Consider Early-Deposited Benefits (EDB) Exclusion

Early- Deposited Benefits: More Information

We issue SSI payments prior to the first day of the month for which they are due a few times each year. The Treasury Department dates and issues recurring SSI payments and Federally administered supplementary payments on the last banking day of the prior month whenever the first day of the month falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday. These payments are called early-deposited benefits (EDB).

Early deposits before the month the payments are normally received can occur with many types of recurring income. States administering their own supplementary payments may also make their payments early, i.e., in the month before the payments are ordinarily made. Other regularly received payments, (e.g., Social Security benefits, wages, veterans benefits, pension or annuity) may sometimes be early.

Incorrect SSI eligibility determinations may result when early payments are included in the first of the month resource balance for the month the income normally would have been received. To prevent incorrect determinations, we must deduct early payment amounts from the countable resources in the month the income is normally received.

For early deposits of SSI, exclude the EDB amount when the month is an EDB month listed in 3 SM 01315.005 and applying the exclusion would mean the difference between SSI eligibility and ineligibility (i.e., the countable amount exceeds the resource limit by an amount up to the EDB amount). Complete the Excluded amount field and select an Exclusion reason of "Early RSDI or SSI payment".

Similarly exclude early payments of other recurring income from countable resources in the months in which the payments are ordinarily received. Complete the Excluded amount field, select an Exclusion reason of "Other", complete "Other reason", explain the excluded amount, and document the evidence of early receipt in the File documentation notes.

NOTE: Be alert to situations in which multiple exclusions may apply simultaneously to the first of the month balance. Apply all applicable exclusions and document the file following the relevant policies and procedures.

Consider Early-Deposited Benefits (EDB) Exclusion

We issue SSI payments prior to the first day of the month for which they are due a few times each year. The Treasury Department dates and issues recurring SSI payments and Federally administered supplementary payments on the last banking day of the prior month whenever the first day of the month falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday. These payments are called early-deposited benefits (EDB).

Early deposits before the month the payments are normally received can occur with many types of recurring income. States administering their own supplementary payments may also make their payments early, i.e., in the month before the payments are ordinarily made. Other regularly received payments, (e.g., Social Security benefits, wages, veterans benefits, pension or annuity) may sometimes be early.

Incorrect SSI eligibility determinations may result when early payments are included in the first of the month resource balance for the month the income normally would have been received. To prevent incorrect determinations, we must deduct early payment amounts from the countable resources in the month the income is normally received.

For early deposits of SSI, exclude the EDB amount when the month is an EDB month listed in 3 SM 01315.005 and applying the exclusion would mean the difference between SSI eligibility and ineligibility (i.e., the countable amount exceeds the resource limit by an amount up to the EDB amount). Complete the Excluded amount field and select an Exclusion reason of "Early RSDI or SSI payment".

Similarly exclude early payments of other recurring income from countable resources in the months in which the payments are ordinarily received. Complete the Excluded amount field, select an Exclusion reason of "Other", complete "Other reason", explain the excluded amount, and document the evidence of early receipt in the File documentation notes.

NOTE: Be alert to situations in which multiple exclusions may apply simultaneously to the first of the month balance. Apply all applicable exclusions and document the file following the relevant policies and procedures.
