FORM 5: IMPLEMENTATION

Instructions for Recipients

The Implementation Form collects information about each state-level program, policy, or practice that your organization implemented using Essentials for Childhood: Preventing ACEs Through Data to Action funding during the reporting period (September 1, 2023 – March 1, 2024). One Implementation Form submission should be submitted for each program, policy, or practice. This form has five sections: 1) Description of Program, Policy, or Practice, 2) Changes to Implementation Plan, 3) Implementation Progress and Activities, 4) Adaptations, and 5) Population of Focus & Reach.

CDC’s Technical Packages and CDC’s Preventing Adverse Childhood Experiences: Leveraging the Best Available Evidence resource tool to provide strategies, approaches, and example programs, policies, and practices based on the best available evidence. (Initiative specific Implementation requirements).

A strategy is one of the focus areas from CDC's Technical Packages that the cooperative agreement focuses on.

An approach is a specific way to advance the strategy. Examples include street outreach and community-norm change, public engagement and education campaigns, family-friendly work policies, and modifying the physical and social environment.

A program, policy, or practice is a specific group of activities that work together to achieve the intended outcome of the approach.

As you answer questions about the prevention approach implementation efforts, please reference the table below:

Program, Policy, and Practice Definitions and Examples

Program	Uses set educational/training (manualized curriculum) materials with a planned audience.	Educational sessions, staff/provider trainings.
Policy	Includes any work done to inform, assist in development, or put a policy into practice (i.e., Child Income Tax Credits) . Does not include work done to	Policy recommendations, policy training, policy development.

	implement a recently enacted policy or policy scans. (Note: Advocacy is not allowed under NOFO funded projects.)
Practice	Made up of activities or meetings that do not follow a set curriculum.	Social media campaign, environmental scans, coalition meetings, youth group meetings, mentoring, curriculum development, hot spot mapping, community outreach.

When creating new Implementation submissions, make sure:

- Each program, policy, or practice is reported separately—one implementation submission form for each program, policy, or practice.
- Any training associated with TA, capacity building, or strategic planning should be reported in other forms instead of the Implementation Form.
- Report each component of a multicomponent effort in a separate implementation form submission. This applies if the implementation effort is made up of a combination of program, policy, and/or practice or if the components are using different strategies and approaches. When providing a name for a component of a multicomponent strategy, be sure to use the same main name and include “multicomponent:” in the name. For example: Inspire (Multicomponent)- Workplace Policy; Inspire (Multicomponent)- Hotspot Mapping.
- The name of your implementation form submission should be the name of the program, policy, or practice being implemented.

SECTION 3: OUTCOMES AND INDICATORS

This section collects data on the indicators you are using to measure your selected outcomes.

Outcome and Indicator Table

Only enter one outcome per row. If an outcome has more than one indicator, add a row for each indicator. Data entered in this table will be pulled forward each APR and you will only need to update the Current Value in future APRs. For this NOFO, recipients may be assessing numerous outcomes. However, for the purpose of reporting in the partners portal, we ask that you enter a maximum of 30 outcomes with up to 5 indicators per outcome. To help streamline your efforts, we recommend entering 20 of the most relevant, high-priority outcomes each with 1-3 indicators. Recipients can continue to assess other outcomes, but report on the high-priority ones annually.

SEM Level [Select all that apply] (guidance below will be visible when users hover over the field)

- Individual – biological and personal history factors that increase or decrease the likelihood of becoming a victim or perpetrator of violence. Factors may include age, education, income, substance use, and history of abuse.
- Relationship – close relationships that may increase or decrease the risk of experiencing violence as a victim or perpetrator. A person’s closest social circle — peers, partners, and family members — influence their behavior and shape their experience.
- Community - local settings and characteristics associated with becoming victims or perpetrators of violence. Settings include neighborhoods, schools, and workplaces.
- Societal - broad societal factors that help create a level of acceptance or intolerance for violence. It also includes the health, economic, educational, and social policies that help to maintain economic or social inequalities between groups in society.

SECTION 2: DATA COLLECTION AND USE

This section collects information about the progress you have made in the collection, analysis, and use of ACEs and PCEs data, data on the social determinants of health, and data on shared risk and protective factors. To best mirror the types of data that are often available and used for prevention and intervention purposes, there are three tables that align with broad types of data that may be used by your program.

The first table should be used to provide data on ACEs, PCEs, and broader risk and protective factors that are contained within survey data sources. The second table should be used to provide data on social determinants of health indices. The third table should be used to provide data on additionally identified data sources, including but not limited to data from syndromic surveillance, other hospital records (e.g., hospital discharge data; electronic health record data), administrative data from the child welfare system, substance misuse and mental health services resources or law enforcement records, or data from crisis or service hotlines.

Please add ONE row for each data source AND data collection year. For example, if you have data from the Youth Risk Behavior Survey from 2021 and 2023, please add two rows: one row for the 2021 YRBS and one row for the 2023 YRBS.
