DESCRIPTION OF RESPONDENTS:

Federal, state, local, and tribal criminal justice practitioners who are currently participating in the UCR program or those who are interested in or working toward participating in the UCR Program. The UCR Program is a voluntary program in which university and college, city, county, state, tribal and federal law enforcement agencies participate by submitting their crime data and law enforcement data. The data submitted is used to generate crime statistics which can then be utilized by vast categories of groups and individuals to include law enforcement agencies, students, researchers, the media, and the public.
