one State and directly addresses a research priority described in Section III. Document the magnitude of the situation and relevance of the issue/problem to state, regional and national issues. Why is this project/topic innovative and important? Does the proposal include collaboration with the USGS if appropriate?

20 Points: Scientific Merit. – The extent to which the proposal (1) has potential to expand fundamental knowledge through the stated goals and objectives; (2) is scientifically sound through the description of the research objectives; and (3) demonstrates cognizance of past work.

20 Points: Expected Results and Benefits. – The extent to which the proposal describes the how the potential outcomes and the potential realistic impacts of the proposed work.

10 Points: Information Transfer. – The extent the proposal actively addresses the eventual transfer of results to user groups how it will deliver the potential impacts of the research proposed.

10 Points: Training. – The extent to which the proposal has a strong educational component, provides for student support, and engages a principal investigator near the beginning of his or her career?

10 Points: Qualifications of the Investigators. The extent to which the qualifications of the investigators are commensurate with the proposed research, and the adequacy of the facilities and equipment.

10 Points: Budget. The extent to which the budget is reasonable and adequate for the work proposed. Note: the principal investigator's salary is an acceptable budget item, but the federal share of the salary should not exceed one or two months per year.

Full proposals recommended for funding will be forwarded to the USGS for review and approval. Awards will be made directly to the Water Resources Research Institute or Center through which the proposal was submitted. The target award date is August through September with a USGS-preferred project start date of September 1, 2019. The project start date must be no later than September 30, 2019.

* NEW for this Fiscal Year a USGS Data Management Plan must be included in the full proposal. Requirements for the data plan are included below.

Proposals submitted to USGS must include a supplementary document of no more than two pages labeled "Data Management Plan" (DMP). This supplementary document should describe how the proposal will conform to USGS policy on the dissemination and sharing of research results and associated data. A valid DMP may include only the statement that no detailed plan is needed (e.g. "No data are expected to be produced from this project"), as long as the statement is accompanied by a clear justification. This supplementary document may include:

- the types of data, samples, physical collections, software, curriculum materials, and other materials to be produced in the course of the project;
- the standards to be used for data and metadata format and content (where existing standards are absent or deemed inadequate, this should be documented along with any proposed solutions or remedies);
- policies for access and sharing including provisions for appropriate protection of privacy, confidentiality, security, intellectual property, or other rights or requirements;
- provisions for re-use, re-distribution, and the production of derivatives; and
- plans for archiving data, samples, and other research products, and for preservation of free public access to them.

Additional guidance on data management plans is available from the USGS Data Management web site here: <http://www.usgs.gov/datamanagement/plan/dmplans.php>

Simultaneously submitted collaborative proposals and proposals that include subawards are a single unified project and should include only one supplemental combined DMP by the lead PI that also addresses all subaward data management needs, regardless of the number of non-lead collaborative proposals or subawards included.
