Instructions for the FY22 Manufactured Food Course Preregistration Workbook

INTRODUCTION

The Preregistration Workbook (PRW) allows state agencies to preregister their employees (student nominees) for Manufactured Food (FD) training courses. The respective state agency selects the preferred course date from the list of scheduled courses (drop-down options), based on each student nominee's availability.

Please review the attached materials and complete the PRW after a thorough analysis of your state agency's training needs. When planning a nominee's training, please consider the prerequisite requirements for all courses. Some advanced courses require the completion of one or more other courses before attending.

For guidance on course descriptions and prerequisite information, please access OTED's Pathlore Learning Center.

Preregistration does not guarantee a slot (seat) in a course. OP will email individual reports to states confirming the slot allocations for each course in the weeks following the close of the preregistration window.

The Manufactured Food PRW contains the following courses. Many of these courses are held at various dates throughout the training year. Please note that each course offered will be delivered virtually through the end of the FY22 training cycle October 1, 2021 - September 30, 2022.

1. FD152 - Food Processing and Technology
2. FD190 - Food Current Good Manufacturing Practice, Application, and Evidence Development
3. FD202 - Conducting Acidified Food Inspections Note there's only one choice column, as there's only one offering scheduled
4. FD254 - Preventive Controls for Human Food Regulators Course
5. FD304 - Low Acid Canned Food Inspections Note there's only one choice column, as there's only one offering scheduled
6. FD340 - Dietary Supplement Good Manufacturing Practice
