Thanks again for taking a minute to talk with me. The Department of Defense sent you an invitation in May asking you to participate in the 2023 Active Duty Spouse Survey and I am calling to ensure that you received the information so you can participate. I'm not conducting the survey, but I do want to encourage you to participate. DoD conducts this survey to help identify areas where active duty spouses like you could use more support. You may have even noticed some of the new policies that DoD has put in place just this year, like expanding programs to support spouse employment or new, tax-saving flexible spending accounts to pay for dependent care. If you have a pen and some paper nearby, I can give you the website address and your ticket number so you can access the survey. You can also scan the QR code or complete the paper survey you got in the mail. Are you ready for your ticket number so you can access the survey?

[Do not read the responses]

- Provide information over the phone
- Already completed the survey/Have my letter, don't need info
- Not planning to participate
- I am unable to take the survey online (e.g., lack web access, not enough time available for web access)
- Does not want information
- Ineligible

[Do not read the list. Listen to the explanation and code all that apply.]

6. [Ask if Q2 = "Available" and (Q3 = "No" or (Q3 = "Yes" and Q4 = "No")) and Q5 = "Not planning to participate"] Your opinion is critically important. Do you mind if we ask why you don't want to participate? Mark all that apply.

- I take too many surveys
INTERVIEWER: If this reason was selected, read the following:
 That's understandable with all the surveys out there, but before we disconnect, I do want you to know this is an official DoD survey and this data is used to better support military families like yours. For example, frequent PCS moves, child care and employment are some of the biggest challenges active duty families face according to 2021 survey, and this year the DoD implemented tax-saving dependent care flexible spending programs to ease the cost of child care for active duty families, and the DoD launched the Military Spouse Career Accelerator Pilot to expand employment opportunities for military spouses. You were randomly selected this year to participate so your insight really represents the entire community of spouses. I hope you reconsider before the survey closes and visit the website DoDSurveys.mil.
- Don't think it is useful
INTERVIEWER: If this reason was selected, read the following: I understand, and we know you get a lot of surveys too. But, before we disconnect, I want to share a few real-time examples how DoD uses data on military families. Frequent PCS moves, child care and employment are some of the biggest challenges active duty families face according to 2021 data collected from this survey, and this year the DoD implemented tax-saving dependent care flexible spending programs to ease the cost of child care for active duty families, enacted legislation to help spouses get jobs by removing occupational licensing barriers after a PCS move, and the DoD launched the Military Spouse Career Accelerator Pilot to expand employment opportunities for military spouses.
- Too long/I don't have time
INTERVIEWER: If this reason was selected, read the following: The survey only takes up to 15 minutes to complete and you only answer the questions applicable to you and your family, so it might be a lot shorter. And, you can always start and come back to your answers at a later time, so it doesn't have to be done all at once.
- Not married to a military member/No longer eligible
INTERVIEWER: If this reason is the only one selected, click Next Page. If other reasons were also selected, read the responses to those items first and then click Next Page.
- Some other reason
INTERVIEWER: If this reason was selected, record this reason in the open answer box below, and read the following: I understand you have to protect your time, but I hope you will reconsider because the information gathered on this survey influences policy decisions that impact military families all over the world and not all spouses are randomly selected to participate, so your insight really represents the entire community of spouses like you.

[Ask if Q2 = "Available" and (Q3 = "No" or (Q3 = "Yes" and Q4 = "No")) and Q5 = "Not planning to participate" and Q6 e = "Marked"] [Interviewer - Record other reasons for not wanting to participate. If "Some other reason" is the only response, consult the list of FAQs and read the most applicable conversion text.]

[Mark if the conversion effort was successful.]

7. [Ask if Q2 = "Available" and (Q3 = "No" or (Q3 = "Yes" and Q4 = "No")) and Q5 = "Not planning to participate" and any Q6 <> "No/Ineligible"] With this information, would you consider writing down your ticket number so you can take the survey at DoDsurveys.mil if you change your mind?

- Yes Provide information over the phone
 No (go to THANK YOU)

8. [Ask if Q2 = "Available" and (Q3 = "No" or (Q3 = "Yes" and Q4 = "No")) and Q5 = "Not planning to participate" and Q7 = "Successful conversion"] Do you have a pen and some paper nearby so I can give you your ticket number?

[Do not read the responses]

- Yes [Interviewer read:] Great! Then please fill out as many items as you can and return the survey in the provided envelope.
 No [Interviewer read:] If you did not receive a survey or need to request another, please contact the Survey Processing Center at 1-800-881-5307.
