General Form Instructions

PARP applicants that are a new producer in 2020, new producer in 2019, or a producer who increased production capacity from 2018 or 2019 to 2020 may seek a COC adjustment to the 2019 revenue. The producer will complete this form in addition to form FSA-1122 and provide acceptable documentation to COC within 30 calendar days of filing the PARP application. Failure to timely provide acceptable documentation will result in the COC denying the 2019 allowable gross revenue adjustment.

New Producer in 2020:

Producers who began their farm operation in 2020 will certify their actual allowable gross revenue from 2020 on form FSA-1122 and their expected allowable gross revenue in 2020 on this form. Acceptable documentation must be provided within 30 calendar days of filing the PARP application. Acceptable documentation includes, but is not limited to financial documents, sales contracts or purchase agreements, documentation supporting production capacity, use of existing production capacity or physical alterations that demonstrate production capacity. The documentation must demonstrate an expected level of gross revenue.

New Producer in 2019:

A new producer in 2019 is a producer who began farming in 2019 that does not have a full year's gross revenue to report for 2019. The producer will certify their 2019 and 2020 actual allowable gross revenue on form FSA-1122. The producer may seek a new producer factor to adjust their 2019 gross revenue by completing this form.

Increased Operating Capacity from 2018 or 2019 to 2020

A producer who increased the operating capacity of their farming operation will not have 2018 or 2019 gross revenue that reflects their 2020 operating capacity and gross revenue. The producer will certify their 2018 or 2019 and 2020 actual allowable gross revenue on form FSA-1122. The producer may seek an expanded operation factor to adjust their 2018 or 2019 revenue by completing this form.

The following table describes the types of evidence and provides examples that document the expected revenue had:
