U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) is committed to maintaining the privacy of your Personally Identifiable Information (PII) in accordance with USCIS standards.

Your Expectation of Privacy

USCIS understands that you expect your privacy and personal information to be protected. That is why the Self Check service is designed to require that you authenticate your identity before we allow you to access the information we have about you.

Collection, Retention, and Use of Information about You

The identity assurance questions asked and the answers you submit are not provided to USCIS. USCIS does not retain any personally identifiable information in its Self Check DHS logs. Only transaction ID and error codes are retained to facilitate troubleshooting and system management. Third party data providers retain logs of access to your personal information in order to comply with their legal obligations to protect personally identifiable information in their possession per the Fair Credit Reporting Act. USCIS does not retain the questions, your answers, or any identifying information supplied by you during the identity authentication process. If you decide to cancel the identity proofing process during the session, or if the session times out because of inactivity, the personal information entered by you and any questions generated by the identity authentication provider is not retained in Self Check. If the answers to the questions match the information contained in the commercial database you will be allowed to continue through the Self Check process. If you successfully pass identity proofing, the personal information you enter persists for the purpose of employment eligibility verification.

Your name, date of birth, and Social Security number (if you provided it during the identity assurance step) will be persisted and will pre-populate the employment eligibility check. Next, you will be required to enter additional information based on the documentation you would present to an employer for processing in E-Verify. The information collected from you is dependent on your citizenship status and your document choices but could include: Social Security Number; Citizenship Status; Alien Number; Passport Number; I-94 Number; and /or Permanent Resident or Employment Authorization Document (EAD) Card Number. This is the information that is used to determine employment authorization in the E-Verify process. Work Authorization Confirmed

Davod,

Self Check compared the information you provided to U.S. government databases and can confirm that, based on the information you provided, you are eligible to work in the United States.

If you are hired today by an E-Verify participating employer and you use the same documents and information provided, you will most likely be instantly work authorized when your employer checks your information using E-Verify.

In the event that you are not instantly work authorized, please work with your employer to ensure that your information was entered correctly and, if necessary, follow the steps outlined by E-Verify to resolve any issues.

This does not mean that you are guaranteed to pass through E-Verify without issue. A number of things can happen between now and when a future employer checks your information using E-Verify that may cause you to get a mismatch. Those things include name changes, citizenship status changes, expiration of work authorization, or a simple data entry error when your employer is entering your information into E-Verify. It is important that you keep your records up to date with the government to ensure an accurate employment verification process.

Thank you for completing the Self Check process!

Why You Have This Notice

Self Check just compared the information you provided against the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) immigration record databases as part of the process to assess your work authorization status.

You received this Notice because there may be a mismatch between the data you entered and the data in your DHS records. It does not mean that you gave wrong information or that you are not authorized to work in the United States.

A Self Check mismatch can occur for various reasons, including:

- Your information must be manually checked by a DHS representative before confirming work authorization;
- Your personal data and/or document information may have been recorded incorrectly in DHS records;
- Your information may not have been updated in DHS records at the time your information was checked in Self Check;
- Your citizenship or immigration status may have changed; or
- Your record may contain another type of error.

==== IMPORTANT ====

You are not required to take any further action after receiving a mismatch through your use of Self Check. If you choose to inquire further into why you have received a mismatch (as directed below), DHS will review the information you provided against government records to determine if you are authorized to work OR if you have any issues with your records that must be corrected. If there is an issue that must be corrected, the DHS representative will give you instructions on how to correct your record. This Notice does not mean that you are not eligible to work or that the information that you provided as part of your Self Check is fake.

If You Choose to Inquire About Your Mismatch

- Call DHS at the following number: (855) 804-0296
- Please have available the documents that you used to make the Self Check query AND this notice when speaking to the representative.
- Provide the representative with your Case Verification number (contained on this notice) and any additional information requested. This begins the review process.
- After 5 days, visit uscis.gov/selfcheck and click the link that allows you to check the status of your Self Check case.
- Enter your Case Verification Number, and any additional information required, in the data fields provided.
- You will then be provided with information about your employment eligibility status, including guidance on how to correct any errors in your records that may have been found.

