Creative Stimuli

These creative stimuli are used in Sections IV and V of the focus group discussion. Please review the stimuli in conjunction with the guide.

Note, the order of the stimuli will be rotated between focus group 1 and focus group 2, to eliminate any sorting bias.

- The stimuli labels will NOT be shown to the respondents. Only the creative assets will be displayed. However, we are labeling the creative here for review with the links.

ATV Americans - make sure you wear a helmet and stay off paved roads if you're riding this weekend.

Ted wasn't sure how he ended up in the Cretaceous Period, but he was sure glad he wore a helmet.

Good job, Ted.

Lesson 7 - September is Baby Safety Month.

A composite image for a baby safety advertisement. The top half shows a baby's face superimposed onto a turtle's shell, which is resting on a log by the water. The bottom right corner shows a baby in a white onesie with a pacifier, lying on a patterned surface. The text is overlaid on the bottom left of the image.

Babies don't come with shells

YOU need to keep them safe.
Always lay your (human) baby down to sleep on their back, without pillows or blankets, every time.

(A) - The new Anchor Ad

Anchor It! - Holiday - Instagram

<https://www.instagram.com/p/CWeBoNHAX4Z/#advertiser>

The image shows an Instagram post from the account 'uscpsc'. The main content is a video thumbnail of a young child in a blue shirt and tan shorts standing on a red patterned rug in a nursery. The child is reaching up towards a television set that is placed on top of a white dresser. A play button icon is overlaid on the video. The room contains various toys, including a wooden toy elephant and colorful blocks. To the right of the video is the Instagram post interface, which includes the profile picture and name 'uscpsc', a 'Follow' button, and a three-dot menu. The caption reads: 'uscpsc Buying furniture or a TV this Cyber Monday? Add an anchoring kit to that shopping cart before you click "purchase," and prevent a tragic furniture tip-over. Visit anchorit.gov for a boatload of safety info.' Below the caption is the text '18w'. At the bottom of the post are icons for likes, comments, and a bookmark, along with the text '11 views' and 'NOVEMBER 19, 2021'. A 'Log in to like or comment.' prompt is visible at the very bottom.
