US NAVY JAG CORPS

As a member of the Navy Judge Advocate General (JAG) Corps, you'll experience the most diverse legal practice available to an attorney. Working in locations around the world, you'll get hands-on experience in everything from international law to civil litigation and military justice. Unlike many junior lawyers in private firms who spend their early years conducting research, as a Navy JAG you'll begin working with real-world military clients from the moment you enter the JAG Corps. Whether you're drafting wills for deploying Sailors or advising Officers on rules of engagement aboard a Navy aircraft carrier, your work as a Navy JAG has a direct impact on the world.
