BENEFICIARY DESIGNATION

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATIONS WHEN CHOOSING BENEFICIARIES
AND PROVIDING INFORMATION

- If you name any minor child as a beneficiary: The age at which a child becomes eligible to inherit benefits directly may be different in each state. A guardian, conservator, or other legal representative may have to be appointed by a court to receive property on behalf of a minor. You, your estate or other beneficiaries may be required to pay legal expenses to make these arrangements. If you designate a beneficiary who is a minor child at the time of your death, the benefits will not be paid to that child until your estate provides the insurance company with a copy of the court order appointing a guardian, conservator, or other legal representative for that minor child.
- To name a trust as beneficiary, please list the name and date of the Trust. Trust documents must be attached and submitted with this form.
- To name your estate as beneficiary, please list "My Estate."
- A married female should be designated by her given first name, not by her spouse's given name. For example, if you wish to list Mary e. Jones as your beneficiary, list her as Mary E. Jones, not Mrs. John Jones.
