Survey introduction

ENGLISH

Thank you for your help with this important national survey!

This survey will help us understand your experiences with banking and your banking preferences. It includes questions about banking, account access, debt, fees, financial caregiving, fraud and scams, educational opportunities, and your financial situation. Your responses will help us design new policies to help and protect consumers. Your answers are confidential. Please do not identify yourself in any way in your responses. Some optional questions at the end of the survey will ask for your name and contact information if you are interested in being contacted for a follow-up interview. Your participation is voluntary and you may withdraw at any time.

The survey will take about 15 minutes to complete. At any time, if you exit before submitting, you can log back in to complete the survey from where you left off.

Informed Consent

What is the purpose of the CFPB National Banking Survey?

The purpose of this study is to examine consumers' experiences with banking and consumers' banking preferences. As part of this study, you will be asked to answer a short online survey asking you about your banking experiences and preferences. We expect the survey will take about 15 minutes to complete. The data collected may be used for future research.

What is the CFPB?

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) is a federal agency created in 2010. One mission of the CFPB is to empower consumers to take control over their financial lives. This study will help the CFPB better understand consumers' experiences with banking and their banking preferences.

Who will see my responses, and how will my responses be used?

Your responses, along with those of approximately 2,000 other respondents, will be used by the study team and other researchers to understand consumers' experiences with banking and banking preferences. The study team includes staff at ICF, NORC, and the CFPB. The CFPB may also make an anonymous version of the survey data publicly available. These publicly available files will not contain any information that will personally identify you.

Who will have access to information that identifies me?

No one outside of ICF and NORC will be provided information that identifies you personally. Any personally-identifiable information that exists is available only to ICF and NORC. You will be asked no direct identifying information in the survey.

Risks

The risks to you of participating in this study are minimal. This study involves you answering questions about your banking experiences and preferences. We recognize that you might be uncomfortable answering some questions about finances in general.

Benefits

There are no anticipated direct benefits to you. However, by sharing your thoughts and ideas, you will help us better understand how to improve banking for consumers in America like you.

Right to Refuse or Withdraw

You may choose not to participate in the survey at any time. You may choose not to answer a question for whatever reason by skipping the question and/or selecting a 'refuse to answer' option. Participation is completely voluntary.

Paperwork Reduction Act

According to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, an agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number. The OMB control number for this collection is 3170-00XX. Comments regarding this collection of information, including the estimated response time, suggestions for improving the usefulness of the information, or suggestions for reducing the burden to respond to this collection should be submitted to Bureau at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (Attention: PRA Office), 1700 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20552, or by email to CFPB_PRA@cfpb.gov.

Privacy Act Statement:

National Opinion Research Center (NORC) is assisting the survey sponsor, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), in collecting survey data to understand consumers' experiences and preferences with banking to improve resources to help and protect consumers.

NORC will link your survey responses with demographic information that you have submitted for NORC panel participation. However, your demographic information will not be used to re-identify you. The CFPB will obtain, and access, de-identified results and aggregated analyses of the survey results. You may provide your name and contact information at the end of this survey if you are interested in participating in a follow-up interview but submitting your personally identifiable information (PII) is optional.

Information collected will be treated in accordance with the System of Records Notice (SORN), CFPB.021 - CFPB Consumer Education and Engagement Records. Although the CFPB does not anticipate further disclosing the information provided, it may be disclosed as indicated in the Routine Uses described in the SORN. Direct identifying information will only be used to facilitate follow-up interviews and will be kept private except as required by law.

This collection of information is authorized by Pub. L. No. 111-203, Title X, Sections 1013 and 1022, codified at 12 U.S.C. §§ 5493 and 5512.

Participation is voluntary, and you may withdraw participation at any time.

Contact Information

If you have any questions about the study, you may contact [insert NORC contact here].

If you are not satisfied with the response of the research team, have more questions, or want to talk with someone about your rights as a research participant, you may contact Christine Walrath, IRB Chair at ICF International at irb@icf.com.

If you consent to the survey, you may use the link below to begin. Selecting the link indicates that you have read the above and agree to take part in this research.