Please Note: Do not simply run another Self Check query. Doing so will produce the same result you obtained as a result of this query.

==== IMPORTANT ====

Note: Self Check is an informational service that provides you, the user, with information about your work authorization status as of the date and time of the Self Check query. A favorable determination on work authorization through Self Check or any subsequent interaction with the Department of Homeland Security does not mean that you have been issued a work authorized credential OR will be work authorized when run through E-Verify by your employer.

Know Your Rights: Quick List

- Your employer or any organization may NOT require you to run a Self Check as a condition of employment, membership or receipt of any benefit.
- Your employer may not use Self Check to re-verify your employment eligibility if you are an existing employee.
- If you believe that you have been subjected to discrimination based upon your national origin or citizenship or immigration status with respect to hiring, firing, recruitment or referral for a fee, through your employer's use of E-Verify, or when completing the Form I-9, contact the Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, Office of Special Counsel for Immigration Related Unfair Employment Practices at 1-800-255-7888 (TDD: 1-800-237-2515) for assistance.

Why You Have This Notice

Self Check just compared the information you provided against government databases as part of the process to assess your work authorization status.

You received this Notice because there may be a mismatch between the data you entered and the data in your government records. Your information must be manually checked by a DHS representative before confirming work authorization. It does not mean that you gave wrong information or that you are not authorized to work in the United States.

A Self Check mismatch can occur for various reasons, including:

- Your personal data and/or document information may have been recorded incorrectly in government records;
- Your U.S. Passport or Passport Card could not be verified;
- Your information was entered incorrectly in Self Check;
- Your record may contain another type of error.

==== IMPORTANT ====

You are not required to take any further action after receiving a mismatch in Self Check. If you choose to inquire further into why you have received a mismatch (as directed below), DHS will review the information you provided against government records to determine if you are authorized to work. If there are any issues with your records, DHS will work with Department of State to address it at that time. This Notice does not mean that you are not eligible to work or that the information that you provided as part of your Self Check is fake.

If You Choose to Inquire About Your Mismatch

- Print or save this notice, or write down the Case Verification Number found at the top and keep it in a safe place where you will be able to find it later.
- Fax a clear copy of your passport, including the photo page and the inside of the back cover, to the following number (XXX-XXX-XXXX). We cannot begin the review process until you fax us a copy of your passport.
- Wait 5 business days to allow a DHS representative to perform a manual check of your records.
- After 5 days, call DHS at (855) 804-0296 to obtain the results of this manual check.
- You will then be provided with information about your employment eligibility status.

Please Note: Do not simply run another Self Check query. Doing so will produce the same result you obtained as a result of this query.

==== IMPORTANT ====

Note: Self Check is an informational service that provides you, the user, with information about your work authorization status as of the date and time of the Self Check query. A favorable determination on work authorization through Self Check or any subsequent interaction with the Department of Homeland Security does not mean that you have been issued a work authorized credential OR will be work authorized when run through E-Verify by your employer.

Know Your Rights: Quick List

- Your employer or any organization may NOT require you to run a Self Check as a condition of employment, membership or receipt of any benefit.
- Your employer may not use Self Check to re-verify your employment eligibility if you are an existing employee.
- If you believe that you have been subjected to discrimination based upon your national origin or citizenship or immigration status with respect to hiring, firing, recruitment or referral for a fee, through your employer's use of E-Verify, or when completing the Form I-9, contact the Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, Office of Special Counsel for Immigration Related Unfair Employment Practices at 1-800-255-7688 (TDD: 1-800-237-2515) for assistance.

Unable to Proceed

 Sorry, we are unable to give you access to the Self Check service at this time because the third party identity assurance service was unable to generate enough information about you in order to create a quiz to confirm your identity. The information you provided has not been checked against U.S. government databases for employment eligibility.

