

NATIVE YOUTH CLIMATE ADAPTATION LEADERSHIP CONGRESS
JR. FACULTY NOMINATION FORM

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
National Conservation Training Center

[Insert Dates]

What:

Jr. Faculty are enrolled college-age students that serve as mentors to high school students alongside and in concert with the high school student's adult mentors during the Native Youth Climate Adaptation Leadership Congress (NYCALC/ Congress). During the week of Congress, several workshops for Jr. Faculty will provide additional training in leadership skills and career development. Participation as a Jr. Faculty also opens the opportunity to join the network of Fresh Tracks at the Aspen Institute, which provides young Indigenous, rural, and urban leaders with cross-cultural community-building skills, leadership development training, civic engagement opportunities, and resources for innovative youth and community-led action.

How to nominate:

Each agency can nominate and sponsor 3 to 5 Junior Faculty for NYCALC, including per diem and travel arrangements. Each Agency may submit a maximum of five Jr. Faculty nominations for NYCALC. Supervisors must complete this form and submit it to your agency's lead point of contact for NYCALC. If there are more than five nominations, it is the responsibility of the lead NYCALC coordinator to determine which top five to be submitted to NCTC.

If you are interested in being a Jr. Faculty but do not have a nominating/supporting agency, you may still submit your nomination form and indicate "need agency support." We will try to secure funding, but Jr. Faculty will be accepted on a case-by-case basis, dependent on available funding.

NOTE: Please have Jr. Faculty Nominee complete the following information, answer the questions below (see page 2), and provide a resume to submit with the nomination form.
