Talking Points for Parent Recruitment and Consent

Parent of a Child Participant

Note to reviewers: The onsite point-of-contact will distribute the recruitment letter and brochure to sampled parents and direct them to the study website. When parents call the help desk, the home office help desk team will use the talking points below to describe the study and complete the consent process.

The study

1. For the next few months, [sampled site name], where your child receives child care, is part of a national study sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, or USDA.
2. This study is the second Study of Nutrition and Activity in Child Care Settings, referred to as SNACS-II. Mathematica and its partner, Westat, are conducting SNACS-II for USDA.
3. [Sampled site name] is one of about 1,300 child care providers across the country that are helping USDA understand the food and activities provided in child care settings. Part of the study will look at what children eat and what they do to stay active while in child care and out of child care. We are inviting you and your child, [sampled child's name], to participate in this new and exciting study!

 - b. To help you report your child's food and drinks during the interviews, we will ask you to:
 - i. Write down the type and amount of food and drink your child has the day before your interview using a Child Food Diary, which we will mail to you before the interview.
 - ii. Report the amount of food and drinks during the interview using a Food Model Booklet. We will mail this to you too.
 - c. With your written permission, professional data collectors will:
 - i. Observe the meals and snacks served to and eaten by your child at the child care center.
 - ii. Observe your child's activities while at the child care center/home.
 - iii. Take height and weight measurements of your child. Staff at the center/home will help with this. The data collector will never be alone with your child. All equipment will be thoroughly cleaned and sanitized.
 - d. We will send you a gift card after you complete each telephone interview. You will receive $20 after the first interview and $30 after you complete the second interview. You will receive another $30 gift card after you complete the third interview.