There may be several reasons why a quiz could not be generated for you.

- You may have moved recently and your credit files and public records do not yet reflect your new address. If so, you can try running a Self Check again using your former residence in the address field.
- You may have entered information incorrectly, preventing the independent service from locating any records about you
- You chose not to provide your Social Security Number. In some cases, providing this additional information may make it easier for the third party identity assurance service to find your records and generate quiz questions for you.
- You may have attempted to take a quiz too many times recently. In this case, if you need to access Self Check you should wait a few days and try again.
- You may not have enough of a financial footprint for enough questions to be generated. This can happen if you have entered the country or the workforce recently or you simply have not applied for any type of credit.
- You may have certain fraud alerts reported to your state or a credit bureau. These fraud alerts are usually created by an individual who was the victim of identity theft or is at a greater risk of becoming a victim.
- You may have put a security freeze on your credit report.

If you would like to confirm the accuracy of the information found in your credit reports you may do so by visiting www.annualcreditreport.com and requesting free copies of your credit reports. If you find a discrepancy in any of your credit reports you should follow up with the individual credit reporting agency to correct those records.

If you would like information on your rights relating to credit reporting, or more detailed information on the steps you can take to correct errors found in your credit reports, please visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

Because the identity assurance step was not completed, Self Check did not check your personal information against any U.S. government records.

Even though an identity assurance quiz could not be generated, you may still be authorized to work in the United States. While we are unable to let you confirm your work eligibility through Self Check, alternative options are available and explained below. These methods may be used to determine whether government records relating to your employment eligibility are accurate.

Contacting the numbers below will not provide you with any information relating to the identity proofing process or why a quiz was not generated. For that information, please see the guidance above.

- Wait until an employer checks your employment eligibility through E-Verify: Some companies use the E-Verify Program to check the work eligibility of their new hires. If there is an issue with your records, your employer will inform you of the next steps at that time. In most instances, DHS and SSA records are accurate; E-Verify finds about 97% of the work-force to be employment authorized.
- Contact the Social Security Administration: If you would like to check your records with the Social Security Administration, please contact their toll-free number at 1-800-772-1213 or call or visit your local Social Security office. Social Security can handle most inquiries over the telephone.
- Contact the USCIS National Customer Service Center (NCSC): Call the NCSC to check the accuracy of your immigration records and to determine next steps with an immigration specialist. Noncitizens may contact the NCSC at (800) 375-5283, TTY (800) 767-1833.

Unable to Allow Access to the Self Check Service

 Sorry, we are unable to give you access to the Self Check service at this time because the third party identity assurance service was unable to confirm your identity based on the answers you provided. The information you provided has not been checked against U.S. government databases for employment eligibility.

There are several reasons why you may not have passed the quiz.

- You may have answered one or more questions incorrectly. Please read each one carefully and consider every answer.
- There may be errors in the information on file with the credit reporting bureaus. This could cause a question to be generated that you cannot answer correctly.
- You may have entered your identifying information incorrectly, causing the independent service to ask questions that you are not able to answer.

If this was your first attempt and you still wish to use the Self Check service, we recommend that you try one more time. Sometimes people who are unable to pass their quiz on the first attempt are successful on the second try. To do so, please go to selfcheck.uscis.gov.

If you would like to confirm the accuracy of the information found in your credit reports you may do so by visiting www.annualcreditreport.com and requesting free copies of your credit reports. If you find a discrepancy in any of your credit reports you should follow up with the individual credit reporting agency to correct those records.

If you would like information on your rights relating to credit reporting, or more detailed information on the steps you can take to correct errors found in your credit reports, please visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

Because the identity assurance step was not completed, Self Check did not check your personal information against any U.S. government records.

Even though an error prevented you from successfully completing the identity assurance quiz, you may still be authorized to work in the United States. While we are unable to let you confirm your work eligibility through Self Check, alternative options are available and explained below. These methods may be used to determine whether government records relating to your employment eligibility are accurate.
