

Subject Line: Invitation to Join DoD Study

Dear Sailor,

Based on your service status, you have been selected to represent your fellow Sailors by participating in an important military research study examining the health behaviors of active duty Service Members.

Study participation will involve participating in an individual interview with one of our research assistants. To show our appreciation for your time, you will receive a $40 gift card code to Amazon.com once you have completed the interview. In addition, your participation may help us better address the needs of future Sailors. If you are interested, we would appreciate if you would contact us within the next two weeks

This Department of Defense-sponsored study will be conducted completely online and confidentially. The purpose of the study is to determine which health and relationship behaviors are common among active duty Sailors. It will take approximately 90 minutes to complete the interview. The research assistant will ask you a variety of questions about Sailors' perceptions regarding relationships and health-related behaviors. They will also ask you some questions about how you think an existing sexual assault prevention program designed for the civilian population may be best adapted for the Navy population.

Please note that any information you provide will not be made available to your chain of command or promotion boards, nor will it affect any future medical care you receive. If at any time you need to quit the interview, the information you provided will be submitted to the research team. If you stop the interview and want to continue, you will need to restart a different interview from the beginning.

If you would like to participate in this research, please use the link below to take a brief pre-interview survey. After the survey is completed, we will contact you to set up a time for your interview.
